ROOSEVELT OUR CHAMPION, REDS INFORM STALIN

Want Him to Lead a Popular Front.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 6.—President Roosevelt's candidacy as head of a popular or democratic front government for the United States is being advanced by the American communist party.

The communist party is attempting to achieve an alliance between Washington, D. C., and Moscow especially directed against the authors of the anti-communist pact, Germany, Italy, and Japan.

Earl Browder, head of the American communist party, acknowledges chief Stalin, dictator of soviet Russia, as leader of the communist movement in the United States.

See U. S.-Soviet Entente.

These latest developments in the American congressional election campaign were reported in the International Meijak — International Lighthouse. It is a semi-monthly journal published in Moscow by MOPR, the International Society to Assist Imprisoned Revolutionists. The society is a branch of the communist international and its largest foreign following is in the United States.

A victory for the Democratic-communist party alliance in the congressional elections means the formation of an idealogical entente between Washington and Moscow, the journal said. The paper declared the entente is to further the cause of world revolution by destroying the members of the anti-communist pact and overthrowing other established governments.

Meijak, No. 14, of which the Baltic bureau of THE TRIBUNE has a copy, devoted the entire issue to a discussion of the prospect of bolshevizing America. It featured an article signed by Browder who related how, under Moscow's leadership, the United States is preparing to take her place in the vanguard of nations fighting for realization of Moscow's ideas.

Another article in Meijak, entitled "Riches and Poverty," portrayed life in America in the darkest colors, where, it said, "a few hundred capitalists live in luxury while the remainder of the population either is unemployed or terrorized by Fascist and Trotzkyist hirelings of the capitalists who use gas bombs and machine guns against starving hordes of unemployed."

"President Roosevelt," reported Meijak, "thinks the policy of the capitalists perilous for the country and tries, although indecisively, to limit their appetites."

Says Reds Back Roosevelt.

"The communist party, whose influence is increasing through America, supports Roosevelt," it said. "American communists believe that Roosevelt, although he does not oppose the principles of capitalism, is today fighting the capitalists and is on the side of democracy and the communists and opposed to Fascism.

"Therefore, the communist party in America is calling upon Americans who are opposed to Fascist governments to join and accept communist leadership in formation of a Popular Front."

The communist party, continued Meijak, is supporting Roosevelt because through his program the United States government is "achieving more and more control over economic life of the country and is following a pugnacious peace program and resisting Fascist aggression."

FIGHT FASCISM, REDS CRY

MOSCOW, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Georgi Dimitrov, secretary general of the communist international, issued a call to the proletariat of the world today for a merciless exposure and destruction of internal reaction and Fascist aggression.

The call appeared in the communist party organ, Pravda, as soviet Russia prepared to celebrate tomorrow the twenty-first anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution of 1917.

William Powell Accepts $600,000 a Year in Movies

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A long disagreement between William Powell and M-G-M studio ended today as Powell agreed to a seven year contract calling for approximately $600,000 a year. Studio officials said Powell is to make three pictures a year. The contract will eliminate his radio activities, confining him to the movies. He will make a series of murder mystery films.

3 BRITISH AIR FORCE BOMBERS SET NEW RECORD

2 Reach Australia from Egypt.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—[Monday.]—(AP)—A report received in Sydney, Australia, today said two Royal Air Force bombing planes landed at Fanny Bay, near Port Darwin, at 3 a. m. British time [9 p. m. Chicago time, Sunday], breaking the world's distance flight record previously held by three soviet Russian aviators.

O. R. Gayford.

The fuel tanks of one of the planes were empty, the report said. A third plane was forced to land at Kupang, Timor Island, Dutch East Indies, because of shortage of fuel. It had flown 6,800 miles.

Dispatches from Batavia, however, said the plane which was forced down, one of the three that started on the record-breaking trip, had refueled and taken off immediately for Port Darwin.

Break Last Year's Mark.

The two bombers that reached Port Darwin flew from Ismailia, Egypt, to Australia, an approximate distance of 7,162 miles in forty-seven hours five minutes. They started from Ismailia at 9:55 p. m., Chicago time, Friday. Their average speed was just under 150 miles an hour.

The flight eclipsed the record of the Russian flyers headed by Pilot Mikhail Gromov, who on July 14, 1937, landed at San Jacinto, Cal., from Moscow, a distance of 6,306 miles.

The British flyers bettered the Russian record when they passed Salayar Island in the Celebes group, 6,400 miles from the starting point.

The British also clipped fourteen hours and fifty-eight minutes from the time set by the Russians who were in the air sixty-two hours and three minutes on their record hop.

Nine Flyers in Planes.

Nine men were in the British planes. Their commander was 33 years old, the others all were under 30. The three planes were Vickers Wellsley bombers modified from the regular equipment.

Those in the flight were:

Plane No. 1—Squadron Leader R. Kellett, pilot; Flight Lieutenant R. T. Gething, 27 years old, second pilot and navigator; Pilot Officer M. L. Gaine, 28, signal officer of the unit.

Plane No. 2—Flight Lieutenant H. A. V. Hogan, 29, first pilot; Flight Lieutenant R. G. Musson, 25, second pilot and navigator; Sergt. T. D. Dixon, 26, wireless operator and mechanic.

Plane No. 3—Flight Lieutenant A. N. Combe, 27, first pilot; Flight Lieutenant B. K. Burnett, 25, second pilot and navigator; Sergt. H. B. Gray, 26, wireless operator and mechanic.

The flight was organized by Wing Commander O. R. Gayford, commander of the Royal Air Force long range development unit.

Wore Heated Suits.

Equipped with thermally heated suits and with only meager provisions of chicken, fruit, chocolate, coffee, and orange juice for their two day journey, the flyers had flown by way of Iran [Persia], the Indian ocean, Bay of Bengal, Andaman Islands, Borneo, and the Timor sea.

The flyers sent only one message indicating difficulty during their flight. They said they bucked a storm over Borneo. The flyers had intended to fly in formation, but after the start from Ismailia it was decided that each plane should make an individual bid for the record long coveted by the Royal Air Force.

Flying speeds ranged from 140 to 150 miles per hour. After the No. 2 plane was down, the other two proceeded at reduced speed across the Timor sea to Port Darwin.

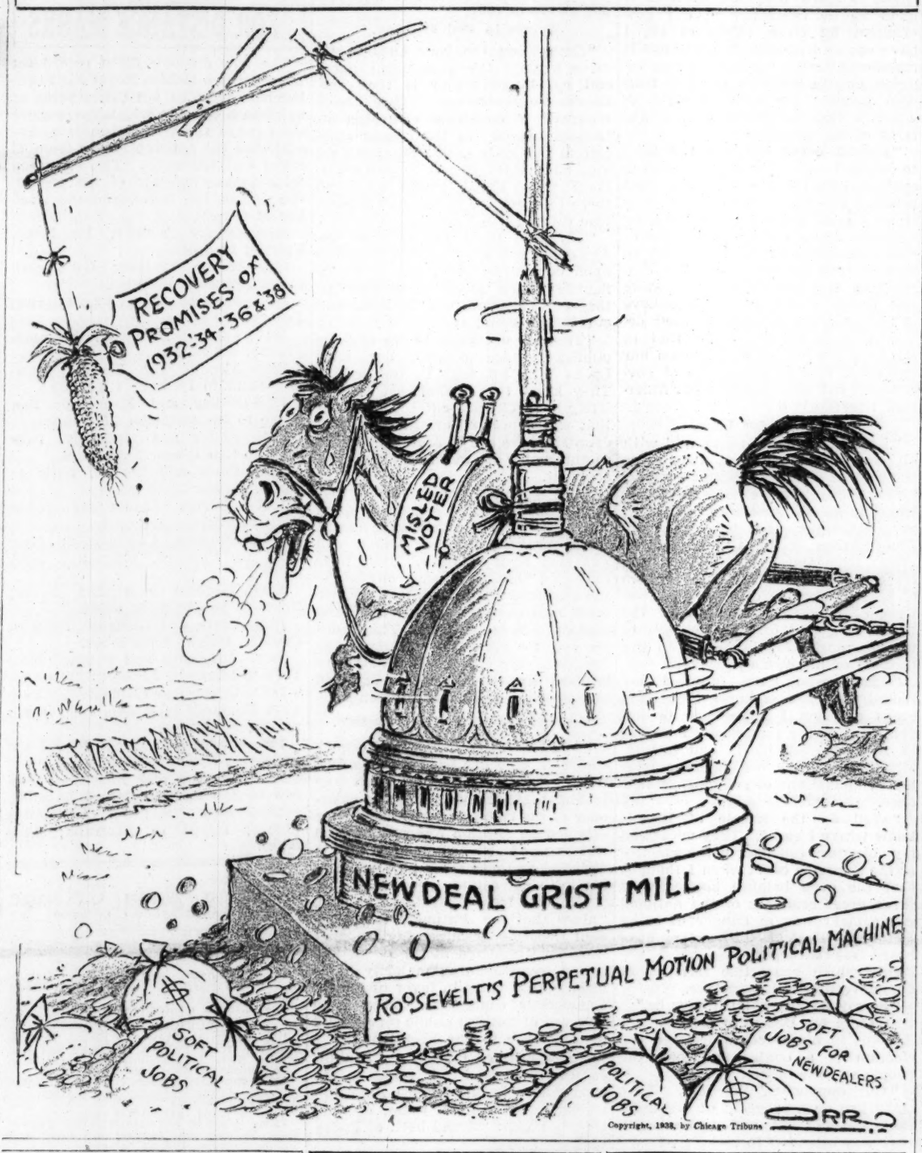
New York Polls Pick Dewey to Win

MAKING AN EAR OF CORN GO A LONG WAY



Son Ends Dash of 4,500 Miles to Sick Mother

A week ago Henry L. Walther was deep in the wilds of Alaska. Yesterday afternoon he arrived in Chicago after one of the most remarkable journeys in modern history.

Thus, simply, may be told the successful end of a drama based on the love of mother and son.

Walther is 24 years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Walther of 846 North Harding avenue. Last April, obeying the call of the frontier, he left for Alaska and became a hunter of caribou. A few weeks ago his mother became seriously ill.

"I must see Henry before I die," she whispered.

Family in Despair.

Other members of the family were in despair. How could it be done? They did not even know Henry's whereabouts.

John H. Brenner of the River Park Amateur Radio club volunteered to help. He enlisted the aid of amateur radio operators in Chicago. They began fishing in the ether for Alaskan hams.

They found one, then another. At last they reached the one nearest Walther. He was in King Cove, Alaska, the settlement nearest the caribou hunter. This man, Robert Gould, found Henry Walther.

"I am here. I would like to come. But how? There is no way out of King Cove," Walther reported through the Gould-Bremer radio.

His sister, Mrs. Viola Shimkus, appealed for help. The coast guard heard of the young man's plight. An Alaskan patrol boat took him to Seward, Alaska, where he boarded the cutter Hamilton. This boat arrived in Oakland, Cal., on Saturday.

Flies In from California.

Soon afterward Walther boarded an American Airlines plane. It arrived in Chicago at 4 p. m. The hunter was still wearing his woods costume when he stepped to the ground: a western hat, heavy gray trousers, a maroon sweater, and a heavy wool mackinaw.

"I want to thank everybody who helped get me here," he said. "It was a marvelous trip, and I hope I can help to get mother well."

Last night, carrying a big bouquet, he visited Mrs. Walther in the Franklin Boulevard hospital. Her condition, it was said, is critical.

CITY TO SEE ECLIPSE OF MOON WHILE SUN STILL SHINES TODAY

It sounds a bit complicated, but, if the sky is clear this afternoon, Chicagoans will be able to see a total eclipse of the moon while the sun is apparently still shining on it. This will happen, says Miss Maude Bennot, director of Adler planetarium, although a lunar eclipse occurs only when the earth cuts off the sun's rays from the moon.

Miss Bennot explains the astronomical paradox this way: The total eclipse begins at 3:45 p. m., but doesn't become visible here until 4:35 when the moon rises. The sun sets below the geometric horizon at 4:34, one minute before that. But here's where the trick comes—because of light refraction the moon appears to rise above the eastern horizon at 4:32 and the sun appears to remain above the western horizon until 4:37. Thus, there is a five minute period when some part of the sun and moon are simultaneously visible.

The total eclipse continues until 5:07 and at 6:12 the moon leaves the earth's shadow.

BLACK EYE JOBS GIVE BEAUTICIAN ONE FOR HIMSELF

Miami, Fla., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A. D. Allen, a former makeup artist who now runs a beauty shop here, inserted this classified advertisment in a newspaper:

"Black eye? We will paint it out. Results guaranteed."

Business boomed. Men and women needing attention arrived in all manner of dress, from evening gowns and tuxedos to slacks and overalls.

"I had to cancel the ad," Allen said, "because of the adverse effect the black eye customers had on my regular business."

Former Legislator Asks Negroes Bear Pall at Rites

Fountain Inn, S. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—James H. Drummond, 64 years old, farmer, merchant, and former state legislator, who died today, left a special request that "six respectable Negroes" be the pallbearers at his funeral. Drummond made the request "because of my special interest in the welfare and well being of the colored people in our community."

Beef Trust Girl of Cro-Magnon Days Visits Us

BY MARCIA WINN.

Front View of Prehistoric Venus.

The average person, speaking of Venus, refers to the physical proportions of the shapely Venus de Milo, and in anthropological circles even prehistoric figurines go by the name of Venus.

In nearly all the figurines of all the ages the beauty ideals have shown a marked basic resemblance to the Venus de Milo. Portraits on the walls of stone age caverns show the same lines.

Built on Massive Lines.

But the Field museum's copy of a little ivory figurine ends all this. Known as the Venus de Lespugue, she is built on elephantine lines—on a scale so colossal that it would cause the largest beef trust girl to blink.

If produced by a modern artist, this little Venus would be termed post-impressionistic, ultramodern insanity in art. Yet, as a matter of fact, explained Dr. Henry Field, curator of physical anthropology, she is 30,000 years old and the feminine ideal of the Aurignacian [or Cro-Magnon] man who roamed France.

"This Venus' chest," Dr. Field pointed out, "is narrow and flat. Her shoulders are round and sloping. A large pendulous bosom occupies much of the normal abdominal region. The hips are grotesquely wide."

Alas, She Has No Face.

Her hands are small, resting upon her ample bosom, but her feet simply go together in a point. Her head is small and oval.

And her face? Alas, she has none.

But don't believe, Dr. Field cautions, that it was because the Cro-Magnons ignored the face of their ideal woman. More probably, he said, superstition prevented carving of the features.

It's probably—in the case of this Venus—just as well.

Predict Record Illinois Vote to Pass 3 Million

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A record breaking vote for an off-year election was predicted by Republican and Democratic camps yesterday as the campaign roared toward its finish at tomorrow's polls. Estimates that the Illinois vote will run in excess of 3 million and possibly reach 3,250,000, which would be a new off year high, were made by election officials and headquarters dopesters. Four years ago, the last off-year election, the total poll was 2,935,192. In the presidential election two years ago the vote ran up to 3,995,088.

With the race for United States senator between Richard Lyons, Republican, and Scott W. Lucas, Democrat, as the headliner, the Sunday before election saw both political camps in a fury of activity. Candidates spoke at meetings and over the air with vim, vigor, and vituperation. In the wards party workers were busy with gatherings making ready for manning the polls and getting out the vote. Chicago resounded with political appeals.

Interest Is High.

Both political camps declare an extraordinary amount of interest for an off-year election is being displayed by the voters. Registration in Chicago now stands at 1,718,200 and in the country towns at 314,459, a total of 2,032,659 for Cook county. The camps look for a vote in excess of 1,500,000 in Cook county and in excess of 1,600,000 downstate.

Both Lucas and Lyons assailed communism. They spoke of the communist massmeeting Friday at which Earl Browder urged communist support of Roosevelt tickets throughout the land.

The rival candidates went at top speed all day. During the afternoon they addressed meetings of colored voters. Both were on the air with radio addresses. At night they kept up the pace with more meetings. Tonight they wind up the battling with radio addresses. No day meetings are scheduled, but the wards will be beehives of activity. Lyons will broadcast his address from his Libertyville home during a homecoming celebration.

Lucas Points to Americanism.

Lucas made an onslaught upon communism and repeated a recent address he made on Americanism. He spoke of his record as judge advocate of the American Legion in combating communism and subversive influences.

"Last Friday," said Lucas, "a communist massmeeting was held in Chicago. Their leader, Earl Browder, attacked me in his speech. That was natural, for the communists know I detest communism. They know that since 1926, as department commander of the American Legion of Illinois and as national judge advocate, I have made speeches assailing com-

SURVEY OF U. S. INDICATES JOLT FOR NEW DEAL

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Additional reports last night from THE TRIBUNE'S national political survey indicated that the Roosevelt administration is likely to suffer a resounding popular repudiation in congressional and state elections tomorrow.

Robert A. Taft, G.O.P. nominee for senate in Ohio.

From several quarters came premonitions of an anti-New Deal vote of landslide proportions, particularly in rural regions, that may result in increasing materially the prospective Republican gains of four seats in the senate, sixty-six seats in the house, and half a dozen governorships.

Anything in the nature of a rural Republican landslide would insure the election of Richard Lyons, the Republican candidate for the senate in Illinois, over his Democratic opponent, Scott W. Lucas. It also would carry in the Republican candidates for the senate in Iowa, Wisconsin, New York, California, and New Jersey in which the outcome is accounted doubtful.

Trend Against New Deal.

The most illuminating and impressive disclosure of the trend of popular opinion against the New Deal came from New York.

The poll conducted by the New York Daily News, which has failed only once accurately to forecast an election, was completed, the result indicating the election of Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican candidate for governor, over Gov. Herbert H. Lehman by a plurality exceeding 100,000. The poll indicated that Dewey would receive 51.12 per cent and Lehman 48.88 per cent of the total vote.

Another straw vote, the Crossley poll with a high reputation for accuracy, reënforced the News prediction, giving Dewey 51.8 per cent, Lehman 48.2 per cent of the total vote.

See Dewey Win by 100,000.

On the basis of its poll the pro-Lehman News calculated that Dewey will win by a plurality of 107,872, though it suggested that inclement weather in rural New York on election day might keep Republican voters from the polls and save Lehman from defeat. The official weather forecast for eastern New York state for Tuesday is rain and colder.

The most startling aspect of the News poll is the forecast of a Republican landslide in upstate New York. The straw indicated that Dewey would come down to the Bronx with the record breaking plurality of 696,313, compared with the indicated Lehman plurality in New York City of 588,441.

The disclosure of the impending avalanche against the administration upstate threw national Democratic headquarters in New York City into a condition bordering on panic. National Chairman James A. Farley took charge and straightaway sent a 286 word night letter to each of 10,000 Democratic county chairmen and election district captains to do their utmost for Lehman and the remainder of the ticket.

Lehman Strongest Candidate.

The Democratic managers have looked upon Gov. Lehman, who only partly swallowed the New Deal, as the strongest candidate on the ticket. They made no bones of admitting that if Lehman were beaten Senator Robert F. Wagner, leading author of New Deal legislation, would be carried down to defeat also. The Gallup poll, however, indicates the certain election of Wagner, while leaving the governorship a toss up.

Adding to the gloom at Democratic headquarters was the effect of Dewey's speech last night exposing the underworld association of Edward J. Flynn, New York secretary of state and Democratic national committeeman, a close political ally of Mr. Roosevelt and Gov. Lehman. Dewey disclosed that Flynn when sherif of Bronx county had the late Dutch Schultz, notorious gang leader, sworn in as a deputy.

Capping his other exposures of the alliance between the Democratic régime and crime Dewey's speech was hailed by the Republican strategists as a stroke akin to knocking a home run in the ninth inning.

The revelation of the swing of the pendulum against the New Deal in New York found its striking counterpart in numerous other states, according to the additional disclosures of THE TRIBUNE's survey. These soundings suggest that it is a revolt of the middle class that is taking place in this country today.

It is a revolt of the owners of homes, savings accounts, and life insurance policies, tradesmen, farmers and conservative workingmen against New Deal innovations and radical tenets that have paralyzed private enterprise and prolonged unemployment, as well as threatening the stability of private property.

Revolution Petering Out.

It was a revolution of the proletariat, led, as has happened so often, by a wealthy aristocrat, that was ushered in by the election of 1932. The farmers, small tradesmen, and many other middle class groups were drawn into the movement that was to destroy the old order and set up a new one.

Now, after five and a half years of the experiment, the proletariat revolution shows signs of petering out. The middle class itself has turned in revolt against conditions produced by the New Deal in an effort to save the capitalist economic system and a democratic form of government from socialism and dictatorship.

Ohio furnishes a typical example of the forces that are materializing as the revolt of the middle class. From the Democratic high command in Ohio THE TRIBUNE learned last night that virtually all hope of saving Democratic Senator Robert J. Bulkley, loyal New Dealer, has been given up. The most optimistic note sounded in that quarter was that Bulkley had a bare fighting chance of beating the Republican candidate, Robert A. Taft, son of the late President and Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who has been making one of the ablest attacks on the New Deal that have featured this election.

Workers Desert New Deal.

In the last three elections Ohio has been one of the banner Roosevelt states. The explanation of the marked reversal of popular opinion in this election coming from Democratic as well as Republican sources is that farmers, small tradesmen, and the more conservative element of workingmen have deserted the New Deal.

Inquiry into the state of mind of rural dwellers in Ohio disclosed that the farmers, discouraged by the lowest grain prices since 1932, are disillusioned of their faith in the New Deal farm program for boosting prices by curtailment of production.

Equally significant of the changed attitude of the public is the further revelation that the farmers are greatly concerned over the continued outpouring of billions of dollars for relief of unemployment that does not diminish, over the ever mounting national debt and burden of taxation and over the danger of national bankruptcy and inflation involved in the New Deal fiscal policies.

No Faith in Permanency.

Ohio tradesmen and other business men evinced the same anxieties and while testifying that business has improved since last June they attributed the improvement to the "shot in the arm" administered to the body economic by the expenditure of 5 billion dollars for relief, public works and other devices for priming the business pump.

They admitted no greater faith in the permanency of this period of business improvement than in the semblance of prosperity produced by the pump priming program of 1935-36, the effect of which wore off and left the country in 1937 back in the trough of the depression.

Further light is shed on the revolt of the middle class by the dispatches from Michigan. The Democratic managers admitted the desperate plight of Gov. Frank Murphy, who is threatened with defeat by his Republican opponent, former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald. The last straw at which they are clutching is that Murphy will be saved by the eleventh hour pleas in his behalf by President Roosevelt.

What has astonished the Democratic managers in Michigan is not so much the swing back of the farmers to Republican allegiance as the evidence they could not ignore greatly diminished Murphy strength in Detroit and other industrial centers. A canvass of industrial districts disclosed that there was no falling off of enthusiasm for Murphy among the C. I. O. workers and other radical elements, but that a large proportion of members of the A. F. of L. crafts unions and practically all unaffiliated workers are for Fitzgerald.

Lewis, who last year demanded that the President come to his aid in the sitdown strikes in compensation for the $600,000 Lewis raised for his reëlection, put forth a final effort yesterday to rally labor support for the New Deal at the polls tomorrow.

Purge Echoes in Montana.

From Montana comes an echo of the Roosevelt purge. Congressman Jerry J. O'Connell, Democrat, is threatened with defeat by Dr. J. Thorkelson, Republican. O'Connell is the C. I. O. partisan who went to Spain to give aid and comfort to the communist government. He announced that he had been delegated by President Roosevelt to "liquidate" Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] when he comes up for renomination in 1940.

From Democratic higherups in Pennsylvania there emanated last night the private admission of failure in the effort to elect Gov. George H. Earle to the senate in place of Republican Senator James J. Davis. Their opinion was that President Roosevelt's letter indorsing Earle had gained the candidate no appreciable number of votes, if it had not actually turned votes away as had happened in the states in which Mr. Roosevelt tried to put over yes-men and defeat "yes-but" Democrats.

In addition to the reasons for the waning of enthusiasm for the New Deal noted in other states there is in Pennsylvania the popular revulsion against the noisome record of the Earle administration.

New York Opponents

Youthful Thomas E. Dewey, rackets prosecutor and Republican candidate for governor of New York, declared his opponents were indicting him for being born in the 20th century. Dewey was leading in the final New York straw polls.

munism, not only in Illinois but throughout the country.

"I have assailed communism because it is a theory of government in direct conflict with the American principles of democracy espoused by Jefferson and Lincoln. I have opposed communism because it has failed to work. It has brought neither freedom nor prosperity to the masses in any country that has listened to the siren song of the communists. I have opposed communism because its agitators have proposed to foist it upon us by overthrowing our government by force. Most of all, I have opposed communism because it preaches atheism, seeks to destroy religion, and in the false name of freedom invades the citizen's right to worship God according to the dictates of his conscience.

"I shall never abandon the fight to defend our American freedom against communistic doctrins. Yet because I believe in American principles I must grant even to the communists, whom I detest, the right of free speech and peaceful assembly so long as they proceed within the constitution and the laws of our state and nation. And because I believe in the American people and their devotion to freedom I know that in the long run neither communism nor any other foreign philosophy of government will ever supplant our American liberties.

No Place for Isms.

"I have said many times, and with all emphasis I say now, that there is no place in our government structure for any 'ism' except Americanism. I am an American, proud of my birthright and heritage. My Americanism is of the type that stems from the bill of rights, with its God given privilege of freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of education, freedom of the press, and, best of all, the right to worship one's God according to the dictates of his own conscience.

"Those who have followed my record in congress know that upon every occasion I have been in the vanguard of the forces which believe in America, her ideals and her institutions. Many are familiar with my denunciations of religious intolerance.

"Well do the people of Illinois know where I stand. They witnessed my voluntary espousal of the sanctity of the Supreme court when I thought that the even balance between the three great branches of the national government was in danger of being distorted. Time after time, they have heard me excoriate subversive elements which gnaw like termites at our governmental structure.

"So my friends, shall it ever be."

Calls for Defeat of Bosses.

Lyons in his speeches declared the election is a contest between the people and the bosses.

"Our opponents,' he said, "have embarked on a program of misrepresentation and lies, and mud slinging that was intended to make us forget the major issues. We have refused to be enticed into a campaign of name calling.

"They have resorted to a union with the Chicago machine which they denounced in the primary. They have turned to Nash-Kelly and their organization to overcome the sentiment that has swept the state. When Nash and Kelly failed them, they sought the leadership of Jake Arvey, boss of the 24th ward. This 24th ward is notorious for indictments and convictions against election judges for vote frauds.

"Such is the character of the men who oppose us and who would thwart the will of the people. They have brought the issue of bossism and an honest ballot into this election. They are seeking to take this election by fair means or foul.

Points to Red Meeting.

"Supporting the New Deal in its drive against the Republican party and me in particular is the communist organization. They have launched a desperate campaign to 'Defeat Lyons.' In the largest auditorium this state possesses, they held a gigantic meeting just Friday night. More than 15,000 people gathered there to cheer the communist leaders who called for my defeat.

"I regard them not only as un-American and a subversive influence upon our government, but as an influence which seeks to destroy all that our churches, our families, and our homes stand for.

"They do not want to see our Republican ticket elected, nor Dick Lyons take his seat in the senate. They know that I shall act immediately to invoke and enforce measures that will deport all agents of foreign countries who are in America seeking to undermine our morale and our government.

"The people have indicated that they want no more experimentation in government, that they want a sane, sound program adopted which will put men back to work. They have indicated that they want an end to the boss-rule and monopoly in government now exercised in our state and national administrations. They want an end to subversive influences in America. The citizens of Illinois have realized that they have been deceived and they are calling for a change."

Expects 200,000 Lead Downstate.

P. A. Nash, the Democratic county chairmar who has been inactive during the campaign—having given way to Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], vice chairman of the county central committee—issued an election forecast, but the wording of his statement left it doubtful as to whether he was limiting it to downstate.

"Reports from downstate," he said, "show that the sentiment for President Roosevelt is increasing and that it will be reflected at the ballot box by an overwhelming majority of at least 200,000 votes in favor of all the Democratic candidates. They have a record of faithful public service and of allegiance to our President."

Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Senator James Hamilton Lewis spoke to colored voters in the Eighth Regiment armory. The general theme of their speeches was: "Stand back of Roosevelt."

Gov. Henry Horner, kept to his hotel room by a cold, was forced to cancel speeches at Rockford and Decatur.

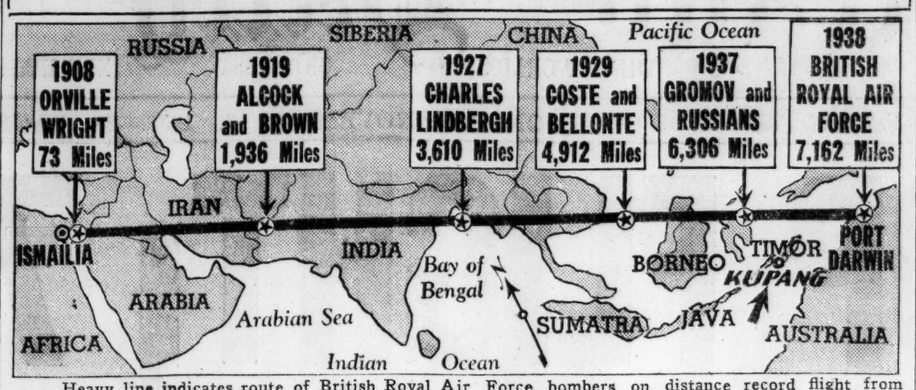
Britons Climax 30 Years of Distance Flying



Heavy line indicates route of British Royal Air Force bombers on distance record flight from Egypt to Australia. One of the three planes was forced down by lack of gas at Kupang, Timor Island (see arrow), but its two companion planes reached Australia. Plotted along the line of flight are the comparative distances of some of the previous record holders, showing how the mark has been extended in 30 years. None of the previous records were made over this same route, however.

30 YEARS IN HISTORY OF FLYERS' EFFORTS FOR DISTANCE MARKS

The new distance flight record set today by two British Royal Air Force bombers rounded out thirty years of aviation history in which flyers since the days of the Wright brothers have extended the nonstop record from 73 miles to 7,162 miles. The following table gives the year of the record, the maker, the route, and the number of miles:

1909—Henry Farman; Chalons camp, France; 145 miles.
1910—Maurice Tabuteau; Buc, France; 363 miles.
1912—Fourny [French]; Etampes, France; 628 miles.
1922—Kelley and Macready; San Diego to Indianapolis; 2,060 miles.
1923—Kelley and Macready; New York to San Diego; 2,516 miles.
1926—Coste and Rignot; Paris to Djask, Persia; 3,313 miles.
1927—Clarence Chamberlin; New York to Eisleben, Germany; 3,911 miles.
1928—Ferrarin and Del Prete; Rome to Brazil; 4,466 miles.
1929—Coste and Bellonte; Paris to Coulart, China; 4,912 miles.
1931—Boardman and Polando; New York to Istanbul, Turkey; 5,011 miles.
1933—Gayford and Nicholetts; Cranwell, England, to Walvis Bay, South Africa; 5,308 miles.
1933—Codos and Rossi; New York to Rayak, Syria; 5,657 miles.
1937—Gromov and Russians; Moscow to San Jacinto, Cal.; 6,306 miles.
1938—Two British Air Force planes; Egypt to Australia; 7,160 miles.

ALL ARE URGED TO CAST VOTES ON BANKING LAW

Indifference or ignorance of voters is the only danger facing the proposed banking amendment to be voted on at tomorrow's election. This statement was made yesterday by Floyd E. Thompson, chairman of the constitutional amendment committee campaigning for the measure.

"Voters who want Illinois to keep up with other states must not forget this proposal," he said.

Similar banking proposals will be on the ballot in nine other states at the election, but only in Illinois does the law require that adoption of the amendment require a majority of all votes cast, and not merely a majority of votes cast on the amendment."

The amendment would eliminate the double liability assessment on stockholders and it would permit future changes in state banking laws by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature instead of by referendum.

OPPONENTS SWAP 11TH HOUR BLOWS IN COUNTY RACES

Enter Last Day of Race Under Full Steam.

BY PERCY WOOD.

The campaign for county offices went into its final twenty-four hours last night with candidates still trading last minute charges and predictions.

The race for the county judgeship—hottest fight on the county tickets—continued with both Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, Democrat, and his Republican opponent, former Judge Theodore F. Ehler, angling for votes with opposite tactics.

Former Judge Ehler, speaking before a well attended meeting of colored voters in the Olivet Baptist church, 31st street and South Parkway, lambasted Judge Jarecki with charges that graft and corruption featured his handling of inheritance tax cases.

Urges Citizens to Vote.

Judge Jarecki ignored this style of campaigning and, addressing the voters by radio, said he would not "intrude" upon their Sunday privacy with political importuning. He explained the election machinery, urged them to vote on Tuesday, and let it go at that.

"Elsewhere in the war torn and dictator ridden world the vote is a farce," the judge said, "a tragic joke played upon the people. "Here in America, the last great democracy, the plain citizen is king all over this country on Tuesday; by his vote he establishes and reëstablishes government."

Former Judge Ehler was particularly incensed over Judge Jarecki's failure to appear in Circuit court last Thursday in answer to a summons served on him in connection with a suit to recover $6,000,000 allegedly paid to estate appraisers without much work being done in return.

Hits Democratic Machine.

"Any honest public official would have not only welcomed the opportunity to absolve himself of such serious charges, but would have pleaded for a chance to tell his story," Ehler said.

"That is precisely what Judge Jarecki did not do. He may have succeeded in avoiding a hearing through an array of high priced legal talent, but he stands convicted in the eyes of the people."

In another part of his speech Ehler struck hard at the Democratic machine:

"There are men holding office today who never were really elected by an honest vote. If we don't get out a tremendous vote on Tuesday the machine will steal the election from us again."

Loesch Speaks for Ehler.

Frank J. Loesch, veteran battler against the alliance of crime and politics and former chairman of the Chicago Crime commission, issued a final appeal for Ehler's election in his capacity as chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Honest Elections.

"Judge Ehler's record on the Municipal bench, his indorsement by the Chicago Bar association, and his announcement that he will appoint three outstanding citizens to the election commission, have earned him the good will and confidence of the people," Loesch said.

"All citizens interested in good government and honest elections should without fail go to the polls on Tuesday to approve this excellent program."

Robert W. Dunn, Republican candidate for judge of the Probate court, declared that the election would decide whether "the principles of two-party government are to endure."

"It will decide," he said, "whether we are to have complete dominance by one party or what was intended by the fathers—a strong party in power and a strong party in opposition to that power, but both devoted to American republican government."

At the 8th regiment armory, 3515 Giles avenue, in the colored district, John Toman, Democratic nominee for county treasurer, talked mostly of his record in the office of sherif, which he now holds.

"I promised you voters four years ago," he said, "that I would not have to apologize to you for my conduct as sherif. That promise goes right down to this minute. There have been no jail scandals nor jail breaks since I took office. And because it will especially interest you people, I want you to know that when I took office there were only four colored employés in the county jail; now there are thirty-five."

Garbo Says No

MRS. JAMES ROOSEVELT.

GRETA GARBO.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—The film capital heard today that efforts have been made to arrange a meeting for Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt, son and daughter-in-law of the President, and Harry Hopkins, Works Progress administrator, with Greta Garbo, who returned recently from Europe. George Cukor, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, is understood to have told the intermediaries that it was impossible. Comments on the film lots were heard that in no other country in the world would it happen that persons so close to the nation's chief executive would find it impossible to meet an actress. Imagine, they said, an actress in Italy not meeting one of Mussolini's family. Or an actress in England refusing to meet a member of the royal family.

FIRST WARD VOTE REGISTRATION SCANDAL BARED

Find Traveling Salesmen Listed Falsely.

Investigators for the election commissioners reported yesterday that they had discovered a dozen or more fraudulent registrations in the 7th precinct of the 1st ward. Four traveling salesmen who live in four different states are listed as voters of that precinc' and as permanent residents of the Harrison hotel, 57 East Harrison street.

Last week the election board heard from Charles H. Beiger of South Bend, Ind., to whom a voter's identification card had been sent. Yesterday the board heard about Benjamin F. Briggs of Belvidere, Ill., Alphonse Bergemeier of Dubuque, Ia., and Robert Demuth of Monroe, Mich., all of whom are recorded as eligible voters in Chicago's 1st ward.

Can't Locate Precinct Captain.

Attempts to interview the Democratic precinct captain, Louis W. Nathan, who also lives at the Harrison hotel and operates the 606 club at 606 South Wabash avenue, failed yesterday. He was reported at a political meeting. Capt. John W. Norton of the fraud bureau of the election board said Nathan would be questioned today.

"We found several other phony names on the precinct registration list," said Capt. Norton. "That precinct is going to receive a lot of attention from us."

Edward W. Jacks, manager of the hotel, said it was obvious that at least seven or eight names on the voters' list were wrongfully posted as residents of the hotel. Others, he said, lived at the hotel part of the time and may have elected to call it their residence for voting purposes.

"We are having a lot of trouble about those registrations," he said. "Prior to every election we send the election board the names of those who have a right to register from the hotel. I don't see why they don't compare our lists with the registrations."

Orders General Inquiry.

On orders of Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, member of the election board, an investigation was begun when Beiger's name was discovered on the eligible voters' lists. He was not at the hotel on Oct. 10, the day of his registration as a voter, but registered at the hotel on Oct. 11 and stayed there until Oct. 14. Therefore he was present when the clerks of election canvassed the precinct, Mrs. Reinecke said.

It was apparent that some one who knew Beiger was a frequent visitor at the hotel had falsely registered in his name. Then, on learning that three other traveling men's names had been used falsely, Capt. Norton said an investigation would be made to determine how their names were obtained.

The election board and County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki have issued credentials to more than 130,000 watchers and observers who have asked the privilege of remaining in polling places throughout the voting and the counting tomorrow. Of these 27,000 went to civic, professional, and business organizations; 75,000 to watchers for individual candidates, and 30,800 to party organizations. The Association of Commerce and the Chicago Bar association also will be on guard to prevent any attempted frauds.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Arthur W. Sprague, Republican nominee for state representative from the 7th district, telephoned THE TRIBUNE yesterday that he favors parole law reform. His name was omitted from a list of candidates indorsed on this issue which appeared in the Metropolitan section yesterday. He said he did not receive either of two requests sent to all candidates asking for an expression on this subject.

FIND AMNESIA VICTIM.

A man who said he is Harvey Wiebers, 25 years old, of Lafayette, Ind., was found wandering by police in Evanston yesterday. He appeared to be suffering from amnesia.

SONSTEBY CALLS CASEY'S COURT CHARGES FALSE

Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court replied last night to recent charges made against him and other Municipal court judges by Judge Edward B. Casey, Republican candidate for reëlection tomorrow.

J. J. Sonsteby.

In a brief radio talk Judge Sonsteby called the charges false and misleading. He devoted much of his time to a reply to Judge Casey's claims that the court is expensive and hampered by excessive rules. The chief justice did not answer the Casey charge that the court is dominated by the Kelly-Nash forces.

Not Candidate, but He Answers.

"This criticism and these false statements are intended to bring the court into disrepute," Judge Sonsteby declared. "Therefore, although I am not a candidate for reëlection, I am speaking because if these charges go unanswered some people may think they are true."

Regarding the charge of complicated court rules, he said: "These rules have standardized court procedure and have decreased the number of appeals to higher courts. In 1932 there were 353 appeals; in 1938 so far there have been only 145."

"Certain demagogs have said we destroyed the conception of the Municipal court as the poor man's court," he continued. "As a matter of fact, we have waived court costs in many cases where the litigant is poor and have furnished free legal aid."

Judge Sonsteby accused Judge Casey of being inconsistent in his criticism of certain fellow judges. "He has falsely accused his colleagues of setting free operators of handbooks," the chief justice said. "Yet, when I assigned him to the Town Hall and Wabash avenue courts, he discharged hundreds of gambling defendants for the same reason—no warants.

Cites Trafic Court Discharges.

"While Judge Casey sat in Trafic court he made wholesale discharges of trafic violators. And, although he was critical later, he signed the order reinstating the bailifs who had been fired because of their political connections."

He concluded by reading a resolution of the Chicago Crime commission praising his work as chief justice.

GERMAN-ITALIAN CONQUESTS STIR ANXIETY OF U. S.

English, French Retreat Considered Ominous.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Twenty years after the first armistice finds Washington watching a new world war in Europe. In this war Great Britain and France are in full retreat before Germany and Italy as the latter win one bloodless battle after another.

In the last week Britain and France suffered two defeats. Under steady pressure from Rome, England recognized the conquest of Ethiopia, and both Britain and France stood by as the partition of Czechoslovakia was completed, with the award of Czech territory to Hungary, an ally of Germany.

Washington expects more defeats. Germany and Italy are not satisfied, but are hungry for more, observers are convinced.

Temporary Peace Expected.

It is expected that the "peace" of Munich, which ended with the partition of Czechoslovakia, will last a year or two, or perhaps five. It is believed it will last only because France and Britain are not ready to fight.

In the meantime, observers here expect that the two nations will continue to retreat in the bloodless war being waged by Hitler. Whether the retreat will go so far as to bring a return of the colonies taken from Germany is a question. Hitler has declared that Germany never will rest until the colonies are returned. It is felt here that he may raise the demand for their restoration as soon as Sudetenland is assimilated.

Observers Apprehensive.

America's foreign observers are eyeing the situation apprehensively. They feel that the bloodless conquest of territory declared inviolable in the Versailles treaty answered the question of who won the war, a question which has raged since the armistice. Their answer, like that of many of the American troops who fought in the struggle, is that Germany won.

The extent of Germany's reversal of the verdict of the world war is shown by examination of the present lineup of major and minor powers in Europe, according to observers.

On the first armistice day Germany stood alone after four years of fighting. Austria-Hungary, Turkey, and Bulgaria had fallen by the wayside. Germany bowed to a formidable array of foes. Among the allies were the United States, Britain, France, Italy, and Japan. Only one of the allies—Russia—stepped out of the ranks.

Picture Is Topsy-Turvy.

France and Britain strengthened their position in the peace conference through the creation of a wall of newly created nations, carved largely from entente territory about Germany.

Now, twenty years later, the picture has been turned topsy-turvy. Germany, Italy, and Japan stand in one camp. Austria has been gobbled up. Hungary is under German domination. The remains of Czechoslovakia lie at the mercy of Hitler. Bulgaria is back. Turkey is turning toward her old ally as the dream of former Kaiser Wilhelm II. of German domination of the east is approaching materialization, not through his hands but through those of a paperhanger.

Poland has turned from its sentimental alliance with France and is seeking security at the side of Germany. Jugo-Slavia, surrounded by German-Italian influence, has bowed in the interests of self-preservation. She had no choice, observers concede.

Seek to Hold Rumania.

Rumania vacillates. Britain and France are working to hold her to her world war ties. King Carol has been invited to London for a state visit, where he will be subjected to British charm.

Carol is in a pretty pickle, observers acknowledge. If he joins Hitler he will lose British credit and be asked to return part of Transylvania to Hungary. If he stays with Britain and France he will have to seek the protection of Russia, and the latter may demand return of Bessarabia as its price.

Of the six great nations which fought Germany twenty years ago—Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Japan, and the United States—only two stand together today.

Italy and Japan have deserted to the enemy. The United States—sadder and wiser for her intervention in 1918—has returned to the sidelines. Russia also is on the sidelines, but is anxious to play ball with Britain and France against the anti-communist Italo-German front. Russia, however, is distrusted.

Britain Seeks to Woo U. S.

Officials acknowledge that every pressure is being exerted by Britain to woo the United States back into harness with her old teammates with the old battle cry, "preserve democracy" The proposed visit of King George VI. of Great Britain to the United States is looked upon as a step toward that end.

In some circles here it is believed that the administration already has entered into a secret agreement under which this nation pledged cooperation with Britain in the event of war.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull has denied the existence of any understanding. Those convinced that one exists point out that there has been no denial from the White House and that President Roosevelt in speaking in Canada asserted this nation would not stand idle if Canada is attacked.

Carol's Dilemma

(Story in adjoining column.)

Diplomatic observers report King Carol of Rumania is facing a crisis because of the growing power of Germany. If he joins Hitler he will lose British credit and will be asked to return at least part of Transylvania (1) to Hungary. If he stays with Britain and France he will have to seek the protection of Russia, and the latter may demand return of Bessarabia as its price.

U. S. TO PROTECT THE AMERICAS, ASSERTS WELLES

World Gets New Notice Against Meddling.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, gave the world fresh notice tonight that the United States is preparing not only to defend itself but also to aid in keeping the western hemisphere safe from threatened attack.

Sumner Welles.

In an address broadcast to South America he appealed for inter-American solidarity at a time when "the doctrin of hatred is threatening civilization."

Territorial integrity and individual liberty may depend upon continued close relations between the American republics, he said.

Ready to Join Democracies.

"As a nation," Welles asserted, "we will assure ourselves that we are in a position to defend ourselves from all aggression from whatever source it may arise, and to be prepared to join with our fellow democracies of the new world in preserving the western hemisphere safe from any threat of attack."

The United States government is engaged in a general resurvey of its national defense needs, in which commitments of the Monroe Doctrin are being kept closely in mind.

Welles said that the eighth Pan-American conference, meeting Dec. 9 in Lima, Peru, would be of outstanding importance in view of the world situation. Secretary of State Cordell Hull is expected to head the American delegation.

Solidarity Termed Essential.

"Our respective freedom, independence, and future welfare may depend upon our continued solidarity," said Welles. "Two years ago the American republics declared that any threat to the peace of any of them was a threat to all.

"The physical integrity of the nations of the new world and the security of the individual rights and liberties of their citizens may depend upon maintenance of that relationship.

"At this epoch in the history of the world the doctrin of hatred is threatening civilization. You can see it extending its influence month by month, day by day, as its shadow darkens more and more of the face of the earth.

"Permanent peace will come only when nations observe the sanctity of the pledged word, when they refrain from intervention in the internal affairs of other countries, when they settle their disputes by peaceful means."

SOLDIERS RULE WIDE AREA OF PHILIPPINES; ELECTION RIOTS GROW

MANILA, Nov. 6.—(AP)—President Manuel Quezon put two more provinces under constabulary rule tonight because of election campaign tension and officers prepared for trouble in another—Cavite—after three persons had been seriously injured in a political riot there.

Six provinces occupied by troops are in black. Cavite, and Abra.

Quezon's order put troops in Cebu and Bulacan provinces. Previously soldiers had been posted in Ilocos Norte, Ilocos Sur,

The threatening situation developed in Cavite, just south of Manila, in a fight which began with the stoning of a campaign meeting. Quezon was reported to be considering putting Sorsogon province also under constabularly rule because of fear of violence there.

QUICK LOYALIST DRIVE BREAKS UP REBEL OFFENSIVE

Lessens Menace Against Mora de Ebro.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Nov. 6.—(AP)—Spanish government counter attacks of unexpected strength were reported today to have held back a rebel offensive aimed at wiping out the government's salient on the west bank of the Ebro river.

The advancing rebels clashed in a battle with a reorganized government army near the confluence of the Ebro river and Benisanet creek—the outer defense of Mora de Ebro, the governmernt's last stronghold in the zone on the west bank of the Ebro.

The government counter attack was unleashed in the morning just after two rebel columns had joined forces, one moving west between Venta de los Camposines and the Caballos mountains and the other driving north toward Benisanet creek.

Tanks Lead Attack.

Before the merged columns could organize into a single fighting unit, government troops struck. Waves of tanks led their attack while squadrons of war planes bombed and machine gunned the rebel rear guard.

Rebel dispatches, however, said Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops quickly took cover in hills, rushed up light field guns, and held against the government attacks.

Rebel capture of Mora de Ebro, which is about fifteen miles east of Gandesa, the starting point of Franco's drive, would eliminate virtually the last gains made by the government's surprise July offensive.

Dispatches from both sides indicated combined casualties for the two armies in eight days of sanguinary fighting had mounted to more than 5,000 men.

Capture 700 Prisoners.

Rebel reports said 700 government prisoners were captured yesterday alone, raising to 3,600 the number of captives sent behind Franco's lines at the end of six days of the offensive.

Franco's troops, which had advanced steadily, were said also to have captured large quantities of arms and munitions, including twelve tanks.

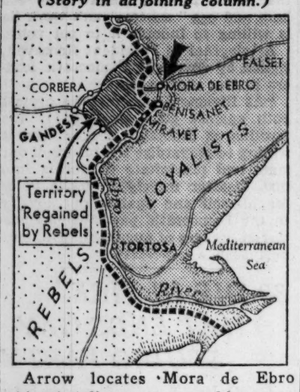
Stretched out on a fifteen mile semicircle, rebel forces menaced Mora de Ebro from Benisanet and Venta de los Camposines. The northern column of Franco's army apparently was held back by strongly entrenched government troops in that hilly sector.

Bombers Raid Cartagena.

MADRID, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Three persons were killed and eight injured today as two rebel war plane squadrons raided Cartagena. Other Mediterranean coast points also were bombed in a series of raids which began early in the morning.

Rebels Halted

(Story in adjoining column.)



Arrow locates Mora de Ebro which loyalist troops saved by counterattack that halted the rebels' eight day advance. The rebels have regained most of the territory the loyalists took in their July drive which reached almost to Gandesa. Dotted line indicates the present position of the battle front.

AVIATOR LOST IN MOUNTAINS MAY DIE OF EXPOSURE

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Capt. Alexander Papana, Rumanian flyer who spent two years in the United States preparing for a trans-Atlantic flight which failed to take place, was taken to a hospital today in a critical condition from exposure.

The aviator lost his way in the Carpathian mountains near Sinaia while on a mountaineering expedition. He wandered in the bitter cold several hours before making his way out of the mountains.

Capt. Papana, who participated in numerous air meets in the United States as a stunt flyer, returned to Bucharest several days ago after his American built plane, King Carol II., cracked up in Florida Oct. 19. He had planned to fly the plane to South America and from there attempt a South Atlantic hop to Rumania.

CHINA MARSHALS ARMY FOR DRIVE TO REWIN CANTON

Japanese Forces Thinly Placed in South.

HONGKONG, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Chinese military leaders were reported completing groundwork today for a counter attack against Japanese invaders in South China.

Both Japanese and Chinese sources here agreed the Chinese would make a concerted effort to retake Canton, South China's most important city, which fell to the Japanese on Oct. 21.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, said Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek had ordered commanders of his South China forces to lay plans for an immediate offensive.

The Chinese owned Hongkong Daily Press reported Chiang Kai-shek himself was believed directing wide scale operations designed to recapture the southern metropolis.

Troops' Position a Mystery.

The whereabout of the generalissimo have been unreported since the fall of Hankow and mystery similarly surrounds the location of large Cantonese forces withdrawn before the fall of Canton.

Japanese troops apparently were spread thinly throughout Kwangtung province, with their main drives westward toward Wuchow and northward along the Canton-Hankow railway.

The Japanese meanwhile continued aerial strafing of Kwangtung province towns where many civilians were said to have been killed.

Japanese marines were reported to have captured Haitan Island, south of coastal Fukien province's capital, Foochow, but to have been repulsed in an attempt to reach the mainland.

Japs Menace Changsha.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Japanese troops driving southwestward from Hankow reported today they had broken the outer defenses of Changsha, capital of unconquered Hunan province.

Japanese commanders said a major obstacle to this immediate objective was cleared with the capture of Tsungyang, 125 miles northeast of Changsha and midway between the provincial capital and Hankow.

The capture of the town was said to have been accomplished following a stiff engagement with the Chinese 75th army, which the Japanese reported was "virtually annihilated."

A second Japanese column pressed closer to Yochow, gateway to Hunan province, and fifty-five miles southwest of Tsungyang. Yochow is 122 miles from Hankow on the Canton-Hankow railway, the Yangtze river, and Lake Tungting.

A raid by Japanese naval planes on the Chinese airdrome at Liangshan, in Szechwan province, was said to have resulted in the destruction of thirteen Chinese planes.

Keep Hands Off China, Jap Army Newspaper Warns U. S.

TOKIO, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The newspaper Kokumin, considered to be the organ of the army and ultra-nationalistic elements, warned today that Japan would "take retaliatory measures" if the United States attempted to force her to continue recognizing the nine power treaty.

The newspaper scoffed at the declaration of Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state, last Friday in Washington, D. C., that the United States' attitude in the Far East was based on existing treaties and remained unchanged.

Kokumin belittled Hull's declaration as designed for home consumption only and declared that British machinations were working behind the scenes.

Disaster to Roosevelt Régime.

The newspaper asserted that any American economic reprisals against Japan's assertion of economic and political sway in the orient would bring disaster to the "Roosevelt régime."

Such a step, it said, would draw the United States into the center of the China problem, and American public opinion would not tolerate being involved.

Japan, it declared, was prepared to take practical retaliatory measures should the United States resort to any economic action against the imperial government.

In such a case, it said, Japan no longer would be bound to respect the rights of American commercial interests in China.

HITS AMERICAN NOTE.

Secretary Hull's comment last Friday followed a United States note to Japan protesting apparent intentions to close the "open door" in China and statements in Tokio that Japan may denounce the nine power pact pledging respect for China's territorial integrity and the open door.

It was interpreted by informed quarters in Washington to mean that the United States would not accept Japan's claim to a new position in the far east.

That claim was asserted bluntly on Nov. 2 in a formal government declaration.

Japan told the world then that she intended to create a political and economic bloc consisting of the Japanese empire, Japanese dominated Manchukuo and China in carrying out her "immutable policy" for Asiatic reconstruction after the war with China.

Plan New Government.

An apparent step forward in this plan was disclosed on Saturday in Peking. Authoritative sources there said Japan expected within a few days to announce formation of a new central Chinese government under her auspices.

These sources predicted that the new régime would mean eventual elimination of western economic influences in China, including those of the United States.

FIFTH QUAKE IN 3 DAYS HITS TOKIO; TRAINS STOPPED

TOKIO, Nov. 7 [Monday]—(AP)—The fifth earthquake in three days shook Tokio today. All were of mild intensity and caused no casualties or serious damage. The last shock was felt here at 10:45 a. m. today [8:45 p. m., C. S. T., Sunday]. Minor landslides temporarily halted trafic on two railroads and one warehouse collapsed. The meteorological observatory located the epicenter of the disturbance about 100 miles southeast of Tokio.

Sees Fascist Combine.

The comintern's secretary general said one of the most important facts witnessed before the world was the "policy of warlike agreement between the Fascist aggressors and the imperialist cliques of England and France."

"Nothing can be accomplished with mere pacific declarations," he declared. "Active opposition against armed Fascism is necessary to show the mailed fist of the people."

"The reactionary English and French bourgeoisie" have given Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany an extraordinary favorable strategic position, and unless the workers of the world get busy, Germany will attack Hungary next spring and effectively conquer Poland, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Bulgaria, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and Switzerland in preparation for a grand finale smash in the direction of the soviet union "in the autumn of 1941," he wrote.

Russia Ready to Fight.

At the same time, the Soviet Russia of Josef Stalin was declared to be like a rock in an uncertain post-Munich world by Vyacheslav Molotov, chairman of the Council of Peoples Commissars, who addressed an enthusiastic audience of bolshevists at Bolshoi opera house.

The "second world war" already has begun without being declared and is raging from Gibraltar to Shanghai, he declared to the gathering attended by Stalin and other leaders.

But the U. S. S. R. is strong and ready to "answer every blow of the aggressor in the east or west with a double or triple blow," he continued.

Picked units of the Red army will parade past the polished red tomb of Nikolai Lenin, leader and saint of the revolution, during the anniversary celebration. From the top of the tomb Stalin and other dignitaries will watch the army's procession and afterward acknowledge the cheers of an estimated 1,000,000 civilian marchers.

Authorities at Crown Point, Ind., said yesterday that they would apply lie detector tests to Keith Alson, young farmhand. Alson was the fiancé of Miss Frieda Borman, 22 years old, of West Gary, whose body was found last Thursday beside a lonely road near Griffith, Ind. The cause of her death is not known There were no marks of violence on the body and a theory that she may have poisoned herself is being investigated.

POLAND BALLOTS AS REDS PUT ON DEMONSTRATIONS

WARSAW, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Sporadic demonstrations by communists and national Democrats were reported today in the first of two Sunday parliamentary elections held throughout Poland to select a new sejm, or lower house of parliament.

The outbursts were confined chiefly to outlying towns and the cities of Krakow and Kielce. Police arrested eighty-one persons in Poznan where a raid on a secret national Democrat meeting place netted a quantity of propaganda leaflets, firecrackers, and blackjacks.

There were 486 candidates for the 208 seats of the sejm. In the second election to be held next Sunday the electorate will select sixty-four senators for the upper house of parliament.

DEMOCRATS HIT ROOSEVELT'S AID TO $30 DOWNEY

Californians Send Protest to President.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Sheridan Downey, Democratic nominee for United States senator, addressed a mass meeting of 24,000 adherents of the "$30 every Thursday" pension scheme in Hollywood Bowl this afternoon.

Downey made an enthusiastic plea for the scheme and urged voters to approve the plan, which is on the ballot in next Tuesday's election.

President Roosevelt has condemned the "$30 ham and eggs" scheme, though he has indorsed Downey as a "real liberal." Following the address this afternoon Democrats who are fighting the $30 plan sent telegrams one heap behind it.

to the President protesting his indorsement of Downey.

Philip Bancroft, the Republican candidate, issued a statement declaring that while Downey knows the "$30 ham and egg" scheme can't work he is willing to indorse it to get votes.

A telegram to President Roosevelt, signed by dozens of Democratic leaders in the state, said:

"As lifelong Democrats we protest both against you being put in the position of indorsing a man who is willing to jeopardize the future of our state and precipitate California into dire disaster merely to make votes for himself and against our loyalty to the Democratic party being questioned because of our inability to support such a candidate."

When firemen forced down the only door of the apartment—opening in—they found 13 burned bodies in one heap behind it.

YOU too, can have A GOOD HEAD OF HAIR . . .

and it costs you nothing to find out HOW

WHEN you were a child your scalp contained the necessary structure to grow 121,630 hairs. This same organic structure remains alive in your scalp as long as you live. It is ready to function as Nature intended it should, when properly stimulated and when relieved of the burden of scalp disorders, such as dandruff, itching scalp or falling hair.

Thomas' treatment does exactly these two things: (1) Cleanses the scalp of all infection and leaves it antiseptically free of baldness-producing germs; (2) stimulates the dormant sources of hair growth. Thus, Thomas' treatment ends dandruff, stops abnormal hair fall and permits hair to grow again on the thin or bald spots. Call at a Thomas' office today for a free scalp examination and learn how this sound, dignified method of preventing baldness and re-growing hair can benefit you. If you prefer, write for the interesting free booklet on the care of the hair and scalp.

Do one of these two things TODAY:

COLONY ON WAY TO INDEPENDENCE WITHOUT U. S. AID

Arkansas Farmers Cost Taxpayers Nothing.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Blytheville, Ark., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—In the Milligan ridge country about twenty miles from the main currents of life is an eddy of the social stream where youth and their elders are working their way to independence on the land without benefit of government and without fear.

Where Dyess colony a few miles away presents a scene of dissatisfaction and a loss of $1,500,000 of public money to date, this haphazard, unruled colony in the cypress woods gives one the feeling that the American pioneer spirit still is at work.

Dyess has built 500 farm units and still is in an experimental and costly stage.

On Way to Independence.

In Milligan ridge 490 farmers, entirely on their own, have cleared and planted as large an area of wild land, and are on their way to be home owners at much less cost to themselves and at no public cost. It is true that they do not have a $95,000 school of modern design, nor a fine hospital, that their roads are rougher and their houses of no particular plan, but what they have they are free to manage without any riding boss or home economics teacher.

"Those fellows at Dyess are like a bunch of slaves," said A. A. Spence, a young, blue-eyed, unshaven farmer as he leaned on the fence and discussed his chances in the world.

He has a small house, not built according to a beautiful Washington plan, but homelike, with many evidences of care, inside and out. It is the beginning of a little self-sustaining plant in the wilderness, in a social arrangement which seems to develop by chance, but which, in each of its integrations, follows the lines of individual profit.

Roads Repaired, School Built.

Since there are votes here, the county fixes the road, and as there are growing needs here a store appears at the cross roads. Education is demanded for the children and a little white wooden schoolhouse arises under a grove of trees. That is the distinction between a natural growth, and a great hand reached down from the government to build expensively for model men and then to try to make them pay dearly for it and find out they are not models, only individuals.

Twenty miles from the Milligan development few even have heard of it. It is a rough country, far from an ideal spot. Some of the homes along the way are decrepit. Others give a delightful aspect of a new log house, with porches, curtains, flowers and trees, yards with pigs and chickens, stock in the barnyard, virgin fields of crops hemmed in by the old forest.

40 Acres Cost $1,000.

Speme has 40 acres here for which he is paying $25 an acre to No. 17 drainage district. The soil is a dark sandy loam, and the crops here look better than at Dyess, which has black, heavy soil. Spence has a truck garden to feed his family, and expects to make between 16 and 17 bales of cotton this year. His payments for the land are strung out over a ten year period.

"All I need is a little more time," he said. "I have to make loans and then plant cash crops to meet the loans. I think the New Deal is all right, but it is too much to understand. No colony for me. You can't get a farmer to work under some book-learnin' man. What is an education, anyway, but experience?

Plans an Appeal

[Acme Photo.]
SALLY RAND.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—Sally Rand, who was found guilty of assault and battery on two counts growing out of an altercation with two candid camera fans, will be sentenced today. The maximum penalty facing Miss Rand is a $1,000 fine and six months in jail.

Miss Rand was appearing in a theater last July in her fan and bubble dance specialty when she suddenly left the stage and grappled with a young man and his young woman companion who were taking pictures of her art. She was found guilty of the assault charge by a jury of nine women and three men. Her attorney said he would file an appeal from the sentence.

somewhere in between. The small man ought to have long time loans. But we are doing pretty well here. It is not what you would call a good living, but we are getting along."

Rents 80 Acres; Owns 20.

Bob Barker comes out from a comfortable looking farm home, with crops, horses, chickens, pigs, and cows in sight. He owns only twenty acres, however, and has to rent eighty more in order to make a living. It seems that some city fellow got ahead of him in the purchase of this land at low price, and now he sits back in town and reaps the benefits of Barker's labor.

Barker has cleared the place and feels that it belongs to him. On a rental basis he pays one-third of the corn and one-fourth of the hay. There is more corn in this section than at Dyess. Barker pays $50 a year for his twenty acres and $42 taxes, mostly drainage. It is a struggle, he says, and not all the farmers have been able to make their payments. That is true at Dyess also.

The government is remote here, felt only in the checks for the land not planted. Spence will get about $45 from the government for this service in the grand plan of controlling the cotton crop.

Best Lumber Taken.

Milligan ridge and other sections have been developed in this way during the last four years. It all began in an accidental sort of way. The drainage district took in 28,000 acres from the Chicago Mill and Lumber company, which had taken the lumber it wanted years ago and did not want to go on paying taxes.

Nine thousand acres of this were sold for cash at $15 an acre. This is where Barker's landlord and other townsmen had a chance for investment and took it. Perhaps they knew about the chance before the scattered farmers, all poor men and renters, heard of it.

Clarence Redman, manager of the drainage district who collects the payments from the 490 farmers, said that 90 per cent of them have paid up, 10 per cent are behind. There is a 20 per cent reajustment at Dyess, to say nothing of the initial expense of millions.

Plant Is Success.

"When the farmers heard of this cheap land they came in here forty and fifty a day," said Redman. "Some of the Dyess colonists wanted to move in. We gave them a two year lease, and then a sales contract at $25 an acre. We put these fellows on their own and so far it has been very satisfactory. They may get help from a cotton gin, or from a bank or a friend, in order to keep going until the first crops. We may help them to get a loan if they cannot meet payments, but that is all."

A mule is more important than an auto to these pioneers of Milligan ridge. They fight great trees that must come down, underbrush and rattlesnakes, pestilence and the lack of cash. But the virgin soil is with them, and the fields of hay and corn and cotton testify to their devoted labor. They take what comes to them and cherish their freedom. Opportunity may be only a crack in the door of the future, but they are pressing through, their children at their heels. This is young America with a flavor of the old.

Irwin, who admitted slaying Mrs. Mary Gedeon, her daughter, Veronica, and their roomer, Frank Byrnes, last Easter, will be tried on an indictment accusing him of killing Byrnes. Confesses Stealing Pigeons; Didn't Get Away with Loot

Austin police were holding Frank Nejeschleb, 25 years old, as a pigeon thief last night. Early yesterday Joseph Hoettner, 4221 Hirsch boulevard, a pigeon fancier, reported that some one was in his garage where he kept nearly 100 racing pigeons valued at $35 each. Policemen Edward Tighe and Robert Rinearson found Nejeschleb's car at the garage. In bags in the car were eighty-four pigeons. Nejeschleb was arrested in his home at 1536 North Kilpatrick avenue. Police said he confessed the thefts, stating he ran away and abandoned his car at the approach of the squad.

SCHOOLBOY SHOT BY POLICEMAN AS RESULT OF PRANK

One of two high school boys was shot by police last night after they had been seen on the roof of the three story apartment building at 3720-28 Pine Grove avenue, and had been mistaken for burglars.

The wounded youth is John Weiner Jr., 17 years old, who lives in the building with his father, the janitor. With him was Eric Korshak, 15, of 640 Waveland avenue. They attend Lane Technical High school.

Weiner took Korshak with him to the roof to play practical jokes on apartment tenants. They tossed pebbles at windows, and lowered home made stench devices by means of ropes to open windows. Town Hall police were called, and climbed through a skylight to the roof. Korshak surrendered, but Weiner escaped down another skylight, ran downstairs, and through a yard.

Weiner was mistaken for a burglar by Policeman Reginald Adams, who fired a shotgun blast at him. Weiner was struck in the neck, back, and shoulder. He is in a serious condition in the American hospital.

50 PER CENT MORE FILE PERSONALTY SCHEDULES IN '38

Penalty Assessments Go Down in County.

County Assessor John S. Clark reported yesterday that 50 per cent more taxpayers in the county filed personal property tax schedules this year than did in 1937. As a result, he said, penalty assessments of those who failed to file schedules were reduced by $36,659,784.

Personal property owners filed 130,819 tax schedules for 1938, compared with 87,235 for 1937. Under the law, if a taxpayer fails to file a sworn statement of his personal property, the assessor estimates its value and adds 50 per cent as a penalty.

The penalty assessment for 1938 is $57,287,369, compared with $93,947,153 for 1937.

More Willing to File.

"Taxpayers are more willing to file schedules under the more liberal rules of assessing intangible personal property," Assessor Clark explained. "The immediate consequence of this is a marked drop in the amount of penalty assessments.

"There are 250,033 persons, corporations, estates, and unincorporated businesses assessed this year. This compares to 276,299 individual assessments in 1937. The number of returns filed amounts to about 50 per cent of the total number assessed. In former years the number of persons who filed returns was only 20 per cent of the number of taxpayers on the tax rolls."

The total 1938 assessment of personal property in Cook county is $612,135,427. This compares to the original assessment in 1937 of $780,496,924. The board of appeals, however, lowered the 1937 figure to $639,467,199. This is still $27,331,772 higher than the 1938 assessment.

Comparison Is Given.

	1937.	1938.
Corporations	$455,275,932	$446,813,513
Penalty	51,293,657	29,828,812
Total	$536,569,589	$476,642,025
Unincorporated business	$ 29,932,836	$ 23,970,665
Penalty	9,557,783	8,401,672
Total	$ 39,490,619	$ 32,372,337
Individuals	$118,900,228	$ 58,069,485
Penalty	27,217,736	15,412,015
Total	$146,117,964	$ 73,481,500
Estates	$ 52,563,331	$ 26,106,598
Penalty	5,877,977	3,645,170
Total	$ 58,441,308	$ 29,751,768

Assessor Clark said he believed the 1938 assessment would undergo little revision because of the new liberal rules for valuation of intangibles.

HAMPSHIRE FOLK WALKING TRACKS TO SALVAGE MAIL

Seventy-five residents of the village of Hampshire in Kane county went walking on the railroad tracks yesterday. They were looking for their mail because, three times in the last week, sacks tossed from speeding trains had ripped open and spread their contents to the winds.

The searchers reported finding many shredded letters. Two small boys picked up a set of photographs and negatives identified as belonging to the Rev. Werner Schmidtke, pastor of the Hampshire Lutheran church. He had sent the films to be developed.

Village President Herman Bahe and J. Lisle Laufer, township supervisor, said that the loss of mail no longer was a joking matter, and that many Hampshire folk were inconvenienced by the loss of checks as well as personal letters. They have appealed to the postoffice department and the Milwaukee railroad. The mail sacks are tossed off as the trains speed through and apparently are drawn under the wheels by suction.

10 Police Commanders to Take N. U. Trafic Course

A course in the administrative problems of police trafic divisions will begin today at the Northwestern university trafic institute. It will last two weeks. Commanding officers of ten municipal police departments are enrolled as students. Among the subjects will be public speaking, trafic engineering, and scientific intoxication tests for motorists. Lieut. Franklin M. Kreml is director of the school.

The twenty-seventh annual chrysanthemum show of the Chicago Park district will open Thursday in the Lincoln and Garfield park conservatories. August Koch, chief park horticulturist, said that 15,000 plants with 400,000 blossoms, some of them twenty-one inches in diameter, will be on display. He said the displays will contain 775 varieties of the flowers, 100 of which were developed in the park district greenhouses. The others were imported.

PWA ENGINEER, 40, FACES CHARGE OF MOLESTING GIRL, 8

Eness Snyder, a traveling engineer for the Public Works administration, was held at the Hudson avenue station for investigation yesterday after his arrest on the complaint he had attempted to molest a girl, 8 years old. Snyder, who is 40 years old, said his home is in Washington, D. C. He has been stopping in a north side hotel.

Snyder was arrested in the Lane Court theater, Lane court and Armitage avenue. He denied the girl's charges. He was taken to the showup at the detective bureau yesterday. He told police he is on probation on a charge of annoying another young girl a month ago.

5,000 DEDICATE NEW GARIBALDI STATUE PIAZZA

The new piazza surrounding the statue of Giuseppe Garibaldi, Italian soldier and liberator, in Lincoln park was dedicated yesterday afternoon. More than 5,000 persons attended the ceremonies, which were arranged by the Legione Giuseppe Garibaldi and other Italian societies. Before the ceremonies a parade was held from Clark street and North avenue to the statue at Stockton drive, opposite Eugenie street. Master in Chancery John A. Sbarbaro spoke.

ROOSEVELT GETS SECRET REPORT ON WPA AFFAIRS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Harry Hopkins, administrator of the Works Progress Adminstration, reported to President Roosevelt today after a trip over the country in which he conferred with WPA officials in a score of states.

The contents of Hopkins' report remained a secret. He and Mr. Roosevelt both are known to have been alarmed by the revelations of coercion of WPA employés and the effect such disclosures may have upon voters not dependent on relief.

When he departed on his trip three weeks ago, Hopkins referred contemptuously to District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for governor of New York, as "Sir Galahad" and predicted the reëlection of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman by 600,000 votes. Now, however, Hopkins refused to comment upon the contest.

SEARCH PRESSED FOR SLAYER IN PARKING BATTLE

The police yesterday continued their search for Rubin Jersky, 25 years old, a neighborhood tough, for the slaying of Donald Warden. Warden was shot to death in front of his home at 1143 South Central Park avenue Thursday. The shooting climaxed a fight over a parking controversy.

Also being sought in connection with the murder is Rubin's brother, Irving, 22. The brothers fled from the Jersky home across the street at 1136 South Central Park avenue after the shooting. Both have police records.

Warden, who was 27, was a former prize fighter. He was married and the father of a boy 8 years old. A coroner's jury ordered Rubin Jersky held on a charge of murder.

Fire Destroys Church; 200 Sunday School Pupils Flee

Villisca, Ia., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Two hundred Sunday school pupils escaped unharmed today when fire destroyed the First Methodist church here with a loss estimated at $25,000. The fire, which broke out while the children were attending services, roared through the structure fanned by a strong wind. The Red Oak fire department was called to help stop the spread of fire to other buildings.

Four Sounds That Mean:

Stop, Look and...Live!

Two longs, one short, one long . . . is the whistled warning as an Illinois Central train nears a highway crossing. The whistle speaks in the name of public safety and merits unfailing response.

The same locomotive whistle speaks elsewhere in the voice of commerce. Its signals* start and stop trains, transmit instructions, communicate between trains.

Sometimes the whistle echoes far and wide over the prairies. Sometimes it can be barely distinguished in the roar of a mighty city.

But there are always ears alert to hear its message . . . and hearts and hands ready to translate that message into action in the day-and-night, all-weather job of providing America with the fastest, safest and most economical railroad transportation in the world.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM

Whistles frequently heard are: 2 shorts, acknowledgment of most signals; 3 shorts when standing, train will back; 1 long 3 shorts, flagman protect rear of train; 4 or 5 longs, depending on direction, flagman return.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE NEW TEMPO

By CALEB

MORE AND MORE, in current business calculations, a word of a dozen letters is making its appearance. The lexicographers define this word as "the state of becoming disused"—and a new importance is attached to it because of the new tempo at which the modern business world is functioning.

Interestingly enough, few products or articles in popular possession today fall into disuse because they are outworn. Already the new tempo is seeing to that. Grandfather bought an axe, a pair of boots, a suit, a set of harness, only when their predecessors were no longer fit for service. His grandson of 1938 shelves his hand razor for an electric shaver, overnight. He buys a new car while a hundred thousand miles are still in the old.

Granddaughter, not to be outdone, has the apartment "done over." Because its furnishings have worn out? Not at all. And her daughter must be re-outfitted this Spring, not because last year's garments are unwearable: they're simply no longer "the mode."

All these examples of the obsolescence which today figures so formidably in business are the outcome, not of use, but of improvement. Strikingly was this expressed in a Ford executive's statement that "Twenty per cent of the up-to-the-minute machines and processes which you saw in the Industrial Hall of the Ford exhibit at the Chicago Century of Progress were obsolete before the Fair was over."

All of which has its merchandising significance. Style sets the new tempo for goods-making . . . improvement follows the pace of style . . . purchases become no longer wear replacements but mode responses.

Correspondingly, store management stays constantly "on its toes," lest it be caught with outmoded and unsalable merchandise. Obsolescence takes on a perilous character it never had in the Grandfather Days. . . .

The situation, however, is a stimulus, sourced in the sound instinct of Americans to be satisfied only with "something better." As obsolescence presents a new hazard, so this prod to progress becomes a new opportunity, which Field's in its own capacity welcomes. So long as the old we discard is supplanted by improvement, there is no reason either to decry the new tempo, or fear for its consequences.

HITLER ACCUSES DEMOCRACIES OF BREEDING WARS

Warns Germans to Be on Their Guard.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WEIMAR, Germany, Nov. 6.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today defined the status which Germany insists must be fulfilled before she can consider the question of disarmament. In a speech at Weimar he declared that "when the rest of the world speaks of the reduction of armaments we are ready for it, but under one condition: there must first be a reduction of war agitation."

"So long as there is talk of disarmament, though war agitation is permitted, we assume they wish to steal our weapons in order to prepare for us the fate we suffered in 1918," Hitler said. "That happens once, but never again."

Attacks Democracies.

The Fuehrer spoke before a great Nazi demonstration in the Thuringian stadium. Part of his speech was devoted to slashing the democratic system of government and certain foreign politicians whom he described as "war agitators."

"A certain custom has developed in the world," Hitler said. "There are so-called authoritarian, disciplined states and democratic states. In the former it is a matter of course that other countries are not blackguarded and slandered and that there is no war agitation. That may happen in the democratic states just because they are democratic. It is the duty of democratic governments to maintain freedom even for agitation for war."

Citing the wish for Germany's and Italy's destruction, which Hitler said was expressed by Arthur Greenwood, Laborite, in the British parliament, he exclaimed:

"Naturally I cannot prevent it if this man may, under the democratic system, come to govern in two years. But I can guarantee this: I shall prevent him from destroying Germany."

Be on Guard, Germans Warned.

Warning the German people they must always be on their guard, he repeated that "it is all very fine to talk about international peace and disarmament, but I am distrustful as to disarmament of weapons so long as there is no disarmament of the mind."

"Let others not approach us," he warned. "We only want peace and the same rights other nations claim for themselves."

Hitler said that when other nations dared to suggest that Germany had not respected her treaties there was only one answer: "The greatest breach of treaty of all times was exercised against Germany when everything that was promised to Germany in Woodrow Wilson's fourteen points—which caused us to lay down our arms—was afterwards broken."

Hungary Regains Land Lost in War

(Story in adjoining column.)

Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, yesterday took formal possession of his nation's share of Czechoslovakia by crossing the Danube bridge at Komarom at the head of a column of troops. Arrows show where occupation forces are advancing in the newly won territory.

MISSING INDIANA CO-ED DISCOVERED IN PILE OF ROCKS

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Miss Mary E. Mellington, 21 years old, a junior at the University of Indiana, missing since early yesterday, was found late tonight lying in a pile of rocks near a stone quarry, southwest of here.

Unable to talk coherently, Miss Mellington was taken to a Bloomington hospital. Because of her hysterical condition authorities could not learn who or what was responsible for her plight.

Shortly after noon today a farmer reported that he had seen a girl lying face down in a cornfield. Deputy sheriffs who investigated failed to find her, but they discovered a powderpuff, handkerchief, and some clothing floating on the water in the nearby quarry. The search was intensified and Miss Mellington was found shortly before midnight.

Miss Mellington, who was identified by a college mate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mellinger of Indianapolis.

WIFE AND CHILD VANISH TO CLIMAX TED'S BAD LUCK

If you think you have troubles, read about Ted Rice, 32 years old, of 731 North Clark street.

On Oct. 16 he fell from the third floor stairs of a building at 62 West Erie street and broke his leg. His injuries cost him his job as a truck driver.

Then last Friday his wife, Gertrude, and their daughter, June, 5, left for a neighborhood movie and never returned. In visiting relatives to learn of their whereabouts he fell again, further injuring his leg.

Yesterday he hobbled into the Chicago avenue police station to ask help to find his wife and daughter.

POLICEMAN'S DOG HERO IN CAPTURE OF TWO THIEVES

Detective Joseph Libretti of the Central station captured two burglars in the act of looting a store last night, but he gives most of the credit to his big dog, Duke.

The policeman lives at 5308 Wentworth avenue. He was awakened last night by the growling of the dog. Libretti dressed, took his gun, and went outside. He saw two men at the rear of Frank Fishman's tailor shop next door at 5306 Wentworth avenue.

After watching them load ten suits and other clothing in their car Detective Libretti grabbed the two men. They identified themselves as Anthony Phillips, 19 years old, of 911 Vernon Park place, who is now on probation on a larceny charge, and John Constanzo, 20, of 923 Vernon Park place, who was given probation in 1936 on a burglary charge.

Detective Libretti, in giving credit to Duke for the arrest, said the dog was smart enough to growl and not to bark or he might have scared the burglars away.

GIRL CASHIER ROBBED.

Marie O'Neil, 1440 West 70th street, cashier in the Lynn theater, 1044 West 63d street, was robbed of $5 by an armed robber last night.

HORTHY ON WHITE HORSE RIDES AS HUNGARIAN HERO

Riding a white horse through a cold drizzle, he crossed the Danube by bridge into Komarom at the head of infantry, artillery, and cavalry regiments and tank units.

Today was the second day in the progressive occupation of 4,875 square miles of former Hungarian territory which went to Czechoslovakia at the end of the world war and now goes back to Hungary by a decision of German and Italian arbitrators.

Occupation of the zone, which amounts to one-fifth of the land Czechoslovakia acquired from Hungary twenty years ago, is to be completed by Thursday.

Girls Sing in the Rain.

Rain pattered on steel helmets of the troops and drenched the dresses of hundreds of girls in colorful peasant costumes who went to the bridgehead to watch the regent perform his historic mission.

But there was no dampening of the enthusiasm of Hungarians on both sides of the old border as they shouted and sang through the rain that they were witnessing Hungary's resurrection. Horthy was hailed as a liberator and there even were some enthusiasts who were hailing him as king.

There was another touch of ceremony at Esztergom to the east, where Archduke Josef of the Hapsburgs, a world war army commander, reviewed the regiment which bears his name.

Move Ahead on Two Fronts.

Occupation forces meanwhile were moving forward along two extensive fronts.

The line of occupation across the old frontier from northwest Hungary extended from Duna Szerdahely through Ipolysag, thirty miles northwest and forty-five miles northeast, respectively, in direct lines from Komarom.

In the east the troops penetrated a few miles between Satoralja Ujhely to Beregszasz. The latter town is in Ruthenia, easternmost province of Czechoslovakia.

Suppose

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT HAD TO WAIT FOR A REFERENDUM TO START FIGHTING A FIRE

When "fire" broke out in Illinois State Banks in 1933 the Legislature was handcuffed

ASTONISHING but true! The State Legislature can take no corrective action regardless of the need for speed, and no matter how many sound banks are wrecked as they were after the 1929 crash. The State Constitution prohibits the Legislature from changing any detail of our banking laws without a referendum at the next regular election—a provision which is a relic of 1870.

Vote YES on Constitutional Amendment

Repeal the cumbersome, wasteful referendum requirement which handcuffs the People's representatives and prevents legislation to meet emergencies.

Give our General Assembly authority to bring Illinois Banking Laws in line with those of the Nation and of other States.

Our present Constitution ties Illinois to the dead past. Banking provisions written 68 years ago prevent giving Illinois a stronger State Banking System.

Repeal double liability on State Bank stock and remove hindrance to strengthening capital of our State Banks.

The Congress has repealed double liability as to National Banks and 39 States no longer have double liability as to their State Banks.

Double liability does not protect depositors. Deposit insurance really protects. More than 98% of all depositors' accounts are now 100% insured. Extend deposit insurance in Illinois.

NEWEST SAFETY DEVICES TO GUARD SUBWAY PATRONS

Ban Wood Coaches; Ban Emergency Exits.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Chicago's subways will be equipped with all modern devices for safe rapid transit operation, Philip Harrington, city subway commissioner, said yesterday. Chicago, he said, will benefit by the experiences of New York, Boston, and Philadelphia in building and equipping its tunnels.

The first safety rule, Harrington asserted, is that no wooden cars will be allowed in the subways. Only all metal vehicles will be used. This will require a big replacement of rapid transit equipment in Chicago as the 455 steel cars owned by the elevated railways will not be sufficient for the subway lines. The Shaw plan for unifying and modernizing all transit systems proposes the purchase of 1,000 new rapid transit cars.

Plan Safety Devices.

Equally important will be a system to prevent collisions. Safety equipment to prevent collisions is used in Boston and Philadelphia and on most of the New York lines.

Automatic train control, as it is called, is used in connection with block signals. When a train is in a block between two signal lights another train cannot enter the same section.

When a train enters a block the light at the beginning of the section will turn red. If the motorman of a following train does not stop for the red light his train will be brought to an abrupt and automatic halt.

As the block signal turns red a small lever, or arm, shoots up alongside the track. When this trip is upright it comes into contact with mechanisms on the cars which apply the air brakes and shut off the power.

Emergency walks will be constructed along the entire length of the subways between stations so that passengers can walk out in case of accident or other stoppage of service. It is planned to have at least one emergency exit to the street between stations, Harrington said. Where stations are far apart there will be two or more.

The subways will be equipped with emergency ventilation apparatus, which, in case of fire, will drive out smoke.

Modern subway cars have many features for the protection of riders. A bell warns that the doors are about to be closed. Automatic multiple door controls permit a conductor or trainman to close several doors by moving a switch.

If a passenger is caught by a partly closed door it will slide open again. Another feature prevents the train from moving before all of the doors are closed. While any door remains open, the power is cut off and the motorman cannot start.

Nov. 10 Is Deadline.

City subway engineers, Harrington said, are rushing plans and specifications for the first section of the State street subway. He said there will be no hitch in completing an outline of the plans and a construction schedule by the Nov. 10 deadline.

This date is fixed as the time limit for submitting general plans to the Public Works administration. It was one of the many conditions imposed when an 18 million dollar grant for the 40 million dollar project was approved by the PWA.

SOLDIERS' FIELD NOW A BOWL; NEW UNIT SEATS 6,000

Work on the new bank of 6,000 seats at the north end of Soldiers' field, transforming it into an oval bowl, is practically complete. Ralph Burke, chief engineer for the Park district, made a progress report on the project yesterday.

The steel framework for the new administration building behind the added seats is complete, and concrete work is finished on three of the four floors of this structure. The stone and brick sheathing will be finished by the end of the year.

Meanwhile, waterproofing of concrete and other restoration work is going ahead on the old portion of the stadium. The entire project, costing $1,660,000, will be completed next Aug. 1.

AUTO CLUB KEEPS EYE ON DIXMOOR SPEED TRAP AREA

Mayor Charles Special of Dixmoor and four others convicted with him of operating a speed trap will not be permitted to finance their fight to escape jail by taxing passing motorists.

This statement was made yesterday by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. The motor club was back of the prosecution which resulted in the conviction of Special, Justice of the Peace Charles A. Braun, and Policemen Robert Grecco, Charles Paduano and Tony Bater by a Criminal court jury last Friday. The maximum penalty is one year in jail and a fine of $2,000 for each of the five.

Observers were sent to Dixmoor yesterday to see if motorists were bothered in passing through the village, which is on the Dixie highway about six miles south of Chicago's city limits. They found no activity in the suburb.

Justice Braun and the three policemen were being held in the county jail.

POLICE TO GUARD COLONEL BATISTA ON VISIT TO U. S.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Stringent precautions were completed today to safeguard Col. Fulgencio Batista, chief of the Cuban army, when he arrives here Wednesday en route to Washington. Many prominent political exiles from the island make their homes here, but the authorities said they expected no trouble.

During the week-end the Cuban ambassador, Pedro Martinez Fraga, and a party scrutinized the arrangements here. Police Inspector W. J. McCarthy has selected fifteen picked men to guard Col. Batista at the airport, which will be closed to the public when his chartered plane arrives Wednesday morning.

The Cuban leader is making his first excursion from the island nominally to attend Armistice day ceremonies at the capital at the invitation of Gen. Malin Craig, United States army chief of staf. He will be received by President Roosevelt at the White House.

THE GUN-TOTER OF ROSY RIDGE

●People in Missouri talked about Tipton Tadlock in hushed voices. He had killed five men before he was seventeen. He'd lived hard, and trouble always traveled behind him. Now, after years of wandering and mystery, he returns to his home town, runs headlong into love—and two men who seek his life.

How can the U. S. LIMIT WORK LIMIT PRODUCTION LIMIT MACHINE POWER and yet give us all "The More Abundant Life"?

Congressmen launch hysterical attacks on machines. Governors accuse machines of throwing men out of work. A bill in Washington actually proposes to refuse patents on labor-saving machines. Will such thinking lead to profit—or trouble? Garet Garrett calmly examines the charges against machines, and shows why the attacks may be dangerous, should they become popular.

BEWARE THE OLD FOLKS' VOTE!

▶ "Let's go after the young people's vote!" say politicians. Or the labor vote. Or the liberal vote. But are they guessing right? Professor Dickinson points out that soon one-fourth of all American voters will be old enough to draw pensions; one-half will be past fifty. Here's the picture of a coming shift in voting power. It reveals why shrewd demagogues have started the climb onto the pension bandwagon. See page 29.

1939 ARRIVES IN MOTORDOM

THIS WEEK sees the opening of the Automobile Show in New York, and the beginning of a new year in motordom—which is a very important part of America.

There is a stir and excitement in each year's array of new cars that makes the Automobile Show always an event. This year it is more than that; it is an opportunity.

Your purchase of a new car is a real contribution to the welfare of America at this time. And those are not just words.

"When you buy your new car, you speed the wheels of business for everyone, including you!" Under this headline, in this week's issue, The Saturday Evening Post gives you the facts.

The story, illustrated in color, shows how necessary we Americans are to one another. Also, in this week's Post, there is a high note of confidence and reassurance in the volume of new automobile announcements, reflecting all the color and atmosphere of the Show itself.

MR. BROWDER IN CHICAGO.

Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and Scott W. Lucas, Democratic candidate for the United States senate, say they had nothing to do with the appearance of Earl Browder, general secretary of the American communist party, in Chicago. That is to be believed. Mr. Kelly and Mr. Lucas are no more communists than Mr. Horner is a Nazi. These gentlemen also might say with truth that they had nothing to do with the revolutionary tendencies of the party with which they are still affiliated and never encouraged them. The encouragement has been in Washington.

Mr. Browder is not a Democrat. He is, however, a New Dealer. No other of Mr. Roosevelt's worthies is more strongly in favor of the New Deal than Mr. Browder is. He is for the New Deal because it does better spade work for revolution than he could do. It has prepared the ground for his communists and it has welcomed their coöperation. It is reasonable to suppose that the New Deal politburo sent Mr. Browder to visit Chicago, support the New Deal both in foreign and domestic policies, and do what he could to promote the political success of the Democratic candidates as a prelude to taking control of the party away from them.

Mr. Browder is interested in the international situation as an agent of Stalin. His party is subsidized from Moscow and his expenses and the cost of the meeting were, in part at least, met by the Moscow fund. Mr. Browder as an agent of Stalin hopes to destroy the neutrality of the United States and bring it to an understanding, if not an alliance, with soviet Russia against Japan, Germany, and Italy, the three Fascist powers which are hemming communist Russia in. Mr. Browder came as a Stalin agent for the New Deal and for the Russian alliance.

JUST BEFORE ELECTION.

The Detroit Free Press remarks that the public must have noticed, with great relief, that during the present election campaign Michigan has been free of sitdown strikes and other forms of industrial sabotage. This may be a happy coincidence, but we share the Free Press' view that word has gone down the line for every one to be on his best behavior until the votes are counted.

The vicious disturbances which for months persecuted industry and labor in Michigan were fomented and led by the agitators in the labor movement with which the administrations in Michigan and in Washington are allied, the Red radicals of the C. I. O. and the communist party. Discipline is their strong point and if the order has gone out for a truce it will be obeyed. There is nothing clearer in the evolution of this phase of the labor movement than its object, which is revolution through violence. It is not interested in peaceful adjustments in the American order but in the breeding of class war and the destruction of American prosperity for the sake of an alleged better system. The peace decreed during the political campaign should deceive no one. If wage earners want higher wages and better conditions they cannot find them in the wreckage of industry and they will not keep in political control politicians who ally themselves with wreckers. The quiet in Michigan's industry at this time should not be mistaken.

NARROW AND SHALLOW.

Mr. Frank Lloyd Wright is reported to have informed the youth gathered to hear him at William and Mary college that the restoration of Williamsburg "shows how narrow, how shallow life was in colonial days." If the speaker intended to give his class a demonstration of narrow and shallow thinking he chose his remarks well. It is a pity he was given the opportunity at a college. There are too many young people who have been encouraged by the narrow and shallow thinking of malcontent elders to blame their forbears for everything in life that doesn't please them.

Mr. Wright says he has "long ceased to take off his hat to our forefathers, seeing what a mess they left us." We can't deny they or some of them left us Mr. Wright, but we are not cruel enough to blame them for Mr. Wright's opinions. We don't think those opinions important except as illustrating the propensity of the immature to shirk responsibility. There is nothing narrower or shallower than the implication of Mr. Wright's contempt for "our forefathers"—namely: that they were in duty bound to hand over to us a perfect world and foolproof institutions.

There are plenty of signs of a deteriorated morale among our people under the influence of recent years and none is less creditable than the prevalence of the squawk. The mess which Mr. Wright dislikes has been made not by our forefathers but by the bogus prophets of today who hold them in contempt and depart from their wiser ways. The "narrow and shallow life of the colonial days" produced Washington, Franklin, Hamilton, Jefferson, and the statesmen who sent forth the declaration and drew the constitution, all sprung from the "narrow and shallow" life of the colonies; likewise a stock whose character and achievements our generation would be the better for remembering and respecting. The eighteenth century was far from narrow or superficial except to narrow and superficial thinking, and as for Mr. Wright's reactions to its taste we may leave that to Mr. Wright. Williamsburg will not be torn down because he does not approve it.

THE OPEN DOOR IN CHINA.

The open door policy was a conception of the British foreign office. When in the latter 1890s Russia, Japan, Germany, and France were scrambling for leaseholds in China the British statesmen were in a state of perplexity. Balance of power diplomacy was unavailable. What to do? Should they get their share in a general partition of China, oppose it, or stand by and let the others do as they pleased? A fourth alternative was to get a general recognition of the rights of British traders.

The latter policy was decided upon. To be effective an ally or two would come in handy. And so in March, 1898, the British asked John Hay, our ambassador, to sound out his government on a coöperative move to oppose action by foreign powers tending to "restrict freedom of commerce of all nations in China either by imposing preferential conditions or by obtaining actual cession of Chinese territory."

President McKinley said no. In the fall of 1898 Hay became secretary of state and he was able to obtain the President's consent to the issuance of a circular letter on July 3, 1900, adopting as American doctrin the British proposal of two years before. We were doing alone what we had refused to do earlier in collaboration with Great Britain. In the letter sent by Secretary Hay to eleven nations this statement was made: "The policy of the government of the United States is to seek a solution which may bring about permanent safety and peace to China, preserve Chinese territorial and administrative entity, and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese empire."

So far as the open door policy made us a protector of the territorial integrity of China it was one of the major mistakes of American foreign policy. But something could be said for it then that cannot be said now. At the time it was promulgated it was consistent with the grandiose ideas of a world empire which were reflected in our purchase of the Philippines. With the abandonment of the empire nonsense and the adoption of a policy of cutting loose from the Philippines we ought to be pulling in our horns about China.

Not only have we changed since the open door doctrin was enunciated thirty-eight years ago, but also international relationships have greatly changed and one power now has arisen to dominate the orient where formerly five were potent. The indignation that Americans feel at Japanese aggression in China is no doubt strong and sincere. But even a people as sentimental as ours wouldn't sanction a war to undo this obvious wrong in another part of the world.

A strong position was taken in the note to the Japanese a month ago reasserting the open door. We did that, it is said, on account of our trade interests. But where would we lose most, by a restriction on our trade with China or by giving offense to the Japanese?

Figures indicate that prior to the outbreak of hostilities in the undeclared war our trade with Japan was very large and growing and that with China was very small and dwindling. As a purchasing market Japan is more than five times as important to us as China. Our business investments in China are only about one-sixth of that of the Japanese or the British.

The recent reaffirmation of the open door policy was a blunder from the standpoint of our trade interests. It gave offense to one of our best customers and will do no good to China. While the door to China was held open more British commerce than American passed through it. It would be of interest to know whether the reassertion of the open door was prompted by London.

THE INSIDERS IN CONGRESS STREET.

Mr. Ickes, in handing out his subway charity to Chicago's pilgrims who had been on his doorstep for a year or more, made himself the dictator not only of that job, to which he gave 18 millions [the people's money], but of various other city projects. One was Congress street. Mr. Ickes said he would have to see Congress street widened or he would take back the subway money.

People might ask why Mr. Ickes should be so set on Congress street. What has it to do with the subway? The answer is that it tickles Mr. Ickes in several spots. It enables him to do something arbitrary. It stretches his hatband and makes him feel that his belt is tighter. That's one thing, but there are others. The widening of Congress street will give an opportunity for the best liked New Deal maneuver. It will combine the pretense of public good with the certainty of private profit.

Chicago people do not know now who the Congress street insiders will be, but they will be there. A million and a half automobile owners will pay for the widening and not more than 1,500 real estate owners will get in on the divvy. Most of the berries will probably be picked by a half dozen insiders who will know precisely what they are doing from the start.

The pretense—no good New Deal maneuver is without its pretense—will be the promotion of public safety and the betterment of blighted regions. Widening such a street serves neither purpose. Old buildings are not replaced by new. The district remains as it was. The people in the district have gained no advantage. There is no reason for a rehabilitation. Consequently none follows. No pedestrian rejoices because he has a wider street to cross in a congested area through which trafic has been invited to go faster. No safety and no improvements are built in such a road. Private profit is and the insiders get it.

THE SIPHON AT WORK.

[New Haven, Conn., Register.]

The social security board has announced that since Jan. 1, 1937, it has certified more than 216,000 old age pension claims. Their amount has been placed in excess of $8,539,000.

But in the fiscal year 1938, ended last June, the actual collection of social security taxes exceeded $604,000,000. There was transferred to the old age reserve account $387,000,000. In the fiscal year 1939, through Oct. 20, there was collected in social security taxes $148,120,000. There was transferred to the old age reserve account $141,000,000.

The actual collections for less than four months of the current year thus total more than $130,000,000 in excess of the value of the benefits returned. The remainder, inasmuch as it is disbursed as general expenditure as rapidly as it is collected and is replaced, in the reserve account, by government I. O. U.'s to itself, represents a forced loan by the people for the financing, in part, of the accumulating federal deficits. It represents the siphoning off of that much individual purchasing power from the normal channels of trade which turns over goods and produces jobs.

ROSENWALD'S BIOGRAPHY.

Julius Rosenwald will be the subject of M. R. Werner's next work of biography, which will run the writer's list of titles up to five. The predecessors were "Barnum," "Brigham Young," "Tammany Hall," and "Bryan." Werner has completed the book from archives assembled by the late merchant-philanthropist's family and business associates; and is now in Chicago gathering character sidelights by the interviewing method. His new material, he says, will compel him to do almost as much rewriting as Carlyle did on his "French Revolution" after the first draft had been destroyed.

Although he gave away about 60 millions of dollars, Mr. Rosenwald had a prejudice against tipping. A Pullman car porter who expected a handsome largesse from the mail order magnate, after a journey to New York, remarked sadly to another colored man named George at the end of the run:

"Well, it jest seems as if Mistah Rosenwald is moh interested in owah race collectively than individually."

NOT FOR JOY, O CITY.

I never loved you, city! Do not say
I walked your sunlit labyrinthine street
For joy. It was a hatred that my feet
Beat loud upon your stones each endless day.
And not for joy I learned my tortuous way
Between your smokey cliffs, to creep from heat
That clogs in pools your canyons, to be fleet
Before your torrent rains that strike and stay.
No joy to crawl as insect with the horde
That spews along your tunnels and makes night
A flickering day with phosphorescence stored
To waver radiant as a firefly light.
My life within your caverns is caught and hid:
I never loved you, city . . . yet I did.

I loved a country where the pine trees stood
Up tall in a cathedral hush to raise
Cone candelabra green with tufted blaze
Of gleaming needles to light the shadowed wood.
Loved a stream which sang in solemn mood
Deep-throated answers to the wind's full phrase
At dusk antiphonal, or joined the maze
Of bird choirs in the morning solitude.
Loved the trilliums, frost-white, star-bright glowing,
Loved the moss bells and the fern fronds lifted,
Webs of spiders dew-struck, fog that sifted
Between the hills.

These I left and going
Dreamed no backward yearning; though for you
I bear no love, O city . . . yet I do.

A Tryst with a Tree.

Thoreau says he often took long and arduous tramps to keep a tryst with a tree. Come 'cross lots to save time, through the corn fields with out-at-elbows shocks. In our somewhat old fashioned village, you may see the Tree; it stands out among its fellows of dull gold, burnt sienna and gray-green in a joyful coat of scarlet and gold through which the windows and delicate spire of the little New England church show aspiringly. It waits, this tree, until the gorgeous pageant of October is well past and then stands forth alone in the rich, barbaric splendor of a great sachem, the last of his tribe, with princely dignity wrapping his blanket around him, waiting the tocsin of the north, leaving us with a sense of worship and a nostalgia for something long gone from our prairies and forests. S'Amuser.

ADVICE, PROBABLY UNWANTED.

will quite diminish all your tears.

METHODIC MADNESS.

My darling is the restless kind,
And though he thinks me quite a find,
I must resort to strategy
To keep him coming back to me:
When he's been too much dance-and-dining,
I start myself to do some wining
Out where his unsuspecting eyes
Can view my entrance with surprise;
Then pangs of doubt and even shame
Begin to shake his well-built frame.

It is a quite successful plan,
By means of which my darling can Remain aware of my great worth
Above all other girls on earth.
But yet it's not all mint and heather:
We've no time left to be together.

BLANCHING FINGERS—RAYNAUD'S DISEASE.

I REMEMBER very well the first case of Raynaud's disease that came to my attention. The patient was a strapping farmer, aged 35, who weighed over 200 pounds—all muscle, bone, and sinew. He complained that every now and then a few of the fingers on each hand would turn paper white suddenly. On inspecting the parts it was possible to note a difference in temperature between the blanched fingers and those that were normal. He related that for some time prior to this bloodless appearance his hands would become quite hot and feel "full;" as though swollen. At first the colorlessness would last only a few minutes, but with the advent of cold weather the duration lengthened to several hours.

A careful examination disclosed no physical abnormality. Heart and circulation seemed to be in good order and the blood pressure was not elevated. I could not tell him the cause, and even today there is no general agreement as to just what inaugurates this peculiar phenomenon. We recognize, however, a spasm [constriction] of the arteries to the extremities which is something like swimmer's cramp and which will pass away—after a while. I tried vainly to associate his situation with bed cramps which elderly persons experience, especially in the feet or the legs, with an intense drawing of the muscles and severe pain.

As a rule, the episode is brought on by cold or by emotional upsets, and usually affects the fingers of both hands alike. There is no decrease in the pulsation of the arteries to the extremities and no evidence that the blood vessels are plugged, thus leading to gangrene—that is, in the early cases.

I kept track of my farmer friend for several years. While his condition did not recover permanently, nevertheless, with the application of heat and massage, it did not become worse, and temporary improvement was afforded from the seizures.

The history of the ailment is that in mild form, with no appreciable increase in symptoms, the outlook is quite favorable. If the disorder takes on a more serious phase, however, it may lead, after a time, to chronic congestion, which is never entirely relieved. In other words, the color of the skin will not return to normal, but will gradually become dusky. Furthermore, tiny ulcerated points may be manifest, even without the occurrence of extensive gangrene.

While the origin is obscure, as far as can be determined a trigger is pulled in the sympathetic nervous system which controls the caliber of the blood vessels leading to the hands and other affected regions. Emotional conflicts can do this. Protection against chilling is a useful precaution—the patient wearing warm gloves or mittens. Furthermore, the consumption of tobacco should be reduced. Then the use of hot baths, massage, and sedative drugs to allay excitement has been helpful.

Surgery has been invoked now and then and the sympathetic nerve supply is cut if dangerous signs—such as gangrene—come on.

A recent case reported by Hildebrand is that of a woman of 26—a victim of Raynaud's disease for more than a year. Sensations of coldness, accompanied by color changes, were exhibited following excitement or exposure to inclement weather. In her own mind, she associated the malady with an earlier attack of arthritis, for which her tonsils had been removed. Apparently the incidents were encountered more frequently following the bout with the joint affliction. A visit to her physician was occasioned by a sudden swelling of the face, accompanied by redness, itching and blanching of the skin of the hands. Warmth proved beneficial. Although heat eased the immediate spasms, it has not influenced the progress of the trouble in the slightest degree.

While the fingers have been mentioned particularly, it should be recalled that with some individuals the nose, ears, lips, and even the buttocks may be involved. Many will experience numbness and a fair amount of pain: others, itching and loss of feeling, but no distress.

While there seems to be no specific cure, we are reminded of the necessity of avoiding emotional shocks, mental tension, and annoying or disturbing encounters. In the case of my young farmer, the paroxysms were provoked by excitement.

DEGENERATED NERVE.

F. M. writes: A physician told me I have a degenerated nerve in the left ear.

1. Exactly what did he mean?
2. Will I ever be able to hear in this ear?
3. Is this condition passed on to one's offspring?

REPLY.

1. Some loss of function of the nerve of hearing—the eighth or auditory nerve.
2. Nerve damage is rarely amenable to repair.
3. While nerve deafness can be inherited it is not the rule. Unless this same tendency occurs in several members of the family it may be disregarded.

SEVERAL POSSIBLE CAUSES.

K. writes: What causes a dry, hoarse throat after exercise?

REPLY.

A sense of dryness accompanied by hoarseness may follow overuse of the voice, a strain on the vocal cords, or the inhalation of dust or smoke.

ICKES AND THE TWO ROOSEVELTS.

Palos Park, Ill., Nov. 3.—As an old Progressive of the Theodore Roosevelt variety and acquainted with such "valiant for truth" zealots as Harold Ickes, whose present derisive sobriquet "honest" was not inapplicable then, I sometimes wonder if his sanctification of the unethical and devious political practice of his present boss does not cause him some twinges of conscience. He cannot have forgotten how Theodore Roosevelt refused to attend a banquet in Chicago unless an invitation to a member of his party in bad odor [Lorimer] was withdrawn. Perhaps Theodore stopped at Mr. Ickes' home on that occasion.

But now Nash-Kelly, Pendergast, Hague, Hines, O'Connell, and Guffey outpale the former "blond" boss. When he sees "Jimmy getting it," as well as the other Roosevelt minions, he cannot but reflect on how with Spartanlike probity the elder Roosevelt would have let out a ram's horn burst of moral indignation if any member of his family had attempted to capitalize his incumbency of the presidency. But other times, other morals. Evan L. Reed.

RESTAURANT PRICES.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Some years ago you exposed the all-hogs in the restaurant business of that time who were charging exorbitant prices without any real excuse. For instance, 20 cents for a half of grapefruit. They are doing the same stunt today. Every time an article goes up a cent they raise their price 5 cents to their customers.

Only this morning I was shocked when I was told the price of a baked apple was 15 cents. Of course, I didn't buy any, because I am an old man and out of work and no income. Another time I was stung on "barbecue chicken sandwich," 35 cents. It was the backbone and nothing but bone. It is nothing but refined robbery. Oliver Olson.

BELATED DISCOVERIES.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Did it take Mr. Courtney six years to discover gambling in Chicago and Cook county? Or could it possibly be that there was no gambling prior to this year?

Did it take Mr. Jarecki sixteen years to discover vote frauds in this county, or was there no vote fraud until a year ago? Or was the competition getting a little too keen for the two Democratic factions?

Won't Mr. Arvey's boys deliver for Mr. Jarecki as they did for Mr. Arvey in the primary? Nile H. Shupe.

HOW ABOUT A NEW MANAGER?

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 5.—The general manager of the United States has increased the national debt by approximately 20 billion dollars, yet we still have with us the same number of unemployed, viz., 10 million.

Isn't it about time to secure a new manager? Twenty billion for 10 million averages $2,000 for each of the unemployed, but do any of them feel $2,000 better off than six years ago?

H. D. Kissenger.

HORNER'S BUSY PAY ROLLERS.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Today I received a personal letter from Gov. Horner dated from the Congress hotel and asking me to support the Democrats. It was on high class stationery that was mailed by pay rollers at the expense of all the taxpayers of the state.

As I work in the Burnham building I have seen these pay rollers for the last month addressing similar letters.

Ex Democrat.

BRINGING MR. FARLEY UP TO DATE.

Freeport, Ill., Nov. 3.—James Farley and his corps of New Deal speakers should revise their public addresses. They are still harping on conditions in 1932 when the whole civilized world was suffering from the worst depression in history. No intelligent person now blames that depression either on the [then] President, who happened to be a Republican, or on congress, which happened to be Democratic.

If we recall 1932, let us recall that in that year Mr. Roosevelt and his campaign manager, Mr. Farley, promised to balance the budget by reducing expenditures, to revive business, to raise farm prices, and to put the 10 million unemployed back to work. On all of that Mr. Farley is now discreetly silent. And if we must have a comparison, let it be with the year 1926—the year in which the Democratic ways and means committee stated that prices were "fair" and conditions "normal." Here are a few of the things such a comparison will show:

1926. Republican.	1938, New Deal.
National Debt.
20 billions	38 billions
Budget.
Balanced	1 billion deficit
National income.
85 billions	50 billions
Farm prices.
Corn, $1.20	48 cents
Wheat, $1.25	65 cents
Oats, 58 cents	25 cents
Cotton, 19 cents	9 cents
Unemployment.
2 millions	13 millions

This comparison shows the difference between a normal Republican year and the present New Deal year, and it also shows the difference between New Deal promise and New Deal performance.

W. T. Hewetson.

HER FOUR REASONS.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Why am I going to vote Republican:

1. Because I do not want my Americanism tainted with communism.
2. Because I do not want a man like Arvey to have the power to annul thousands of honest votes through his power to have ballots marked for people who forfeit their right to vote by having his henchmen mark their ballots, thus giving Arvey the authority to decide elections.
3. Because I want to see the sensational exposures which will follow the sweeping out of office of the present officials.
4. Because we all know a new broom is needed to sweep the accumulated dirt into the open where all may see it.

C. N. Sholler.

DESERVES A HERO MEDAL.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—I hope Patrick Pine receives a hero's medal for the timely rescue of 4 year old Louis Selden, who fell into a catch basin. No finer service in the world could be rendered to one's fellow man. Clay T. Held.

WHY NOT SPEED UP "L" TRAINS?

Cicero, Ill., Nov. 4.—Can't something be done to improve the service on the Douglas Park elevated line so that those who are entirely dependent on it and come from Cicero and Berwyn can reach the loop and their homes in a reasonable time?

For five years I've traveled from the Austin boulevard station in Cicero to the Howard street station on the north side "L" and back again, and I know what good service can be from my experience on the north side.

The Douglas Park trains can make better time, as evidenced by the Race Track specials during the horse racing season, but the steady, everyday customers do not get the consideration that is given to the short season race track followers. Must we of Cicero and Berwyn put up with this service?

Cicero.

SLIDES IN THE SUBWAY?

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Now that the subway for Chicago is a certainty, a suggestion bearing on an engineering difficulty may be pertinent. Property owners adjoining this bore for subway and approaches may find that where their building foundations are not carried down to solid rock, slides may occur in certain formations before concreting is done. That may cause a settlement or collapse unless certain precautions are taken. If foundation plans are studied it may be possible to say where such a danger exists. It won't do, should a collapse occur, to blame it on Roosevelt, Chamberlain or Hitler, although this may be the reason for not exposing it before this.

Edward Murray.

VOTE FOR INDUSTRY AND JOBS.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—To most of our people the promised "more abundant life" has as much reality as the "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow."

The man who has to take relief should vote for those who will get him off of relief by speeding up industry and making jobs, rather than for those who will keep him on relief.

The 1932 Democratic platform seems farther away than the "horse and buggy days." So don't let your present exigencies so warp your judgment that you vote to restrict the freedom of your children. Don't let any Democratic precinct captain laugh up his sleeve when you cast your ballot this election.

Margaret Hoffman.

WHY CLOSE THE SCHOOLS?

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Next Tuesday is election day and the public schools, I understand, will be closed for the day. The students are not permitted to vote and the teachers have ample time to vote before or after their school hours. Will some good citizen or parent offer me [a school teacher] convincing reasons for this closing? The same may be said for Oct. 12. A. O. H.

POPE TALKS WITH MUNDELEIN IN HIS PRIVATE LIBRARY

Cardinal Also Sees Papal Secretary of State.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 6. — (AP) — Cardinal George Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, reported today to Pope Pius XI. on the Eucharistic congress held last month at New Orleans. Later he walked among the cardinals behind the pontiff at the beatification of Blessed Maria Giuseppa Rossello in St. Peter's.

Cardinal Mundelein, who was papal legate at the New Orleans congress, spent 40 minutes with the pontiff in a private audience during the morning.

The pope received him alone in his private library and then saw the entire American mission, congratulating it on the congress and expressing his great satisfaction with its results.

In the pontifical antechamber, Cardinal Mundelein met Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, who just was emerging from his regular Sunday audience with the pope. The two cardinals chatted a while.

Pope Pius attended the beatification ceremony for Sister Rossello, founder of the order of the Daughters of Our Lady of Mercy, in the afternoon following a morning beatification service.

Her beatification preceded by one week the beatification of Mother Cabrini, founder of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart and for many years a worker among Italian immigrants in the United States.

Pope Imparts Blessing.

One of Cardinal Mundelein's missions in his pilgrimage here was to attend the ceremony next Sunday.

In the service this afternoon, the pope imparted the Eucharistic blessing at the conclusion of the beatification. He then was presented special offerings customary in beatification ceremonies.

They consisted of relics of the Blessed Maria in a reliquary, her portrait, and artificial flowers. These were borne ahead of him as he was carried from the church amid lanes of spectators crying "Viva il Papa!"

TWO MEN KILLED AS AUTOS CRASH; THIRD IS INJURED

Victims Are Employes of Wilmette Convent.

An automobile that ran out of gasoline figured yesterday in an accident that cost the lives of two men and resulted in serious injuries to a third. The accident occurred in La Grange road, one-half mile south of Higgins road, near Des Plaines.

Shortly before the accident the car of George E. Halgren, 6011 North Paulina street, ran out of gasoline. It was stalled on the outer lane of the four lane highway. Behind it, in the same lane, Arthur L. Ashcraft, 102 South State road, Arlington Heights, suddenly saw the stalled machine and swerved left to avoid it.

Two Machines Collide.

At that moment another car was about to pass Ashcraft. Instead it struck the rear left end of his machine, went out of control, and turned over.

Two of its occupants, Adam Amberg, 64 years old, and Wilfred Wehe, 18, were killed. Another, John Lueck, 41, is in a critical condition in the Northwestern hospital in Des Plaines. All three were employed at the Maria Immaculate convent of the Sisters of Christian Charity in Wilmette.

Killed by Automobile.

Charles Peterson, 60, was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile in front of 7225 Stony Island avenue. He lived at 1337 East 71st place.

Carroll B. Smith, 36, of Peoria, Ill., died yesterday in the Marie G. Digre Nursing home in Wilmette of injuries incurred in an automobile accident near Marshalltown, Ia., on Oct. 10. He was taken to the Wilmette hospital by his brother-in-law, Myron J. Aubineau, 509 Briar street, Kenilworth, a sales executive for the Quaker Oats company. Smith was a copy writer for the Caterpillar Tractor company in Peoria.

Thomas Tyson, 71, of 3811 Elm street, Indiana Harbor, was killed last night in an automobile accident at 138th and Main streets, Indiana Harbor. Police said Tyson walked into the side of a car driven by Harry Stalmanzek, 8159 Muskegon avenue.

Bernard Kroll, 60 years old, 1922 Maud avenue, was fatally injured by a hit and run car in front of 1735 Clybourn avenue last night. He died early today in Alexian Brothers hospital.

Dies of Injuries.

Joseph Sankus, 65, of 3408 Lowe avenue, died in St. Paul's hospital. He was injured Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile at Union avenue and 36th street.

Racine avenue police arrested Frank Jajko of 1215 Fry street as a hit and run driver. They said his car seriously injured John Kuczek, 27, in front of 747 North Racine avenue, Saturday. Kuczek, who was taken to the County hospital, lives at 725 Willard court.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 723 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 560 were killed in Chicago, where 17,002 were injured in the same period, within the city.

MUNICH CARDINAL MAKES PLEA FOR PERSONAL RIGHTS

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cardinal Michael Faulhaber, who frequently has clashed with Nazis in his defense of the rights of the church, made a strong plea today for recognition of individual rights. He said these rights were being denied by the Nazi régime.

He spoke in a sermon in the cathedral before a congregation of 5,000. At one point in his sermon his hearers whistled shrilly, but the cardinal took no notice.

"Many voices are heard nowadays that the individual counts for nothing compared with the community," the cardinal said, an apparent thrust at Nazi policy which holds the state is all important. Slogans such as "Serving the people is serving God," he declared, were tantamount to blasphemy.

"Your personal rights must be defended at all costs," the cardinal said. "First, the right to believe in God. Second, the right to attend divine worship. No community should have the power to deter individuals from expressing their religious faith. Third, the right to express convictions and follow one's own conscience."

CHICAGO'S INFANT MORTALITY RATE HITS RECORD LOW

Chicago's death rate for infants, in the first ten months of 1938, was 35 for each 1,000 births, the lowest in history for any similar period. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said infant mortality in 1916 was 122.4 per 1,000. Last year, when the rate was 37.7 per 1,000, was second only to 1938 in favorable statistics.

The city's death rate from all causes was 9.5 per 1,000 in the ten months. Last year it was 10.5 per 1,000. Nearly all the common diseases were less prevalent this year. Whooping cough, however, was worse.

Maria Kurenko Sings Superbly to Full House

A superb program by Maria Kurenko, Russian coloratura soprano now living in Chicago, brought a capacity audience to the Civic theater yesterday afternoon. The recital turned out to be one of those inspiriting events in which pleasant anticipation was turned into gratification of a superlative order.

Mme. Kurenko may justly be called one of the supreme song recitalists of the present. Her list of songs constituted a good deed in a naughty—or at least conventional—world. Beginning with classics by Lotti and Mozart, she continued in the first half of her program through a keenly selected variety of songs by Liszt, Beethoven, Hahn, Delibes, Schubert, and others, coming to her intermission after an exquisite performance of Manon's aria about her "premier voyage." The second half of the program was Russian, with a fine choice of songs and arias by Tschaikowsky, Gretchaninoff, Medtner, Stravinsky, Moussorgsky, and Rimsky-Korsakoff.

There are few better schooled voices in the world today than Mme. Kurenko's. Her tone placement is completely sure and apparently utterly spontaneous. Although the volume of her voice is not large, she controls its complete dynamic range from pianissimo to forte with unfailing mastery. Her flow of legato is smooth and unbroken, and the notes of her scale are as flawlessly matched as a necklace of jewels. No more finished vocal technician has sung in Chicago since the great days of vocal art faded into memory.

Her singing is interpretatively compelling, and often deeply moving. In French music she is as much at home as in Russian, finding suitable nuances of expression for both styles. Not a single song on her entire program failed to be sung both expertly and communicatively. The recital was one of the most satisfying I have ever been called upon to review.

Every young singer in Chicago should grasp at each opportunity to hear Mme. Kurenko sing. In our generation the vocal profession stands in need of more practitioners of her technical skill and artistic integrity.

NEW WORKS BY ORCHESTRA

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Two recent large scale works by present day composers received their first Chicago performances in the Great Northern theater yesterday afternoon. The Fifth Symphony of Dmitri Shostakovich was played by the Illinois Symphony orchestra under Izler Solomon's direction. These same forces coöperated with Margaret Smith and Pearl Gran in a presentation of the Harl McDonald concerto for two pianos and orchestra.

The Shostakovich of this fifth symphony is not the Shostakovich of the now familiar first. The hard cynicism of the earlier work, in which the composer seemed to be mocking cleverly all bourgeois musical ideals, has given way to mellowness. Instead of brittle, pert little themes there are long breathed phrases full of a mature sounding eloquence. Except for the menacing last movement one might almost believe that the young Russian has forsworn his belief in the political and social content of music.

The orchestra made much of the gentle lyricism of the slow movement and managed to blare apocalyptically in the long rousing periods of the final division of the piece.

The Misses Smith and Gran, expert pianists with a gift for natural musical eloquence, helped make the McDonald concerto—its first two movements, at least—a rather persuasive piece of business. The Mexican final movement [sounding confused, unidiomatic, and tonally unlovely] compelled the suspicion that the composer has here mistaken his medium.

At the Woman's Club theater yesterday afternoon Georgia Kober and Sturkow Ryder presented a two piano program. A hearing of the final group sufficed to convince a listener of the artists' remarkably fluent technique and their feeling for meaningful phrasing. In the scherzo from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" music was no slightest hint of the earthbound. The Weber "Invitation to the Dance" appeared in a neat and effective Hollywood arrangement with added eighth notes giving a new surge to the rhythm. However, one or two misunderstandings between the pianists detracted somewhat from the flow of the latter piece, and both this and some of the others would have profited by a tonally more luminous melodic line.

Most of Nancy Lee Freeman's outgrown clothes and toys go to a thrift shop conducted by the Beverly Hills center of the Infant Welfare society to be resold. Her mother, Mrs. Gaylord A. Freeman, and other members of the center will meet for luncheon today to hear a former president of the organization, Ruth Mackay, review her book, "Money Without Men."

Autograph.

Margaret Ayer Barnes, approached by a friend at the party in the House on the Roof of the Hotel Sherman given by her publishers to celebrate her new novel, Wisdom's Gate, and asked for an autograph for his copy, was reminded of an occasion when Cornelia Otis Skinner was busily autographing books at a department store. Miss Skinner was writing feverishly, setting down names and inscriptions given by book buyers. Midway in an inscription her pen stopped and she looked up questioningly. A wag book buyer was dictating, "With appreciation of that exciting evening we spent together at Coney Island . . ."

It was a highly successful book party, with authors, publishers, critics, friends, and high powered book sellers wandering in and out from 5 o'clock until 11, and waiters dashing about with food and drink. Mary Hastings Bradley was there, and Ben Ticknor and Hardwick Moseley and Pascal Covici. Dorothy Aldis, whose new book, not yet finished, is about Susan; the lovable character in All the Year 'Round; Louis Zara, whose nearly finished new book is a historical novel ending with Chicago as a village; Janet Ayer Fairbank, who is at work on a novel of the days of the coming of the railroads to the middle west, and Arthur Meeker Jr., who hopes to finish his historical novel within the next few months, were among the Chicago authors at the Houghton-Mifflin party.

Miss Crawford Engaged, Debut Guests Told

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE first of the season's debutantes to become engaged formally is lovely young Elizabeth Williamson Crawford. The announcement was made at a debut tea for Miss Crawford given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David A. Crawford, at their home, 209 Lake Shore drive, yesterday.

The fortunate young man is a newcomer to Chicago, Nathaniel Edward Duval. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Duval of Philadelphia, who were here for the announcement party.

Miss Crawford was educated at the North Shore Country Day school, Shipley school, and Ward-Belmont college. Mr. Duval attended the University of Pennsylvania, where he was active in athletics.

No plans have been made for the wedding.

An announcement of romantic interest and one that will come as a surprise is being made today by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall. It is of the engagement of their elder daughter, Elizabeth Marshall Fleming, to be married to David Richardson Fall. Mr. Fall's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horton Fall Jr. of Evanston. Mrs. Fleming was granted a divorce from Richard Hill Fleming last Aug. 12.

Society for Shut-Ins Holds Sale Tomorrow.

Mrs. Robert R. McCormick is opening her home at 1519 Astor street from 10 until 5 o'clock tomorrow for a Christmas sale of goods made by the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins. A pleasant entertaining part of the sale is to be a fashion showing of Shut-In accessories in the form of a monologue by Mrs. Laird Bell, assisted by Mrs. Edwin E. Tullis. Mrs. Bell, famed for her witty monologues, will be heard at 12 and at 3:30 o'clock.

Besides hearing Mrs. Bell, early Christmas shoppers will find Miss Jane Zimmerman and Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr. modeling aprons and bedjackets. Pouring at the tea tables will be Mrs. Arthur Small, Mrs. Henry Hooper, and Mrs. Paul Walker, among others. Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Leo M. Nicolson are co-chairmen of the sale. Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr. is chairman of the active board of the society.

Today's calendar, an indication of how the busy hours are filled, includes another Christmas sale. Mrs. Ralph H. Poole is opening her Lake Forest home from 10 until 6 o'clock for an exhibition of goods from the Trading Post in Lake Forest, which is conducted for the benefit of the Alice Home hospital. Tea will be served this afternoon, and several tables decorated especially for the Christmas season will be on display.

BY CECIL SMITH.

With the beginning of a return engagement of Clare Boothe's comedy, "The Women," at the Auditorium theater last night, the Chicago stage entered upon the busiest week it has seen in a goodly number of years. Until Wednesday evening play premieres will follow each other at twenty-four hour intervals. "Dame Nature" relights the Erlanger theater tonight; "On Borrowed Time" takes over the Grand Opera house Tuesday; and "Prologue to Glory" winds up the procession at the Blackstone Wednesday evening.

"The Women" is, of course, no novelty here, for it enjoyed a prosperous run at the Erlanger theater a year ago. Lois Wilson and a great many of her colleagues were here at that time, and the play was dressed up in the very same handsome Jo Mielziner settings that greeted Auditorium theater first nighters last evening.

The peppery dialog still takes the audience off guard time after time and puts every one in stitches of merriment, just as it always did. Miss Boothe has garnished her tale of gossip in New York, divorce in Reno and reconciliation back in New York with every gag line she could hit upon, in her good moments and in her bad ones. A good share of the time "The Women" is one of the brightest and funniest comedies of the decade, though a few random potshots miss fire and a few others—such as the one about the elephant requiring seven years to complete its period of gestation, lifted bodily from "The Road to Rome"—are not original with the author of "The Women."

As swift and oftentimes sadistic merriment at the expense of the most precious emotions and prerogatives of women the comedy is as grand a romp on second seeing as it was at first. It is only when Miss Boothe takes the spotlight off external female foibles and deals semi-seriously with the wounds and hurts of women whose homes are split in two that the writing now begins to seem superficial and conventional. In its softer, less biting scenes, "The Women" is not so good, and nobody should attend it expecting to see a compelling problem drama.

In the vast reaches of the Auditorium theater the settings occupy only a fraction of the great stage. The actresses have to pitch their voices rather high and loud to be heard from the balcony, which is all right in the raucous passages, but turns the characters into fishwives in supposedly quieter moments. The cast is sufficiently able, but with the exception of Laura Pierpont I should not venture to call it distinctive.

New policy at M.-G.-M. If a director doesn't measure up to the front office standard he is relieved immediately. Victor Fleming was rushed in on "Too Hot to Handle." Then Fleming was rushed in on "The Great Waltz." Director Dick Thorpe was taken off "Wizard of Oz." Now Frank Borzage has replaced Joe Von Sternberg on the Spencer Tracy-Hedy La Marr flicker. With millions of dollars involved, Metro no longer will pet anybody concerned, on the ground that the show is the thing. The daily rushes are the only barometer.

At the Ralph Blums' [Carmel Myers] farewell party to Tyrone Power he brought Jane Wyman. Feature of the evening was a fortune teller. When Miss Wyman went in to hear her fortune the seer warned her against a "dark man, initialed 'P.'" "Why do you say that?" asked Jane. "He's full of fire," chanted the fortune teller. So La Wyman now calls him "Fy-rone Power." The fortune teller told Power that he was leaving on a trip and that trouble would result through some one initialed "B. G." Expectant pappies are George Folsey, Charlie Salerno, Lester White, Ellsworth Fredericks, Sammy Cohn, and Bud Lawton. Folsey is Joan Crawford's pet cameraman. Salerno's missus is Arlene Aber.

Pittsburgh's defeat at Carnegie Tech's hands was a bombshell out here. . . . Further progress in the $3,550,000 drive for 175 private welfare agencies will be announced by industrial division chairmen at a meeting in the Palmer house tomorrow. By Mae Tinée.

"Suez" is an impressive spectacle. It has several thrilling sequences and is high lighted by some bits of mighty fine acting—note the work of Miles Mander, Annabella, J. Edward Bromberg, Henry Stephenson, and Marcelle Corday. Just the same, I couldn't get excited over the picture.

Accuracy is not one of this movie's assets. Ferdinand De Lesseps, who conceived the idea of the Suez canal, lived to be 54 before work was even begun on the project. In the movie all seems to have been accomplished in a comparatively short time and Mr. Power is as beautiful at the end of the picture as he was at the beginning.

"You will live to be 100 years old and wear a crown!"

"YOU will dig a big ditch. . . ."

So, according to this movie, speaks a fortune teller to the Countess Eugenie Mountejo and Ferdinand De Lesseps. . . .

The two, romantically involved, laugh at the prophesies. But Eugenie becomes empress of France and De Lesseps, sent to Alexandria on a diplomatic mission, conceives his great idea of a Suez canal.

The picture concerns itself with De Lesseps' trials and romances in the desert, London, and Paris. . . .

Two women love him—Toni, granddaughter of a French colonial sergeant, and Eugenie, who, however, decides in favor of Louis Napoleon. . . . Gladstone opposes him in the house of commons. . . . Disraeli takes up cudgels in defense of the scheme and is largely instrumental in putting it over. Miles Mander's Disraeli is immense!

Mr. Power is handsome and earnest but unconvincing. Miss Young, likewise unconvincing, is beautiful in the clothes Eugénie made famous.

The simoon [a violent wind laden with dust] which furnishes the picture's most sensational sequences is terrifying, but too long drawn out. . . .

As to staging, costumes, scenery, and photography, "Suez" is noteworthy, but the film just doesn't get under your hide.

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, and his cousin, Alison Young, going to a party at Lady Wibbe's stumble by mistake into the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. Young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. But they acquire one next day. David learns his former love, Betsy Greentree, lives in the mysterious house. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David sends a letter to Betsy, which is unanswered. He confronts Scarpath, who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being cared for by his sister Evelyn. David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she is miserably unhappy. When the specialist, Dr. Broderick, insists on her taking the medicine, which always makes her feel worse, Betsy grows desperate. Alison's friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, leaving her flat one night, finds Betsy unconscious on the threshold. Revived she explains Penelope helped her escape. Colin plans to have his friend, Dr. MacConochie, examine Betsy, after he learns Dr. Broderick is a drug addict. Betsy refuses to return with Geoffrey to his London flat. Fanny Rush arrives and stays with Geoffrey, whom she greatly admires. She calls at Alison's and demands that Betsy return to Geoffrey, which Betsy refuses to do. When Geoffrey learns that Fanny intends to disinherit Betsy he kills her, and calls Broderick to help him cover up the crime.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

CRIMINAL ASSISTANCE.

Alison, in the Café Royal, drank her foaming Munchener with a contrite air.

"We've no business to be doing this. Especially since Mrs. Rush, damn her, has seen David and all."

"O, give David and Elizabeth a little time to themselves! I've a pretty good notion what Scarpath's been up to, what he still must want to pull off. He's sent back her clothes! That move was a necessity now the aunt's turned up. He probably meant them to arrive before Mrs. Rush paid her call."

"Fanny wasn't likely to notice what Elizabeth was wearing."

"How could he be sure of that? It's the sort of thing most women do notice, and it might have given him a black eye to find her looking like a charity orphan. Forgive me if I seem to ramble rather disjointedly. What I'm trying to work out is, what's up his sleeve now?"

"I'm no mind reader. Are you?"

"Well, provided I'm right, we can make certain of this: He'll scheme hard to stop her seeing another specialist. Now, then! The aunt's seen me, and will report it. Even if she can't give my name, the chances are Scarpath will know I'm not a Harley street consultant but a very humble g. p.

"Question now rises, did Broderick see me with Angus MacConochie the other night? He may have done so, and drawn conclusions. We mustn't forget if a false diagnosis has been made Broderick will be the one to take the rap."

"Dr. Broderick may feel convinced he's in the right."

"True, he may." Colin looked troubled. "Alison, I'll ask you this again: Have you noticed any signs of hysteria in Elizabeth?"

"Not one. I don't say I'm a competent judge."

"And by the same token," she gave him back steadily, "her late physician is a dope addict."

"Good God, mind your step!" Colin glanced anxiously round. "If we were heard hinting that . . ."

"We weren't. And, as you've said, we're not in the least likely to prove it's the case. Can we prove—O, I'm being careful!—a certain individual helped himself to that sapphire?"

"It'll be a messy business trying to prove anything. Nor will any of it give Elizabeth her freedom."

And the other pair? Home in the flat—firelit solitude à deux. There had been some awkward moments in the taxi, and more lay ahead. Not immediately, perhaps, for they were discussing the mythical price offered for the ring.

"Two hundred pounds!" gasped Elizabeth. "Why, that's a thousand dollars, David! I can live on that till I'm well enough to work."

"They won't let you take a job here, not unless it's for some American firm. Anyhow, that's not my idea. I want you to go either to Paris or our own country—Paris would be handier—and see about getting this damned marriage knot cut. Willing to do it?"

She did not answer. Seeing the troubled pain in her eyes he hurried on: "I imagine it can be done—though the sort of divorce you'd have to obtain won't enable you to contract another English marriage."

"That won't worry me," said she quietly. "Not one little bit."

"I hoped it wouldn't. When this is over you're going to marry me. Or am I a poor nut to hope it?"

"David! O, please . . ."

His warm lips had found hers. For ten seconds of rapture she let them have their way. Then she fought him off.

"No!" she panted, on her feet, eyes wildly pleading. "Don't ask me anything—now. David, will you swear to me not to do this again? Not till everything's smoothed out and I know positively I'm well?"

"I swear." He was breathing hard, but the sofa and wisdom lay between them. "But you're well now," he muttered. "And that old aunt of yours can go hang herself!"

. . . . . .

Half way back into his tailcoat Scarpath heard the sharp peal of the bell. Out of breath he strode rapidly to admit his visitor.

"Neatly timed," he panted. "She's just had a stroke."

"No." Scarpath closed the door and leaned against it. "Death certificate."

The consultant swayed and groped at his immaculate winged collar. Hate and terror glared from his starting eyes as he stuttered: "W-why? W-what do you mean?"

The younger man seized his arm. "Signing death certificates is one of your functions, surely," said he impatiently. "Here, I want help!"

Broderick had got command of himself. "Not one further step!" he refused, pulling stubbornly away. "I wash my hands of this—understand? I wasn't here. You'll have to get yourself out of this—if and as you can."

"O?" Scarpath's tone was ice hard. "View the body and then tell me that."

Against his will the physician allowed himself to be dragged through the small blue bedroom, into the steamy bath beyond. His captor pointed. "This is how we found her," he said distinctly. "Just a moment ago, when we heard her fall and cry out. Dead, isn't she?"

Fanny Rush, partly wrapped in a sopping bath towel, lay face upward in the water. Her hawk eyes stared blankly, her hair lay plastered over her submerged features. The doctor seemed petrified, but after a long survey began mechanically and with shaking hands to turn back his sleeves, blindly handing his platinum and gold cuff-links to his companion. Scarpath let him finish and lent aid in raising the body.

"Yes," he remarked, noting the furious contraction of the other's brow as a little crimson spread a pool on the soapy bath water. "It's quite clear what happened. She turned giddy, struck the rim of the tub—or one of the taps—and fell flat. I suspect the brandy played its part. Lubbock will bear me out about the quantity she'd been taking. Smell it?"

There was a definite odor of spirits coming from the limp, sagging jaw. Broderick ran exploring fingers over the back of the skull and gave a violent start.

"What the blazes possessed you?" he whispered, midway between panic and rage. "When with her arteries it was only a matter of time?"

"You'll hear. Just now we've another question to occupy us. Did you bring your bag?"

"It's in the car. Hold on! What are you up to?"

However, Scarpath was already out of the flat. Hatless, agitated, he accosted Broderick's chauffeur.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Now You're Talking

Entire Figure Gets Benefit from Bowling

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Bowling is being taken up now by women, perhaps for the fun of it, more likely, as claimed, because it keeps the hips down.

The summer rounds of golf are over and for a great many, the tennis courts will not beckon again until spring, so when you lay aside your clubs and racket pick up your bowling ball. Golf helped many to keep the waistline slim and tennis helped some with all the muscles—too much, perhaps, for slim legs—but bowling is the ideal exercise to keep those troublesome hip bulges down.

Bowling doesn't require much brawn. Mrs. Florence McCutcheon, a Pueblo, Colo., matron, recently defeated bowling's champion Jimmy Smith. The Women's International Bowling Congress boasts a membership of more than 20,000, and the number is growing yearly.

Out in Hollywood bowling is one of the most popular of sports among the feminine stars. It keeps them svelte for the camera and helps to relax their minds and nerves after a busy day under the lights. At the great universities, too, bowling is in high favor and is considered one of the games co-eds are most likely to continue after leaving school.

Don't be misled into thinking that only your arms will benefit when you bowl. As a matter of fact, only about 20 per cent of the actual work is done with the arms. The back, the hips, and the waist are benefited by bowling, so much so that health and beauty experts declare that no other form of exercise is needed. One hour on the alleys twice a week will do marvels for your figure, and it's one of the reducing exercises we know of that is a pleasure to take.

The regulation bowling ball weighs 16 pounds, but if you have not bowled before we recommend starting with a lighter ball. There is a special 12 pound ball for women. After you have mastered some of the points of the game you can graduate to the 16 pound mineralite.

And here's a tip that will help in getting high scores early in your game. Don't try for too much speed. A slow ball will create just as much havoc with the maples as a fast ball. And remember, too, to aim for what the experts call the 1-3 pocket. That is the point between the pin at the apex and the one at its right, as you face them.

If you keep these points in mind you'll make a good bowler without too much loss of time and, what is vastly more important, you'll continue to be mistress of your own hips and waistline.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Eye shadow in stick form is news, and good news. It's as easy to apply as lipstick and takes a great deal of the awkwardness out of dressing up the soul windows.

These new shadows in stick form are of a most satisfactory consistency. They're amazingly creamy and smooth and don't break down into little blobs and streaks an hour after they're applied. As for shades they'd be difficult to top.

For the conservatives, who are always with us, thanks be, there is a "natural" shade in the eye shadow stick. It gives not color, but a dewy sheen that softens and flatters and it can be used on brows as well as lids. This is the thing for day if you're afraid color would be too artificial looking.

For the more emancipated there are shadows in the handy stick form in six good colors that blend perfectly with modern makeups and fashion shades. Two blues, light and dark; two greens, also light and dark, a warm, soft brown and a good gray that has flattering depth.

In stick form it's no problem at all to tote your eye shadow in your bag; it's almost impossible to muff the application of it and the gleaming, flattering effect is long lasting. If you can wield a lipstick to glorify your mouth you can most certainly use this stick to dramatize your eyes with subtlety and skill.

The Housewife

Artificial flowers are being made of all sorts of materials this season: Cellophane, wax, feathers, and even lether. Some of the loveliest and most decorative we've come across in ages are pale beige lether sprays of oak leaves and little acorns. The acorns are not lether.

Large sprays of walnut branches with the nuts also are made of this light, soft lether. They're all done by hand.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Two of the marble cakes for which recipes are given today are the company kind. The other is a little two-egg number, not at all expensive to make and quite as appropriate for guests as for family use.

Marble Angel Food
[10 to 12 eggs]

¾ cup sifted cake flour [1 cup minus 2 tablespoons]
2 tablespoons cocoa
1¼ cups egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1¼ cups sifted sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift the flour, measure 6 tablespoons of the flour, and add the cocoa. Sift together four times. Sift remaining ½ cup flour four times by itself. Beat egg whites and salt until foamy, add cream of tartar, and continue beating until eggs are stiff enough to hold up in peaks but are not dry. Fold in the sugar carefully, 2 tablespoons at a time. Divide egg mixture in half. Fold flour and ½ teaspoon vanilla into one part. Fold flour, cocoa, and ½ teaspoon vanilla into the other part. Alternate spoonfuls of light and dark batters in an ungreased tube pan. Bake in a slow oven, 300 to 325 degrees, an hour and 15 minutes. Invert on a cake rack an hour to cool.

Marble Sponge Cake
[10 to 12 eggs]

½ cup sifted cake flour for white part
⅝ cup sifted cake flour for gold part
1¼ teaspoon egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
4 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemony
½ teaspoon orange extract

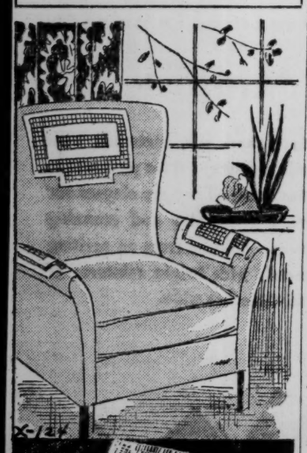
Sift flour before measuring. Measure the two parts and resift each four times. Beat egg whites and salt with flat wire whisk until foamy, add cream of tartar, and continue beating until eggs are stiff enough to hold up in peaks but not dry. Fold in sugar 2 tablespoons at a time. Divide batter into two parts. Into one part fold the half cup of flour and the vanilla. Into the other fold egg yolks, ⅝ cup flour, and orange extract. Put by teaspoonfuls into an ungreased angel food pan, alternating white and yellow batters. Bake at 325 degrees 60 to 70 minutes. Invert pan until cake is cold.

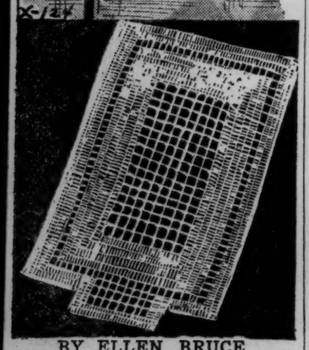
Plantation Marble Cake
[8 by 4 by 3 inch loaf]

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons molasses
½ teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, measure, and add baking powder and salt. Sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Alternate flour and milk, in small portions, and beat the batter smooth after each addition. Divide into two parts. To one part add spices and molasses. To the other add the vanilla. Drop batter into greased loaf pan, alternating the light and dark mixtures. Bake at 350 degrees for an hour and 15 minutes. Frost with butter icing.

Crochet Pattern





BY ELLEN BRUCE.

There is no end to the number of attractive chair sets which may be crocheted in a simple pattern and in a short time. This attractive ensemble may be created in white or ecru mercerized crochet cotton. These crochet designs may be adapted to numerous household items if the needleworker has had any experience at all with a crochet hook.

For the Chic Homemaker

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

All women, whether they have careers or not, have a certain amount of housekeeping to do, either in their "bachelor" apartments or their spacious homes. From time to time we offer a house dress pattern, because we feel that no woman can have too many frocks to wear around home. With Christmas not very far away it is well to bear in mind that house dresses make most acceptable gifts, and we know you'll like the design presented today.

It is styled with smart paneling down the center from shoulders to the lower level of the hipline. Pockets join the panels at this point. At the neckline may be a pert shirtwaist collar or a V neck with revers. The sleeves, which are cut in one, kimono style, with the shoulders, are comfortable and easy to sew. They may be left plain or may be edged with the same rickrack that is used on the collar. Either buttons or a slide fastener may do duty at the neckline.

All the inexpensive cottons, wash silks and linens make up attractively, and either light or dark shades may be employed. Prints also are effective.

Anticipating a Child's Action Makes the Problems Easier

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"I've been reading and clipping your column since I was sixteen," writes a reader, "and have kept a scrapbook of it. Now I am thrilled because I am married and about to have a baby and will have a chance to try out what I have absorbed through the years."

It may surprise some of you to know that this column has been running long enough for me to hear from many who read it in their high school days, and who now are married and have babies of their own. From these I get most interesting reports, very often with this refrain: "It has helped me immeasurably to know ahead of time what to expect of my baby and to understand why children do the surprising or funny [or even annoying] things they often do."

I believe all mothers find that preparedness is a good motto. If you are having your first baby it is a great help to know, for instance, that the baby will be eager to touch everything, that he should be eager to touch everything.

You'll find that a way of managing which works one week may not work at all the next when the baby has developed so that he is going through a different phase. It helps, too, to be prepared ahead of time for the age when the small boy or girl feels his own power enough to disobey. Again, it helps greatly to become acquainted several years ahead of time with the possibilities of change that adolescence brings, and not to be caught unwise and unaware of how to be of most help to your child during these often difficult years.

It helps to be prepared, either by thinking or reading, to answer simply and frankly the questions young children ask about where babies come from, about their own bodies, and to settle your own attitude once and for all on the subject of sex education.

Each child is much an individual, but there are universal changes that growth and development bring to all children.

Miss Crawford Engaged, Debut Guests Told

former Chicagoan who was active in amateur theatricals when she lived here. She founded the North Shore Players. Her latest visit to Chicago was in "Tonight at 8:30."

Some of those who have planned to attend the opening of "Dame Nature" are Mr. and Mrs. Graham Aldis, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan S. Reid, the junior Charles S. Deweys, Mrs. Norval Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Brown, and Miss Helen Bournique.

The Chicago City Opera company will draw its usual Monday night audience, offering "Tales of Hoffman" as entertainment.

"I Saw Czechoslovakia Die," Topic of Speaker Today.

At a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 o'clock at the Blackstone John T. Whitaker will give an address titled "I Saw Czechoslovakia Die." At the speaker's table with Mr. Whitaker will be the Carroll Binders, the Richard Bentleys, the William P. Sidleys, and Mrs. Paul Magnuson, vice president of the council who will preside.

Charles Wakefield Cadman will be an especial guest at a tea and musical program the Musicians Club of Women is giving this afternoon in Curtis hall in the Fine Arts building.

The Cordon club is initiating a series of "Monday Night's" tonight with supper and a lecture by Miss Henriette Martz on "Mexico as It Is Today."

The Chicago Junior league will open a three day training course today at its headquarters in the Drake for the members who will take part in its three year project, a foster home program for convalescent children.

The Winnetka Woman's club's annual guest meeting will be held tonight, but in New Trier High school instead of at the club, because so many want to hear the speaker, Lilian Mowrer. She will discuss "Europe Today." Several pretty young women will usher at the meeting, among them Debutantes Jane Allen and Miriam Bartlett; Miss Jane Darrow, Miss Martha Towle, and Miss Margaret Hurlbutt.

Vassar Trustee to Speak at Luncheon Nov. 19.

Some other events planned for the future are the following:

The Chicago and North Shore Vassar clubs will give their annual Christmas scholarship fund dance on Dec. 29 at the Vassar House restaurant. The same groups are giving a luncheon at the restaurant on Nov. 19 at which Mrs. Helen North Narten, Vassar trustee, will speak. The Vassar House has been the scene of a series of Friday cocktail parties, organized by the same clubs, to be concluded with this week's party.

The opening performance of George M. Cohan in "I'd Rather Be Right" on Nov. 21 at the Auditorium theater is being sponsored by the Chicago Wellesley College club to raise money for scholarships.

Several north shore residents are helping the students of New Trier High school in arranging a lecture by Lowell Thomas under the auspices of the Tri-Ship Boys' club next Tuesday night. Mr. Thomas, world famous traveler, author, screen and radio commentator, will discuss some of his personal experiences with Lawrence in Arabia, with Count Luckner, the Sea Devil, and with the duke of Windsor on a tiger hunt in India.

Drama League to Give Luncheon Thursday.

Drama league members won't overlook a tea the organization is giving on Thursday afternoon at the Blackstone. Dudley Digges and members of the "On Borrowed Time" company will be especial guests, and Schuyler Ladd, the "One Man Theater," who is appearing here for the first time, will give five original sketches in costume. Dwight Deere Wiman, producer of "On Borrowed Time," and Mrs. Wiman are coming from New York for the opening tomorrow night. The Charles D. Wimans will give a theater party for them.

The annual dinner-dance of the Misericordia hospital will be held on Nov. 26 in the ballroom of the Palmer house. The Evanston-North Shore Smith College club has taken over the country club of Evanston for a dessert, bridge party, and lecture at 1:30 o'clock on Wednesday, Nov. 16. Proceeds will go into a scholarship fund. Monticello college alumnae will meet for their annual tea on Nov. 19 at the Chicago College club.

The ninth season of the North Shore Fortnightly dances will start on Saturday night at the Shawnee Country club with Mark Carnall as chairman and Mrs. Frank J. Madden as vice-chairman. There will be five dances this season.

The John J. Goodwillies [Betty Kellogg] are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a son, last Friday in Passavant hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Stevens became grandparents again on Nov. 1 when a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Cummer [Caroline Stevens] in St. Vincent's hospital, Jacksonville, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Cummer live in Jacksonville.

LAST MONDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 16: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass

You are South and hold:
♠53 ♥AK8 ♦AK62 ♣6542
What call do you make now?

Answer: One no trump. The four honor tricks may make this rebid appear too conservative, but actually it is by far the best call available. South has only four and a half playing tricks and North's one over one spade response was no guarantee of strength. If North cannot rebid over one no trump, game is extremely remote. [Seventeen points demerit for 2 no trump, 32 points demerit for 3 no trump, 40 points demerit for any other rebid.]

Question 17: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Double	1 spade	Pass
3 no trump	Double	?

You are South, and hold:
♠AQ984 ♥J3 ♦J74 ♣J62
What call do you make now?

Answer: Redouble. Your one spade bid, made directly over the takeout double, did NOT announce any strength, yet North, vulnerable, still made the terrifically strong rebid of three no trump. Your spade suit and three outside jacks should make the contract a laydown, and extra trick[s] probable. [Twelve points demerit for passing, 35 points demerit for any other bid.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 24: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 no trump	Double	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♣A J 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 diamonds	2 spades

[Final bid]

The bidding was rather peculiar. For one thing I cannot say why South chose to bid a diamond rather than a heart. As it happened, however, the diamond call kept West out of the bidding because he continued to hope that North-South would reach at least three diamonds and thereby give him a chance to come in with a penalty double.

Although South's opening bid was off color, his defense against two spades left nothing to be desired. He opened the diamond ace and then shifted to the heart king. When it held he led a second heart. North won with the ace and continued hearts for the third round. South won with the queen and then cashed the club ace. With five tricks home South's next play was the "killer." He led the thirteenth heart. Declarer discarded a diamond from dummy hoping that North also would discard, but of course it was not difficult for North to read South's intention. He ruffed in with the spade queen and after that South had to make a trump for the setting trick. The measly 50 points collected by North-South resulted in an excellent match point score.

The New Monk Silhouette Is Style Success

BY RHEA SEEGER.

A definitly new and different silhouette has been launched without the usual fanfare. And, contrary to custom, it's taken the shoppers by storm. The monk, or Algerian, silhouette, as it is known, is dramatic as well as versatile. You wear these dresses according to your own whims. Dinner and daytime dresses and evening gowns have appeared. Unusual color combines add to their lure.

Yards and yards of material that is soft, slinky, and equal to the stunt of falling in graceful and unbulky folds are used in each dress. Without the belt these dresses look like nothing so much as an old fashioned Mother Hubbard. But belted and on they become as glamorous as anything out of a sultry far east movie.

Wearing is the trick. You slide into these creations and pull the fullness to the back and then belt them snugly. That's one way. Another is to distribute all fullness evenly around the waistline. A third is to have fullness at the sides only. The belt is the key to each method.

Some of the sleeves can be pushed above the elbow, others are worn long, loose and gathered into a cuff. The daytime dresses are marvels of simplicity. The entire effect depends on the graceful movement of all the folds of material.

Evening gowns give you height, willowyness, grace and charm. And again you get your dramatics with belts that tie, buckle or lace around the waistline.

Nothing so different or so vividly dramatic in new streamline has been unpacked in weeks. See them and wear them while the newest models and new colors are plentiful. You'll feel like another person.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The world champion Chicago Blackhawks made it three victories in a row tonight as they opened Montreal's National Hocky league season before 11,000 with a 3 to 2 victory over the Canadiens. The winning goal was scored in the next to last minute of play by young Joffre Desilets.

Desilets, traded by the Canadiens earlier this season to the Hawks for Louis Trudel, scored twice against his former teammates, while Earl Robinson, purchased from the disbanded Montreal Maroons, counted the other Chicago goal. Paul Haynes and Toe Blake scored for the Canadiens.

The Champions Fight Back.

Haynes scored the only goal of the first period when the Hawks were shorthanded. Desilets evened matters with a goal in the second period, but Blake sent the home team ahead again with a shot at the start of the last minute of the same session. Robinson tied it again in the third minute of the final period. Desilets made a rink-long dash for the winning goal.

The victory left the Hawks unbeaten in the league's young campaign. They smothered the New York Americans, 6 to 1, three nights ago in Chicago and defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 2 to 0, last night in Toronto.

Haynes Starts It.

Kafie gave Karakas two anxious moments at the outset with close in shots and then came down the rink in a combination play with Gracie, on which he nearly slipped the puck under the Chicago goalie. McKenzie was sent off for tripping Gagnon, and on a continuation of the same play Cain and Levinsky were chased for a corner duel.

With the one man advantage the Canadiens pressed and finally Siebert, Blake and Haynes led a power play on which Haynes finished with a goal. He flipped it home at 7:40.

The Hawks tied the score at 6:30 of the second period when Gottselig carried down the right boards, swept around the Canadien defense, and then laid down a goal-mouth pass which Desilets banged home.

Robinson Sinks One.

The Hawks gave a strong defensive exhibition in turning back every Canadien threat after Levinsky was penalized for tripping Siebert, but shortly after they were at full strength the Canadiens went ahead on a goal by Blake at 19:00. He was aided by Gagnon and Haynes.

The third period was only a few minutes old when Blinco carried down center and passed to Robinson. Robinson cut in past the Canadien defense and fooled Cude with a flick shot at 2:58 to tie the score.

With only a little more than a minute to go Desilets broke down the right wing from his own end of the rink and shifted around the Canadien defense to beat Cude with the winning goal.

Blades Named New Manager of Cardinals

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Ray Blades, a veteran of the St. Louis Cardinal farm system, today was named manager of the St. Louis National league club for 1939.

Ray Blades.

It is the first time a Cardinal chain product has been named manager of the St. Louis team.

The announcement of Blades' selection to replace Frankie Frisch, the tail end of whose five year reign was filled in by Coach Mike Gonzales late last season, was made by President Sam Breadon, who declared:

"After carefully considering many candidates for the position, I believe I have picked the most capable man I could find."

Heads Rochester Since 1935.

Blades has been at the helm of the Cardinals' Rochester club of the International league since 1935. Prior to that, in 1933, he led Columbus to its first American association flag in twenty-six years.

Blades joined the Cardinal organization in 1922 after he had attracted the attention of Branch Rickey, then manager of the Cards, by batting .330 in 118 games with Houston of the Texas league.

That was the beginning of a Cardinal playing career which lasted through 1932, except for the season of 1929, when Blades divided time between Rochester and Houston.

In 1925 he was recognized as the hardest hitting lead-off batter in baseball. He hit .342 in 122 games for the Cardinals that season.

With Four Pennant Winners.

Blades was one of the original members of the Cardinal champions, for he played with the 1926, 1928, 1930, and 1931 pennant winners.

With Blades at Columbus in 1933 when he became a manager for his first year was Gonzales, who will remain with the Cards as coach under Blades next year.

Blades will not be a stranger to the Cardinals when he reports for training at St. Petersburg, Fla., next spring. Sixteen members of the present squad played under him at Columbus or Rochester.

Terms of Blades' contract were not disclosed by Breadon.

The St. Louis Browns now are the only big league team without a manager for 1939, but they are not without candidates. There have been fifteen applications for the job.

New York, Nov. 6.—[Special.]—A touchdown in the last minute and a half of play enabled the New York Giants to beat the Chicago Cardinals, 6 to 0, in a National Football league game before 22,184 in the Polo Grounds today.

The play was set up when John Karcis intercepted a pass thrown by Jack Robbins, of the Cardinals, on the Giant 40 yard line. Karcis carried the ball to the Cardinal 30 yard line and from there, with Tuffy Leemans carrying every time, the Giants went over on the fifth play. Ward Cuff had two chances to make the placement good, but failed on both of them. His first try missed, but the Cardinals were offside.

The game was evenly fought throughout, but it was apparent that a light drizzle slowed up the ball carriers on both teams. However, even with the water logged ball, the Cardinals lived up to their reputation as an air-minded team by completing seven of nineteen passes.

Danowski in Good Form.

The Giants, with Ed Danowski in good form, completed eight of the thirteen they tried. In the matter of first downs, the Giants made twelve and the Cardinals ten.

In addition to Robbins, Jimmy Lawrence, Ray Parker, and Doug Russell proved to be fine backs for the Cardinals, while Gaynell Tinsley probably was the best end on the field. Other oustanding linemen for the Cardinals were Tony Blazine, Al Barbartsky, and Bree Cuppoletti.

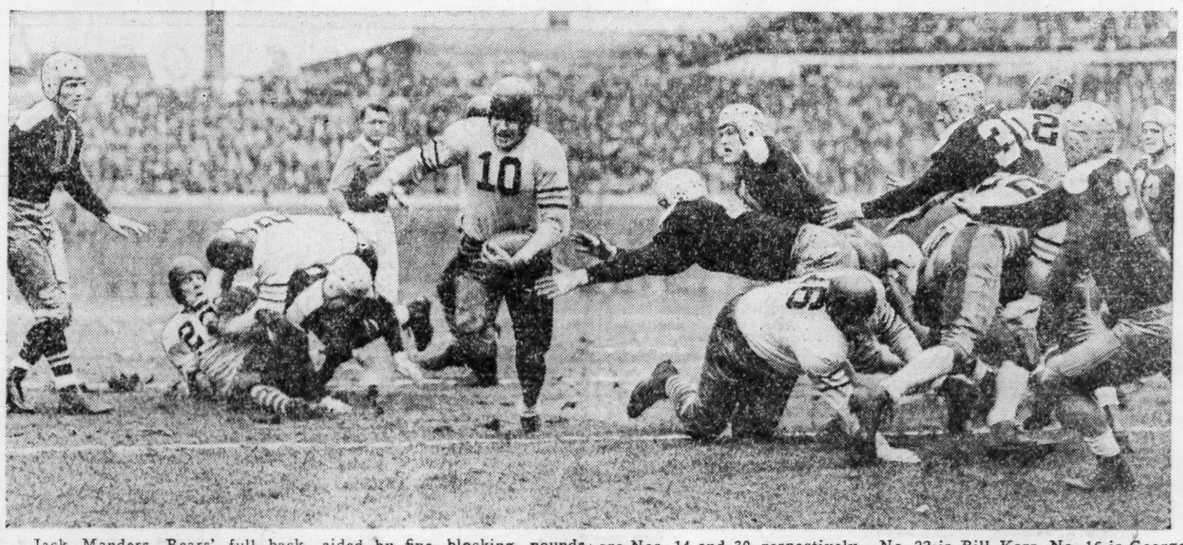
The game opened in a drizzle with the Giants kicking off. Robbins reeled off a twenty-three yard run to put the ball in play on the Cardinal 28. Then Lawrence slashed through for a first down, but the Giants held and Robbins was forced to kick to Cuff, who was downed on the New York 28.

Giants' March Halted.

Here the Giants put on the first sustained march of the day which saw them advance fifty-two yards before the Cardinals, tackling cleanly and hard, halted them on the Chicago 20. With Soar as the work horse in the back field, the Giants made three first downs in a row to bring the ball to the Cardinal 28. At this point, Karcis, a hard plunging back, was put in the New York back field, but the Cardinals held and forced the Giants to surrender the ball on downs.

The Cardinals made their only serious threat at the beginning of the second half. Robbins brought the kickoff up to the Chicago 20 and they were off. With Frank Patrick doing the blocking and Robbins, Lawrence and Parker, the ball carrying, the Cardinals ground out three first downs to bring the ball to the Giant 35. Here Robbins shot a pass to Tinsley, who was downed on the 20. Three rushes were good for only five yards, so Patrick dropped back to the 23 to try a placement. His kick was wide.

A Plunging Bear Wins Glory in Defeat



Jack Manders, Bears' full back, aided by fine blocking, pounds through the Green Bay line for his team's first touchdown in yesterday's battle in Wrigley field. Don Hutson and Clark Hinkle of the Packers are Nos. 14 and 30, respectively. No. 22 is Bill Karr, No. 16 is George Musso, and No. 2 is Gary Famiglietti, all of the Bears. Green Bay won, 24 to 17. Leader—Debaets.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Chicago's fortieth international six day bicycle race got under way in Chicago Stadium last night at 9 o'clock—and with some new ideas, a few new faces and quite a number of the old favorites, some of whom have skipped a race or two here in recent years.

The new idea in this race is that of having sprints for points beginning with each hour from 8 o'clock each evening until 2 o'clock each morning. That's seven series of sprints. There used to be only three series of sprints, at 9 o'clock, 11 o'clock, and 2 o'clock.

The Early Leaders.

At the end of two hours of racing, a couple of old timers, Gerard Debaets and Marcel Guimbretiere, had become the boss men. Jerry Rodman and Bobby Thomas were second, Henry O'Brien and Eddie Testa third, and the Peden brothers, Torchy and Doug, fourth. Jules Audy and Cecil Yates had dropped back to fifth, though they were only two laps back of the leaders. The field was strung out six laps, with Mickey Rodak and Reggie Fielding in last place.

The race speeded up between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, but when the cyclers rode into Monday morning Debaets and Guimbretiere still were the leaders. Behind them at 2 a. m. came Rodman-Thomas, then Walthour-Crossley.

Three cyclists are making their initial appearance in the race. Outstanding in this trio is Cesar Moretti of Italy. Moretti's father rode in Chicago many years ago. Moretti represented the winning Italian cycling team in the Olympic games in Los Angeles in 1932. The other new boys are Archie Bollaert of Detroit and Albin Jurca of Kenosha, Wis. Jurca won the national amateur road championship and two outstanding road races last summer.

Germans Are Back.

The biggest item in so far as the returning vets are concerned was to be found in the presence of Gus Kilian and Heinz Vopel, the great German boys, who were out of the spring race because of some outlaw racing. There were about 13,000 bi-

Handicaps.

The ones who have some handicap
May find this life no easy snap,
But courage in their hearts may teach
A lesson to the ones who preach.

A sightless couple one may see,
Walk arm in arm, in harmony.
When helped across the street they say:
"My, isn't this a lovely day?"

Some man with artificial leg
May quit, with just a wooden peg,
But there is one who smiles all day
Just shining shoes for little pay.

The thing that makes our life, perhaps,
Is how we take our handicaps.
One smiles within an iron lung . . .
To handicaps this theme is sung.

Big Ten Title Race Still Is Battle Royal

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Nov. 5 in this 1938 football campaign will be remembered as the day misfortune overtook an almost unprecedented number of favorites in the struggle for sectional and national supremacy. Northwestern, Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Michigan State, Princeton—to enumerate a few—went down in the tidal wave.

In one week the conference spotlight has shifted from Northwestern and Ohio State to Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan. Barring a tie game when Minnesota and Wisconsin meet Nov. 19 in Madison, one of these elevens is certain to share in the championship. The winner will finish the conference campaign with four victories and one defeat, a mark that Michigan could equal if the Wolverines win from Northwestern this week and from Ohio State Nov. 19.

N. U.'s Chances Fade.

The scoreless tie in the Ohio State-Northwestern game will prevent either of these teams from getting any share in the title, unless the Badgers and Gophers fail to reach a verdict. Purdue's scoreless tie with Iowa a week ago also will have the same effect on the Boilermakers' fortunes.

All conference teams now have been defeated in league play, which is merely another way of stating that the Big Ten offers the nation's most severe competition. The strain of important game following important game has direct bearing on results. Northwestern, victor over Minnesota a week ago, was mentally unprepared and perhaps physically handicapped for Wisconsin.

Quite possibly Wisconsin played its best game of the season. Yet the Badgers, themselves, also may subscribe to this theory of handicap, as Wisconsin's defeat by Purdue was due in no small part to the battle with Pittsburgh that had preceded it, a game in which Bill Schmitz and Tony Gradisnik were injured.

We saw Wisconsin lose to Purdue and win from Northwestern. The difference in performance was almost unbelievable. Yet, Wisconsin did play brilliantly for one half against Purdue and that was basis for prediction that the Badgers, with Schmitz and Gradisnik, threatened Northwestern's supremacy.

Look Out, Minnesota!

There was no question Saturday of the outcome of the Wisconsin-Northwestern game after Howard Weiss raced forty yards in the third period for the Badgers', first touchdown. Weiss belongs on any all-conference team and he deserves national honors.

Wisconsin now does not need to fear a letdown, for the players will be ready for Minnesota. Physically they may be handicapped by the trip to Los Angeles this week to play

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The Chicago Bears awoke yesterday—too late. Nine weeks of experimenting, exhorting and promise culminated in fifty-seven minutes of championship football. But in the three minutes preceding this long awaited display of power and alertness, Full Back Bert Johnson fumbled twice. From these two mistakes, the Green Bay Packers fashioned two touchdowns and a 24 to 17 victory that left the Bears stripped of all but a remote mathematical chance of sharing the title in the western division of the National Football league.

Only eight plays had transpired and not all of the 40,208, the second largest crowd of the National league season, had been seated in Wrigley field before the Packers held a 14 point lead. From there on the Bears fought desperately to salvage victory, but succeeded only in providing another of the sensational contests which have become the rule in Wrigley field the last month.

Packers Have a Hard Day.

Outgained in the air and on the ground, harassed by Ray Nolting's long and dangerous punt returns and with their passing attack stopped, except in those fatal opening minutes, Green Bay found its lead threatened during most of the last half.

Only the alertness and agility of a rookie half back from Nebraska, Johnny Howell, prevented the Bears from tying the score in the final twenty-five seconds of play. After Arnie Herber had stunned the crowd with an eighty yard punt that sailed over the end zone into the right field grandstand, the Bears advanced seventy-three yards to the 7 yard line, only to have Howell leap in front of Les MacDonald, a former teammate at Nebraska, and batter a fourth down pass from his hands on the goal line.

Green Bay took the lead on the fourth play of the game when Bobby Monnett passed sixteen yards to Clark Hinkle. Monnett added the extra point. Monnett passed to Don Hutson for nineteen yards and the second touchdown four plays later.

It Wasn't So Easy.

What started out as a rout, suddenly became a spectacular game when the Bears began to move to their first touchdown on a series of passes and plunges. Jack Manders went over from the 7 yard line and added the extra point. A few minutes later Manders, who had been the goat on the Packers' two touchdowns, placekicked from the 34 yard line to make the score 14 to 10 at the end of the quarter.

Eddie Jankowski, former Wisconsin full back, returned the Packers' lead to a more comfortable margin with a one foot plunge for a touchdown on the first play of the second quarter. Monnett's forty-nine yard pass to Wayland Becker had set up the play. Hutson added the extra point. The score remained 21 to 10 only until the middle of the second quarter, when the Bears wound up a thirty-seven yard advance with Bob Swisher's seven yard pass and Bill Karr's circus catch for another touchdown. Joe Maniaci placekicked the extra point and the National league's oldest and bitterest rivals went to the half with the Bears trailing by four points.

Another Fumble Hurts.

Swisher, getting his first thorough test in professional football, because his speed was necessary to the Bears' defensive strategy, set up the final score of the game when he fumbled on a spinner play late in the third period. Ookie Miller, a former Bear center, recovered for Green Bay on the Bears' 35 yard line. Three plays

Mount Carmel and Fenwick will meet Nov. 20 for the football championship of the Catholic high school league and the right to oppose the Chicago public high school league champion in Soldiers' field Nov. 26 in Mayor Kelly's charity contest.

Mount Carmel clinched the south section title in the Catholic league yesterday by beating St. Rita, 12 to 0, while Fenwick made sure of the north division crown with a 26 to 6 triumph over St. Philip. The victories were the fifth of the campaign against no defeats for each squad.

Leo Triumphs, 21 to 0.

In other league games Loyola whipped De Paul, 13 to 6; St. Ignatius and Weber played a 7 to 7 tie; Leo routed St. Patrick, 21 to 0, and Catholic High of Joliet defeated St. Mel, 20 to 6. The final sectional games will be played next Sunday with Mount Carmel facing De La Salle and Fenwick opposing Loyola.

Jack Barry led Fenwick against St. Philip, scoring two touchdowns. In the second period he caught a fifteen yard pass thrown by Barrett and in the third quarter dashed sixty yards. The St. Philip touchdown, the first scored against Fenwick in five games, came on a fifteen yard pass to Fowler, who then ran forty yards.

McCallum broke loose to the 2, from where R. Creevy plunged over. McCallum made the other on a twenty yard run.

DENGIS WINS 2D STRAIGHT A. A. U. MARATHON TITLE

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Pat Dengis, 35 year old airplane tool maker from Baltimore, won the National A. A. U. marathon championship today by recording his second consecutive triumph in the Yonkers marathon.

He finished a quarter of a mile ahead of Gerard Cote, St. Hyacinthe, Que., in 2 hours 39 minutes and 38 seconds, one minute and a half behind the course record established by Johnny Kelley in 1935.

Dengis moved ahead of the French-Canadian star at the 20 mile mark and never was headed. Mel Porter of Newark, N. J., defending national champion, finished third, nearly a mile behind Dengis.

Hunters Fire Thursday on Upland Game

BY BOB BECKER.

Hunters who like to hike through fields and woods after pheasants, quail, and rabbits are getting their guns in shape for the opening of the Illinois upland game season Thursday. The majority of Illinois sportsmen who are not on the Illinois river hunting ducks will head for Lake and McHenry counties in northern Illinois to go after the crafty ringneck pheasants.

The pheasant season is short, lasting only six days. Only cock pheasants may be shot. There is no open season on Hungarian partridges. As in former years hunters will find much of the hunting land posted, so the wise hunter will make arrangements for his shooting privileges before opening day.

Pheasants More Plentiful.

Pheasants are more plentiful in northern Illinois this year than last, according to surveys made by the state department of conservation. Natural breeding conditions were fair during the summer, and sportsmen's clubs coöperating with the conservation department have liberated 26,000 pheasants in northern Illinois.

Rabbit hunters hope for a good season. Rabbits were hard to find in northern Illinois last winter, but conditions for them were better this season. The department of conservation also helped the northern Illinois hunters by trapping more than 4,000 rabbits in the southern half of the state and transporting them to northern counties.

The rabbit season opens Thursday and lasts until Dec. 31. The daily bag limit is ten rabbits, the possession limit twenty.

Thirty Days on Quail.

Quail hunters can operate in Illinois for thirty days after Nov. 10. Sportsmen have to go into the southern half of the state to find good hunting. The oil boom has hurt some of the quail cover, but there are still many places where the hunter can give his gun a workout. The daily quail limit is twelve and the possession limit twenty-four.

Illinois hunters often are confused by the three-shot law pertaining to upland game hunting. The present state regulations state that pump guns or automatics holding more than three shells must be plugged to limit their capacity to one shell in the barrell and two in the magazine.

SAN FRANCISCO IS DEFEATED BY SANTA CLARA, 7-0

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Santa Clara, last of the west coast's undefeated and untied major teams, retained its perfect football record today with a 7 to 0 victory over the University of San Francisco. Thirty thousand saw the game.

Playing tight, defensive football and showing only enough of its offense to assure the victory, Santa Clara rushed over a touchdown in the third period to take another hard fighting opponent in stride. The winning points followed a drive of sixty-two yards, which was led by Jimmy Johnson, sophomore half back.

FORMER SERUM HORSE WINS IN JUMPING STAKE

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—For the second straight year a United States army officer won the $1,000 international military jumping stake at the National Horse show tonight when Capt. Royce A. Drake rode to victory on King Hi, a horse once used to develop diphtheria antitoxin.

Capt. Drake twice sent the 12 year old gray gelding, a former trotter, around the intricate course without an error to defeat the Canadian combination of Lieut. Douglas Cleland and Flying Poet after both had given perfect performances the first time over the 11 obstacles. In the jumpoff, Flying Poet, making his first appearance in a show ring in nearly a year, faltered at the sixth fence.

Eight years ago, after serving his time on the trotting track, King Hi was turned over to the Michigan state health farm to be used as a serum horse. There he was cured of a fistula of the withers by a veterinarian who saw jumping possibilities in the well built gray horse. Eventually he was purchased by Charles D. Pierce, Detroit sportsman, who gave him to Capt. Drake last year after the army officer had developed him into a high class jumper.

LEEDS MITCHELL WINS CHILBLAIN DINGHY TROPHY

Leeds Mitchell Jr. sailed his D class Dyer dinghy to victory in a series of nine races in Belmont harbor yesterday to win the Chilblain trophy, awarded by Lockwood M. Pirie. Mitchell, with Tom McClure as crew, won with 74 points. Eddy Schnabel Jr., with his father as crew, was runnerup with 68. Mrs. William Goltra scored 49 points, and Tempel Smith 47 to finish third and fourth, respectively. Ten dinghies competed.

Mrs. Jerry Masek skippered her husband's B class Frostbite dinghy to first place in the final race for the Baccarat trophy, emblematic of the lady skippers' dinghy championship of the Columbia Yacht club, yesterday. Jack Holbrook was her crew. The trophy was donated by Louis Ainbinder. Eight competed in the race. Willis Ware and Jack Holbrook sailed Ware's dinghy, Mr. Big, to first place in three of the Columbia club's late fall trophy series races in Grant park harbor. Stan Thal, in Cadet, won the fourth.

C. Y. O. Boxing Fans Look for Stirring Finals

With sectional competition in the eighth annual Catholic Youth Organization boxing tournament well under way, followers of this yearly amateur ring event are beginning to center their attention on the championship bouts Dec. 9 in the International amphitheater and to speculate about the final results. This will be the first time the C. Y. O. finals have been held in the amphitheater. Heretofore the Chicago Stadium has been the battle ground of C. Y. O. shows.

According to Tom O'Connell and Paddy Kane, who manage the C. Y. O. boxing department, the entry field in this year's meet is expected to produce the most heated tournament in its eight year history.

A formidable number of candidates in the three weight divisions that traditionally have the heaviest representation—126, 135, and 147 pound classes — prompted O'Connell and Kane to predict the discovery of a featherweight, a lightweight, and a welterweight whose skill would entitle them to be ranked alongside of such former performers as Frankie Kainrath, Chester Rutecki, Andy Scrivani, and Johnny Brown.

Tickets for the Dec. 9 finals in the International amphitheater will be placed on sale at the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street, today.

Va., home course of Sam Snead, the year's top money winner.

Biggest prize money in the list of events released today by Fred Corcoran, P. G. A. tournament bureau manager, will be offered in the Miami [Fla.] open Dec. 15-18 and the New Orleans open Feb. 16-19. There will be a $10,000 purse in each event.

There will be $5,000 tournaments at Columbia, S. C., Nov. 25-27; Augusta, Ga., Dec. 2-4; Los Angeles, Jan. 6-9; Oakland, Cal., Jan. 13-15; San Francisco, Jan. 18-22 [match play]; Greensboro, N. C., March 24-26, and the Augusta masters, March 30-April 2.

FLETCHER GOES TO HIS WEDDING WITHOUT LICENSE

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Elburt Preston Fletcher, Boston Bees' first baseman, had an error chalked up against him last night—he forgot his marriage license.

Just before he was to meet his bride, Martha Betty Hanson, at the Church of the Holy Spirit, the Rev. J. Clements Kolb asked Fletcher for the license. The first baseman reached into a pocket, gulped, blushed, and stammered: "I—I—I think I forgot it."

His brother, Dr. Eugene H. Fletcher, sped to nearby Milton for the license. Ten minutes after the scheduled time the wedding ceremony was performed.

ST. AMBROSE IS 6-0 WINNER ON BLOCKED PUNT

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—St. Ambrose college took advantage of a blocked kick to defeat St. Thomas college of St. Paul, Minn., 6 to 0, today and remain undefeated. The game was played in the rain.

After recovering the blocked kick on the St. Thomas 12 yard line, Tony Janick, half back, took the ball on a reverse and went over the goal line. Jack Paul, St. Ambrose quarter back, set up the break by a quick kick that went out of bounds on the St. Thomas 4 yard line.

The victory marked the thirtieth game St. Ambrose has played without defeat. The game was the final home appearance of nine St. Ambrose seniors, who have seen their team lose only once. That was in 1935 when De Paul university of Chicago won, 25 to 7. Since that time St. Ambrose has won every game with the exceptions of a 6 to 6 tie with Iowa Wesleyan in 1936 and a scoreless tie with St. Benedict's of Atchison, Kas., last week.

The Sparta soccer team, national champions, defeated the Manhattan Brewers, 2 to 1, yesterday before a crowd of 4,000 in Kuppenheimer stadium.

Sparta stepped off to a 1 to 0 lead five minutes after play had opened, but it was a Manhattan player who received credit for the goal. Begley of the Brewers, in attempting to clear a cross from Munro, kicked the ball into his own goal. The Manhattans tied it up before the end of the half on Garci's goal.

Fraser's Goal Wins.

After twenty minutes of hard and rough play in the second half, during which Gonsalves' attempt from penalty was knocked down, Sparta drove in the winning goal as Fraser rounded Davidson to beat Griffith from eighteen yards. The Manhattans came back to carry the play in the final minutes, but were unable to break through.

One of the big upsets of the season took place in the International league's major division as the Schwabens defeated the league leading Swedish-Americans, 3 to 1. Sparta-Manhattan lineups:

LIONS' EARLY 55 YARD MARCH BEATS RAMS, 6-0

Stop Cleveland's Drive in Second Period.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Detroit Lions clung to a place in the thick of the fight for western division honors in the National Professional Football league by turning back the Cleveland Rams, 6 to 0, in a listless game played today before a crowd of 31,140.

Detroit cashed in on its only scoring gesture of the afternoon by marching fifty-five yards in seven plays for a touchdown in the first five minutes. Lloyd Cardwell went around right end on a reverse play for the touchdown. Regis Monahan missed the extra point from placement.

Cleveland's only real threat developed early in the second period when Ace Gutowski, Detroit full back, fumbled and the Rams recovered on the Lion 24. Dick Tuckey ran to the 10 where the attack stalled with Detroit taking the ball on downs.

The victory was Detroit's fifth, compared to a pair of losses, one of which was avenged today. Lineups:

REDSKINS WIN, 7-0

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Slingin' Sammy Baugh pitched the Washington Redskins to a fourth period 7 to 0 conquest of the Pittsburgh Pirates today, strengthening Washington's grip on the lead in the National Professional football league's eastern division.

The Redskins, held scoreless during the first three periods, struck midway in the final quarter. With the ball on Pittsburgh's 39, Baugh juggled the ball momentarily, then fired it to George Karamatic, who dashed for the touchdown.

Whizzer White celebrated his farewell appearance here by performing brilliantly on both offense and defense. He postponed acceptance of a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford to play this year with the Pirates. The Pirates threatened only once, late in the final period. White shook off three Washington forwards on the Washington 46 and sent a long pass to Bill Davidson, who was downed on the Washington 13. Gains by White and Stuart Smith pushed the ball to the 8 but there the attack bogged and the ball was lost on downs.

Baugh completed three of a dozen pass attempts. The lineup:

DODGERS, 10; EAGLES, 7

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Ace Parker and Ralph Kercheval led the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10 to 7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles today before more than 11,000 in the Municipal stadium.

Kercheval's forty-five yard place kick in the second quarter was the first score and the clincher.

Parker came through with the Dodgers' touchdown in the same period by faking a pass on the Eagles' 28, cutting down the left side of the field, reversing an outmaneuvering the defending Eagle backs to scamper across the goal line. Parker also got the extra point with a place kick.

Hewitt Takes Pass for Score.

Soon after the second half began, Emmet Mortell and Dave Smukler cut loose to land Philadelphia on the Dodgers' 34. After a pair of passes had been batted down, Mortell swept around right end to the 10. On the second play Mortell flipped a pass to Bill Hewitt in the end zone for a touchdown. Jay Arnold kicked the extra point. Lineups:

GREEN BAY DIMS BEARS' HOPE OF PRO TITLE, 24-17

Whistle Work Interferes.

Green Bay owes some credit for its seventeenth victory in the fortieth game of the series to an assist from the fates. Twice the Bears were deprived of scores that were nullified by official whistles. Sam Francis, their big full back, broke away for forty-two yards to the 1 yard line on a lateral pass play in the second quarter, only to be called back when Karr was caught offside. In the fourth quarter, Maniaci seized a fumble by Herber and raced thirty-five yards to the goal line, but the play was disallowed, when Referee Ed Cochrane ruled Herber's forward progress had been stopped and the ball was dead. Another scoring opportunity went awry when Swisher passed to Center Pete Bausch, an ineligible man, on the Packers' 23 yard line to end a fifty-one yard advance.

The game, which produced Green Bay's seventh victory against two defeats and the Bears' fourth whipping in eight starts, developed two outstanding bits of strategy as well as a measure of disappointment for the crowd and Cecil Isbell of Purdue, the star of the Tribune's All-Star game on Aug. 31.

Isbell Gets Little Exercise.

Isbell, injured in the Cleveland game last week, was used very sparingly and was unable to perform up to the standard he has set for himself as the league's outstanding rookie.

Green Bay shifted Hutson, its fastest man, from left end to left half back, on defense to cover up on passes when Hank Bruder, veteran blocking back, was in the lineup. Bruder replaced Hutson at end.

This scheme worked successfully for Green Bay on all except Francis' futile dash in the second period. Francis ran past Hutson without drawing so much as a challenge from the star end. Hutson did, however, break up a Bear march at a critical time, with a pass interception.

The Bears, in addition to their defensive strategy, confused the Packers with a variation of the old quarter back to Bronko Nagurski lateral pass. They threw a long pass to Francis. Where Nagurski smashed off tackle, Francis, a much faster man went wide and piled up considerable yardage.

Plasman Is Injured.

U. C. L. A., although the Badgers will be back on the campus two days later.

Northwestern, spurred by defeat, now is a more dangerous foe for Michigan than if it had beaten Wisconsin. Yet, since Northwestern was beat by Wisconsin's superior speed, better passing, and the line smashes of Weiss, it is difficult to understand how Northwestern can stop Michigan. The Wolverines have speed, fine passing, and the driving power of Tom Harmon on off tackle slashes and Paul Kromer's open field running are factors Northwestern can not overcome unless it reverses Saturday's form.

Michigan so far has escaped the penalty of letdown after important victory or hardfought game. Only a brilliant rally saved it at Yale, however, on the Saturday after the Wolverines had been beaten, 7 to 6, by Minnesota. Michigan must be given consideration to finish in a tie for the conference title. Against Northwestern and Ohio State the Wolverines will be the public choice.

The Wolverines Are Good.

Michigan actually has the opportunity of being generally regarded as the best team in the conference, for, while the Wolverines lost to Minnesota, their performance that day was superior.

Purdue's victory over Ohio State, 12 to 0, was well deserved. The Boilermakers, except for their scoreless tie with Iowa, have played far better than many expected. The tie with Fordham, their victory over Wisconsin, and now the conquest of Ohio State stamps them as just what Coach Mal Elward said they would be: "A good team before the season ended." The Indiana game in two weeks is the only remaining contest.

These Weren't Upsets.

It is unfair to call the defeat of Northwestern and Ohio State upsets. Wisconsin and Purdue, the victors, were capable of superlative performance, to say the least, with the proper incentive. This also was true of the defeat of Pittsburgh by Carnegie Tech. The Scots, a fine team, and we offer in evidence their score against Notre Dame, were more determined and carried the fight to Pitt. The results was Pitt's defeat, 20 to 10, the first loss in twenty-three games.

The Irish meet Minnesota Saturday, a renewal of last year's battle which was won by Notre Dame, 7 to 6. Then come the Wildcats. From this distance, Notre Dame will be the favorite, although Minnesota's power and line defense may cause trouble. Southern California, the ninth and final opponent, has sailed along smoothly since losing the opening game with Alabama.

Saturday the Trojans took undisputed leadership in the Pacific Coast conference by whipping last year's champions, California, 13 to 7. Each previously had won four games.

Ninety-five thousand, the season's record attendance, saw the Trojans win with Greenville Lansdell leading the attack that cost California its first defeat in nineteen games.

Rutgers Does It, at Last.

It took Rutgers sixty-nine years to whip Princeton but that was accomplished Saturday, 20 to 18, on the occasion of the dedication of Rutgers' new stadium. The teams had met thirty-five times [Rutgers lost thirty-four games] in this period since these universities played the first game of football in this country.

Another surprise was Syracuse's defeat of Colgate, 7 to 0, for Colgate had exercised a jinx over the Orange since 1924. And Syracuse, directed by Ossie Solem, this year whipped both Cornell and Colgate for the first parlay of these rivals in Syracuse history.

Dartmouth continued its victory march with an easy triumph over Dickinson, 44 to 6. Holy Cross swamped Temple, 33 to 0.

Alabama's 3 to 0 victory over Tulane featured the schedule in the south as Tennessee, leader in the Southeastern conference, coasted to a victory in a nonleague game with Chattanooga, 45 to 0.

Bruins Defeat Wings, 4 to 1; 2d Straight

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins scored their second straight victory of the National Hocky league season by conquering the Detroit Red Wings, 4 to 1, tonight. A crowd of 11,111 witnessed the Detroit club's season debut.

Boston went into the lead after twelve minutes when Bill Cowley took a double relay and backhanded the puck past Smith high into the net from fifteen feet out. The Bruins scored twice in the second period and once in the third.

Cincinnati Bengals Beat St. Louis Pro Eleven, 13-0

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals smashed over a touchdown and kicked two field goals to defeat the St. Louis Gunners, 13 to 0, today in a professional football exhibition game. Pat Howlett set up the first Bengal touchdown when he intercepted a Gunner pass and tossed a lateral to King Bernard, who dashed to the Gunner 12. Bernard then hammered his way to the 3 yard stripe, from where Alton Owen, Bengal quarter, scored.

Prep Scoring Ace Credits Record to His Blockers

Kingsport, Tenn., Nov. 6.—(AP)—This business of scoring touchdowns is a simple matter for Bobby Cifers, Kingsport High's point making machine, "if you stay with your interference and it is good enough."

Bobby, 183 pound half back, has scored 213 points in nine games, surpassing the 211 point total amassed last fall by Bill De Correvont, the Chicago sensation. Cifers still has two more games to play.

Cifers' scoring record ranges from no points in his team's scoreless deadlock with Chattanooga Central to six touchdowns and three points after against Julia Landon High of Jacksonville, Fla. Cifers, in addition to rolling up an average of more than 200 yards a game on running plays, does his team's passing and kicking.

Since he still has another year of high school play left Cifers hasn't indicated where he might attend college, but friends say right now he leans toward the University of Tennessee where a brother, Ed, is a sophomore end.

cycle lovers present when Buddy Rogers, a musician of some fame, fired the starting gun.

The Peden brothers, always ranked among the favorites, won the last six day race in Montreal, beating the German riders. Torchy's victory in the Montreal race established him as the world's champion six day rider. He has now won thirty-two races, more victories than any six day rider in the world.

Torchy and Doug gained the first lap of the race after the grind had gone seven minutes. Audy, blond rider from Montreal, took the first tumble at the west end of the track at 9:24. He was badly banged up about the arms and legs, but after he had been patched up, resumed riding. A short time later Ewald Wissel, a German rider, blew a tire on the east end of the track and crashed heavily. Wissel suffered a painful injury at the base of the spine and it was ten minutes before he was ready to ride again.

SEEMS BRIDGES ARE ALWAYS UP, BUT IT ISN'T SO

Openings Fewer in 1938 as Shipping Slumps.

The number of bridge openings in the first nine months of this year reflects a decline in trafic on the Chicago river resulting from the depression. Harbormaster William J. Lynch made the figures public yesterday.

Opening of seventeen bridges from the outer drive to Van Buren street and one span over the Ogden slip north of the river blocked vehicle trafic and pedestrians for a total of 1,358 hours and 12 minutes. This amounts to more than fifty-six days.

1937 Total 1,431 Hours.

In the corresponding period last year the outer drive bridge was not in operation and the slip was seldom used. But the other sixteen bridges were open 1,431 hours, or almost sixty days.

The average time that motorists were delayed was increased by 3 per cent in 1938. The 1937 average was 3.5 minutes per opening, compared with 3.6 for this year. The Randolph street and Washington boulevard spans caused the least delay, having an average of 3 minutes.

Outer Drive Slowest.

The new outer drive span, built under the supervision of the Public Works administration, caused the most delay. The average time for each opening was 5.2 minutes. It was opened 2,038 times and blocked its heavy trafic load 177 hours.

Following is a table showing the number of times each bridge was opened and the dverage time from opening to closing during the first nine months of 1937 and 1938:

Outer drive	2,038	.....	5.2	...
Ogden slip	165	.....	5.0	...
Michigan avenue	1,545	1,824	4.0	4.1
Wabash avenue	1,489	1,821	3.3	3.9
State street	1,874	2,320	3.4	3.4
Dearborn street	1,576	1,802	3.4	3.4
Clark street	1,809	2,281	3.2	3.4
La Salle street	1,439	1,814	3.1	3.2
Wells street	1,469	1,828	4.1	3.8
Franklin street	1,458	1,810	3.1	3.1
Lake street	923	1,081	4.5	4.4
Randolph street	1,122	1,279	3.0	3.1
Washington blvd.	859	1,042	3.0	3.1
Madison street	969	1,085	3.6	3.2
Monroe street	934	1,054	3.1	3.2
Adams street	911	1,078	3.2	3.3
Jackson blvd.	912	1,082	3.1	3.3
Van Buren street	1,770	1,962	3.1	3.2
Totals	22,910	24,691	3.6	3.5

The outer drive bridge was opened more than the others because of excursion boats that dock east of Michigan avenue. The slip is used chiefly by boats from foreign ports.

STEEL OUTPUT RUNS AHEAD OF CONSUMPTION

Rate Highest in Year as Stocks Grow.

Steel ingot production rose 3 percentage points more last week to the highest rate since mid-October, 1937, the magazine Steel said yesterday. It estimated output at 57.5 per cent of the theoretical capacity. Production appears to be running a little ahead of the upturn in actual consumption of steel, the trade journal commented.

"At the same time requirements of most steel users still are expanding," Steel continued, "and total demand is bolstered by relatively brisk activity in the automotive industry. With mill operations up sharply in some districts to accommodate recent heavy bookings of sheets and strip, however, there is the suggestion that part of this additional output is going into stock rather than into consumption."

Most Districts Show Gains.

Practically all districts contributed to last week's rise in steelmaking. Chicago mills increased production 10 points to 56.5 per cent. Pittsburgh operations increased 3 points to 45 per cent and Youngstown was 2 points higher at 63 per cent.

Gains at other centers included a point in eastern Pennsylvania to 35 per cent, 2 points at Buffalo to 51 per cent, 11 points at Birmingham to 68 per cent, 16 points in New England to 71 per cent, 5 points at Cincinnati to 75 per cent, 2.5 points at St. Louis to 45.5 per cent, 3 points at Detroit to 85 per cent, and 3 points at Cleveland to 77 per cent. The Wheeling rate was unchanged at 59 per cent.

Lose $1.69 on Every Ton.

Steel estimated that the industry lost $1.69 on each gross ton of finished steel produced in the first nine months of 1938. It estimated that all companies had a combined net loss of $23,774,000 in the period and that production was 14,037,151 tons.

It said hourly wages paid in the industry averaged $3.7 cents in the third quarter this year, compared with 82.3 cents in the fourth quarter of 1937. However, in the third 1938 quarter total pay roll cost per ton was lowered from $27.10 to $20.99 as a result of increased operating efficiency, Steel said. It added that the fourth 1937 quarter was used for comparison because operations in the two quarters were almost identical.

"Break Even" Point Rises.

The magazine said the "break even" point in steelmaking operations has risen sharply as the result of last summer's price reductions. The "break even" point is the rate of output that must be maintained to show a profit.

"Thirteen producers, representing 87.3 per cent of total ingot capacity, reported aggregate net profit of $9,496,101 in the final period of 1937," Steel said. "Operations for the industry averaged 40.7 per cent of capacity. The same thirteen producers in the third quarter this year reported aggregate net loss of $7,785,423. Third quarter operations averaged 40.8."

Pullman Co.'s Sleeping Car Income Rises

George A. Kelly.

Net income of the Pullman company, sleeping car affiliate of Pullman, Inc., increased in September to $397,366, compared with $215,136 in September, 1937, George A. Kelly, vice president, reported yesterday. Net income in August was $179,224. The figures do not include earnings of the manufacturing subsidiaries of Pullman, Inc.

September marked the first month since last December that the Pullman company's earnings exceeded those for the corresponding month of the preceding year. A charge of $200,000 a month has been deducted from this year's earnings as a reserve for amortization of air conditioning investment before arriving at net income figures. No comparable charge was made in 1937.

The Forman Realty Trust, Chicago, and subsidiaries reported for the year ended Aug. 31 net income of $230,625. This compared with $53,365 in the preceding year.

The Electric Power and Light corporation reported that it carried $194,446 to consolidated earned surplus in the three months ended Sept. 30, compared with $2,110,919 in the 1937 September quarter. The amount carried to surplus in the twelve months ended Sept. 30 was $5,084,387, compared with $9,554,165 in the preceding twelve months.

DISCRIMINATION SEEN IN TAXING CORPORATIONS

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—"Discrimination" in the federal income tax on corporations is "a major flaw in our tax structure which should be remedied as soon as possible." This was declared by the Twentieth Century fund in a taxation study made public today.

"The federal income tax on corporations," the research organization's report said, "provides that the 'income' of a corporation includes sums paid to stockholders as dividends and sums added to surplus, but not sums paid to bondholders as interest.

"Since dividends have ceased to be exempt from normal tax for the individuals receiving them, this means that income accruing to stockholders is taxed twice [once as earned by the corporation and once as received by the stockholders]; while income accruing to bondholders is taxed once [as received by the bondholders]. This discrimination imposes a heavy penalty on equity financing as opposed to debt financing."

The report urged that "federal and state governments and regulatory agencies strive to discourage debt financing rather than to encourage it—as they now do through income tax policy" and in other ways.

Reserve Index Shows Gain in U.S. Industry

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The federal reserve board estimated today that industrial production increased about 5 per cent last month to the highest level since October a year ago.

The board, using 1923-'25 levels as 100, rated October factory output at 95. The month was the fifth consecutive one in which industrial production advanced. The 95 level compared, however, with 102 in October, 1937.

In its monthly bulletin summarizing business statistics in virtually all lines, the board estimated 1,000,000 persons had been reemployed since spring.

Work Hours Increase.

Some of the conclusions included:

Industry—Production index up from 76 in May to 95 in October. Average work hours per week increased from 34½ in June to 37 in September; number of workers also increased, raising total man-hours of work 15 per cent.

National income—Wages, corporate earnings, relief and farm income up in third quarter of year; dividend payments unchanged.

Building—On seasonal basis, construction contracts highest since 1929; residential and public projects up most, little change in private nonresidential work.

Railroads—Index of car loadings up from 58 in spring to 68 in October; net operating income up.

Store Sales Expand.

Trade—Sales of department, variety, and mail order houses up since second quarter; retail and wholesale inventories reduced.

Commodities—Industrial raw material prices generally higher, especially hides, copper, other nonferrous metals, rubber, silk, and cotton. Oil and gasoline prices slightly lower; steel prices lower for a short time.

Securities—Stocks recovered from March to October 45 per cent of losses in preceding year. Issues of new securities expanding.

Foreign trade—Both exports and imports turned upward in August, exports running far ahead of imports.

Plate Glass Industry—2.

Three factors are important in the selection of a site for a plate glass manufacturing plant. First, proximity to the deposits of silica [white sand] and other raw materials is necessary. Second, proximity to supplies of fuel, preferably natural gas, is important because of the intense heat needed to melt and fuse the ingredients of glass. Third, special transportation facilities are necessary because of the fragility of the products.

The principal glass producers in the United States are located as follows: The Ford Motor company has plants at River Rouge, Mich., and St. Paul, Minn. The Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company has plants at Toledo, Rossford, and Lancaster, O., at Charleston, W. Va., and at Shreveport, La. The National Plate Glass company has plants at Ottawa, Ill., and Blairsville, Pa. The Pittsburgh Plate Glass company has plants at Creighton and Ford City, Pa., at Ellwood and Kokomo, Ind., and at Crystal City, Mo.

Eldorado Gold Mines, Ltd.

Investors' Guide: Please advise me as to the financial standing of the Eldorado Gold Mines. It is listed on the Toronto exchange.—V. G. L.

Answer: Despite its name, Eldorado Gold Mines, Ltd., mines no gold. It produces radium, uranium, silver, copper and pitchblende at its properties at Great Bear lake, Northwest Territories, Canada.

During the greater part of the year the properties can be reached only by airplane. Ore is transported by planes to the company's radium refinery at Port Hope, Ont. Extraction of radium was begun in 1933.

The company reported net income in 1937 of $237,429, or 6 cents a share. This compared with profit of $644,084, or 17 cents a share, in 1936, and $138,573, or 5 cents a share, in 1935. No reports were made for 1934 and 1933. A net loss of $2,045 was reported in 1932.

There is no funded debt. At the end of 1937 there were 3,639,500 shares of $1 par capital stock outstanding. No dividends have ever been reported on the stock.

W. S. Dickey Clay Mfg.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information on the W. S. Dickey Clay Manufacturing company and their fifteen year 5 per cent income debentures due Nov. 1, 1949.—Mrs. K. H.

Answer: The W. S. Dickey Clay Manufacturing company was incorporated in 1925 in Delaware and reorganized in 1934. It makes vitrified salt-glazed sanitary pipe and culvert pipe, drain tile, sewer and building blocks, and fire bricks.

Funded debt of the company consists of $78,242 in 5 per cent notes due in 1940 and $2,016,000 of 5 per cent income debentures due in 1949. There are 211,225 shares of $1 noncumulative, convertible preferred stock of no par value, 105,613 shares of 6 per cent cumulative class A $1 par stock, and 51,806 shares of no par common stock outstanding. All the stock is held in a voting trust which expires Oct. 31, 1939. Dividends on the preferred stock have been paid partially in cash and the rest in class A stock. No dividends can be paid on the common until the class A stock has been retired.

Net income for the six months ended April 30 last was $49,147, compared with $224,998 in the same period a year earlier. In the year ended Oct. 31, 1937, net income was $370,981, compared with profit of $220,130 in the preceding year and loss of $226,000 in the year ended Oct. 31, 1935.

Two Holidays This Week for American Markets

There will be two holidays this week in leading securities and commodity markets throughout the country. Tomorrow, election day, will close practically all markets except the Chicago Live Stock exchange. Foreign markets will do business as usual. On Friday, Armistice day, the same domestic markets will be closed and French and Canadian exchanges will also take a holiday. The London Stock exchange and grain and cotton markets at Liverpool will stay open.

WORLD'S WHEAT MARKETS UPSET BY SUBSIDIES

Prices in Europe Are Lowest Since '34.

Governmental subsidizing and dumping have upset the European wheat markets. Countries which produce more wheat than they can use are paying subsidies on exports in a competitive struggle to find an outlet for surpluses.

Reflecting this situation, prices for wheat in Liverpool, England, last week were down to the lowest levels since 1933-'34. There has been little foreign demand for American grain in spite of the government's subsidy efforts.

U. S. Wheat Market Stabilized.

The American wheat market appears to be stabilized around the 65½ cents a bushel level for the December delivery at Chicago, grain traders say. There has been a decline of about 4½ cents a bushel since Aug. 1. In the same period Liverpool and Winnipeg prices have fallen about 17 cents, and Buenos Aires prices about 22 cents.

Meantime, the outlook for the new United States winter wheat crop has improved. Heavy rains have fallen over a large part of the wheat belt in the last few days.

Chicago observers estimate the fall planting of wheat at 46,500,000 acres, or 11,000,000 acres less than was harvested last summer. The AAA curtailment program called for 38,000,000 acres of winter wheat this season.

Corn Lowest Since 1934.

American corn prices are close to the lowest levels since 1934. The market has been feeling the effect of the tremendous movement of government owned grain, brokers assert. In the last three weeks more than 40,000,000 bushels of cash corn have been received at the twelve primary markets.

A large part of the receipts, it is said, represents corn secured on defaulted government loans to farmers on the 1937 crop.

COSTA RICA FEARS GROWING TIDE OF JAPANESE GOODS

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Nov. 6.—Official circles showed concern today over Costa Rica's unfavorable trade balance with Japan. It is feared there will be unfavorable effects on trade relations with the United States and England, Costa Rica's two best customers.

Costa Rica has imported almost $500,000 worth of goods from Japan in the last six months and has exported less than $100,000 worth, only part of which was to Japan.

The government recently proposed a customs surcharge on Japanese goods but, apparently under the pressure of Japanese newspaper propaganda and promises to buy more Costa Rican products, that plan was dropped.

Japan consumes no Costa Rican coffee or cocoa but buys them and sells them to the United States in competition with Costa Rica.

Expect Light on Bailing Out of Alleghany

Robert R. Young.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission's inquiry into alleged false statements in the Alleghany corporation's balance sheet will be resumed tomorrow. It was indicated SEC counsel will ask Robert R. Young to explain how Alleghany, badly in need of $5,732,960 when its margin account was called by Paine, Webber & Co. in 1932, was "bailed out."

The transaction involved the sale by Alleghany of stock control of the Erie railroad to the Chesapeake and Ohio, with Paine, Webber lending the down payment of $3,440,700 to the C. & O. Young has been the dominant personality in the Alleghany and Chesapeake organizations. Some of his actions in connection with the old Van Sweringen rail holdings were the subject of inquiry last year by a senate committee. Alleghany is the top holding company in the former Van Sweringen rail system.

May Be Last Witness.

Young is expected to be the last witness in the balance sheet investigation. The SEC charges that the alleged misleading statements had the effect of showing an earned surplus of some $12,000,000 as of Dec. 31, 1937, instead of a deficit in that account of about $45,000,000.

The loss, amounting to $29,612,125 which was taken by Alleghany as a result of the Erie stock transaction with the C. & O., is the largest of the three bookkeeping items under question in the current proceeding.

Other Items Involved.

The other two items, both of which the commission maintains should have been charged to profit and loss or earned surplus, instead of to capital surplus, were:

1. About $5,000,000 representing bond discount and expenses on Alleghany bonds sold through 1930.

2. Approximately $23,000 representing net losses realized during the years 1931 to 1937, inclusive, on the sale of investment securities.

U. S. BOARD GIVES UTILITY MERGER RELUCTANT O. K.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—[Special.]—With reluctance the federal power commission has granted an application by the Public Service Electric and Gas company of New Jersey to merge three other companies, it was announced today. The other companies are the South Jersey Gas, Electric and Traction company, the Paterson and Passaic Gas and Electric company, and the Gas and Electric company of Bergen county.

The decision marked the first time since the commission was given jurisdiction over security issues of electric utilities in 1935 that it has approved a merger plan involving a bond issue with maturities running longer than thirty years.

The commission described its action as "making the best of a bad situation." It was particularly critical of a 100 year bond issue involved in the merger and the high rate of interest—5 to 8 per cent—which the bonds bear.

Denies Brazil Will Swap Its Coffee for U. S. Wheat

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 6.—Fernando Guedes, president of the national coffee department, today denied reports Brazil would trade coffee for United States wheat. He said Brazil already sells to the United States all the coffee that country wants for cash.

AMERICA LOSING IN WORLD FIGHT TO SELL COTTON

May Cut Loan Rate or Adopt Subsidy.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A high agriculture department official said today that world competitive conditions appear to be forcing the United States toward a choice between reducing crop loan rates and increasing cash subsidies to farmers or adopting export subsidies as a regular policy.

This official declared that one of the two courses appeared inevitable if the United States was to retain its share of the world cotton markets, a policy to which the agriculture adjustment administration has committed itself.

He said the first course would require congressional action reducing cotton loan rates so that they would not hold domestic prices above world prices. To compensate for this reduction in rates increased cash subsidies would have to be paid growers, he said.

Applied to Wheat.

The alternative of subsidizing exports is already being used in the case of wheat. Under this system the government makes up losses incurred by exporters in meeting foreign prices.

The state department is strongly opposed to use of the export subsidy except in emergency cases, contending it leads to retaliatory measures.

Record Surplus on Hand.

Should that rate continue, exports would total only 4,656,000 bales for the marketing year. During the 1929-'33 period exports averaged about 8,000,000 bales annually. Last year they totaled 5,560,000 bales. Further losses would add to an existing record surplus of 13,500,000 bales, officials of the agriculture department said.

Departmental economists attributed the decline in foreign sales to a slump in business in Europe and to lower prices of competing cotton in world markets.

A departmental review of domestic cotton markets said reports were being received that foreign spinners were tending to switch from American cotton to foreign supplies because the latter were selling at lower prices.

STANDARD CUTS GASOLINE PRICES IN CHICAGO AREA

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday announced another cut in the prices it charges Chicago metropolitan area dealers for regular and premium grades of gasoline. The reduction is one-half cent a gallon and will become effective today. It does not apply to territory outside the metropolitan area.

The company said the reduction was made to meet competitive conditions. The new prices to dealers will be 12.1 cents a gallon on the regular grade and 13.6 cents for the premium or ethyl grade, including state and federal gasoline taxes.

Similar reductions were made Oct. 21 and Oct. 7.

Gain in Passenger Trafic Shown by Two Air Lines

Eastern Air Lines yesterday reported that revenue passengers carried in October increased 42 per cent as compared with October, 1937. A new record for a day's business was established Oct. 21 when there were 688 passengers. In October 16,567 passengers were carried.

American Airlines, Inc., announced it carried 24,436 passengers in and out of Newark, N. J., and Floyd Bennett [N. Y.] airports during October. This represents a gain of 63 per cent over the number carried in October, 1937.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Cattle in Stalk Fields

November 6, 1938.

EARLY picking of corn this fall has made it possible for cattle to be turned into the stalk fields ahead of schedule on the Tribune's Fox river farm. Stalk fields were opened last week when 104 calves were turned in to follow the pickers. The stalks are standing up straight so that the gleaners will be able to do an efficient job of picking up cheap roughage before severe cold weather sets in.

One hundred of the calves are range Herefords that were brought to the farm about the middle of July. They were bought on the Kansas City market in four different groups. Their average weight was 491 pounds. Fifty-five average 459 pounds and cost $8.90 a hundred; thirty-four averages 525 and cost $8.35; eight averaged 562 and cost $8.90, and three averaged 525 and cost $7.35.

Total Cost Is $4,424.

The herd cost $4,251.89 at the market. The cost of bringing the cattle from Kansas City to the farm near Yorkville was $172.11, making a total cost of $4,424 for the calves laid down at the farm.

When the calves reached the farm in midsummer they were turned out on timothy and clover pasture and allowed to run in native bluegrass pasture where they were kept for three weeks. Then they were allowed to graze in a red clover and alsike pasture until the first of October. For one month after that they ran in a forty-four acre field of sweet clover and were allowed to nibble at a stack of oat straw.

During October the calves were also fed an average of about twelve pounds daily of chopped corn fodder—stalks with the ears attached. The fodder was fed night and morning. The feeding of fodder was started when the stalks were quite green, taken directly from the field or from shocks and run through an ensilage cutter.

Have Access to Clover.

Since Nov. 1 they have been running in a stalk field. They still have access to the sweet clover, a field of rank growing red and alsike clover seeded last spring, and a meadow of red clover where two crops of hay have been removed.

Later the calves will be finished for the market on ground ear corn, silage, alfalfa, clover, and soy bean hay.

In addition to the 100 whitefaced calves there are four other yearlings now running in the stalk field. Two of them are from the farm's herd of purebred Aberdeen-Angus cattle, and the other two are blue gray steers. The latter were produced in the farm's beef cattle test where solid black purebred Angus females were crossed with a snow white purebred Shorthorn bull.
